GOP Drives Toward House Control

Republicans Register Major Victories; May Also Capture Senate

Dewey Is Re-elected Governor Of New York By Smashing Margin

NEW DEALERS GUFFEY AND TUNNELL OUSTED

GOP Harvests 22 New House Seats, Can Count On 42 In Senate

(By The Associated Press)

Riding the crest of a ballot avalanche, the Republican Party early today drove close to control of the House and had a chance of gaining the Senate also.

Up from the political lower depths, where Franklin D. Roosevelt plunged it in the depression-ridden 30s, the revitalized GOP scored major victories from New England to the far West in Tuesday's off-year elections.

Among other things, the party:

1. Re-elected Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, by a smashing margin; turned back Herbert H. Lehman's bid for a Senate seat from New York.

2. Ousted such New Dealers as Sen. Guffey, of Pennsylvania, and Tunnell, of Delaware.

3. Unseated the old-time Democratic Sen. David I. Walsh, of Massachusetts.

4. Beat Rep. Andrew J. May, of Kentucky, chairman of the House Military Committee.

GOP Gains Five Senate Seats

Needing 10 more seats than they now have to wrest control of the Senate, the Republicans already had picked up five and were leading in 10 contests. Some of these 10 seats are now held by Republicans, however.

As of 2:30 a. m., EST, the Republicans could count definitely on 42 seats in the new Senate, including holdovers; and the Democrats 40. The chamber has 96 seats.

The resurgent Republicans had harvested 22 new House seats. With many contests still undecided, they needed to make a net gain of only 26 to dominate that branch of Congress. There remained the possibility, of course, that the Democrats might take some seats from the GOP in the contests still undetermined.

Republican governors were elected in 15 states and the party's candidates were leading in six. Democrats had elected six and were leading in seven.

Republican National Chairman Carroll Reece, talking to reporters at Washington in the small hours of this morning, said cautiously "it looks like we're going to win control of the Senate."

Martin Issues Statement

Concerning the House, the Republicans were more positive. Taking it for granted that his party would command that chamber, House Republican Leader Martin, of Massachusetts, said in a statement:

"We Republicans appreciate and accept the responsibility the American people by their mandate have placed in our hands."

In Idaho, Rep. Henry C. Dworshak (R) won a Senate seat over George E. Donart, Democrat. In Kentucky, where the Democrats figured on gaining a Senate seat, their hopes were blasted. John

American Admits She Tried To Aid Polish Slayers

Woman Attempted To Obtain U. S. Embassy Uniforms For Two Killers

WARSAW, Nov. 5 (AP)—Mrs. Irene Hamala Dmochowska, 34-year-old American citizen, testified today that she plotted to aid two confessed slayers of a Polish political leader escape the country by a futile attempt to obtain American Embassy uniforms for them.

Mrs. Dmochowska, former Chicago resident and one-time translator at the United States embassy here, is on trial with five other persons before a military tribunal on charges arising from the slaying of Boleslaw Scibiorek, secretary general of the Polish Peasant Party, last December.

The tall, bespectacled defendant told the tribunal she wished to aid the slayers of Scibiorek because "I was swayed by sentiment and by a love of humanity."

Expressing regret at her acts following the slaying, Mrs. Dmochowska testified that Wieslaw Plonski, one of the co-defendants, told her a terrorist group had killed Scibiorek, but declared she never was a member of an underground organization. The prosecution accused her of attempting to aid Plonski and Boleslaw Panek, charged by police with complicity in the slaying, to escape.

Gerald Keith, American charge d'affairs in Warsaw, said tonight he was submitting a full report of Mrs. Dmochowska's trial to the State De-

U.N. Committee Votes To Widen Site Question

New York City, San Francisco To Be Considered; Europe Rejected

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP)—The Steering Committee of the United Nations Assembly tonight approved a United States proposal to widen the permanent headquarters site question to include consideration of New York City and San Francisco.

It rejected Europe as a possible future home site despite a pointed Soviet warning that Europe would be considered anyway in later Assembly debate.

After debating at length a Soviet Ukrainian proposal to include Europe as a possibility for the temporary or permanent headquarters of the United Nations, the 14-man committee voted it down 8 to 2, with Russia and the Ukraine alone favoring it. Three committeemen abstained.

Britain Opposes U. S. Proposal

Then the committee approved by an eight to three vote the proposal of former Sen. Warren R. Austin, chief United States delegate, opening the headquarters question to include invitations from New York City and San Francisco.

Great Britain, which expressed firm opposition to widening the question at all, joined Russia and the Ukraine in opposing the United States amendment. There were four abstentions.

Soviet Russia Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko told the committee that another delegation had submitted a resolution bringing Europe into consideration and that Europe would be discussed in plenary debate regardless of what the Steering Committee did.

Gromyko apparently referred to the White Russian Republic's proposal, made public today, which condemned the United Nations setup in New York as costly and inhospitable and demanded that the United Nations consider establishing headquarters in Europe—in particular at Geneva. This was submitted by Kuzma Kiselev, White Russian Foreign Minister and chief delegate, to Trygve Lie, United Nations Secretary-General.

Connally-Manuilsky Row

The whole site question, therefor, involves officially Westchester county, N. Y., New York City and San Francisco, with Geneva certain to come up when debate starts. It was reported that the issue would be put before the full Assembly as soon as possible.

Meanwhile, United States Sen. Tom Connally (D-Tex), up for re-election today in Texas, shouted "dictator" at Dmitri Manuilsky, of the Soviet Ukraine, chairman of the Political Committee, in a row over a Manuilsky ruling.

Connally said that the Ukrainian Foreign Minister "must remember that he is the servant of the committee, not its dictator. This is a democratic organization and we want the chairman to get acquainted with democratic methods."

German Officials "Disappoint" Clay

STUTTGART, Germany, Nov. 5 (AP)—German officials were accused by Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay today of "whitewashing" suspected Nazis in the United States occupation zone, and were given a 60-day probationary period to effect substantial improvements in denazification.

Clay, United States deputy military governor, told officials of the three states in the United States zone that he was "thoroughly disappointed" in what he described as their failure to rid their ranks of Nazism.

"Denazification is a must," Clay said in a speech at a monthly meeting of the Laenderrat, composed of minister presidents of the three states. "If the German people are unwilling to do the job, the military government can and will do it."

While the Germans listened in glum silence, the deputy governor said he would watch their work during the next 60 days "with special attention."

"Unless there is a real and rapid improvement, we can only assume that the German administration is unwilling to accept this responsibility," he said.

Explosions Are Heard On Palestine Railroad

JERUSALEM, Nov. 5. (AP)—An oil tank car was believed to have been blown up by a land mine placed on the Haifa-Lydda railway line near Kalkilyeh tonight. Five big explosions and machine gun fire were heard.

A Jewish-owned truck was blown up on the road near Rishon Le Zion in the Palestine coastal plain and the Jewish driver injured.

Byrnes, Soviet Minister Clash At Conference

Molotov Accuses Secretary Of Presenting Italian Treaty Ultimatum

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP) — Russian Foreign Minister Molotov tonight accused Secretary of State Byrnes of presenting an ultimatum to the Big Four council here when Byrnes insisted on an Italian peace treaty provision which would bar Yugoslavia from treaty benefits if she failed to sign the pact.

Byrnes denied the allegation and told Molotov that he had sat through one session after another listening to Molotov insist on his views without ever considering that any ultimatum was involved.

The upshot of the exchange was that with the United States and Britain supporting the proposed treaty clause and Russia and France objecting, the whole thing was passed over for the time being.

Adjourn At 8:45 p. m.

This was the fate of most of the other relatively minor points of the Italian treaty which the foreign Ministers' Council combed over in their second session in New York.

Adjourning at 8:45 p. m.—four hours and fifteen minutes after their 3:30 p. m. beginning—they agreed that they would meet again at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow to hear arguments from Yugoslavia and Italy on conflicting proposals for control of Trieste by the United Nations.

The Trieste issue—biggest problem facing the Foreign Ministers—is tentatively scheduled for the opening showdown battle of a months-long struggle tomorrow when both Yugoslav and Italian delegations will be heard.

Conference sources believed if the Trieste issue could be settled the other peace problems probably will be solved rapidly.

Trieste Key To Treaty

Completion of the Italian treaty, these sources said, depends entirely on solving the problemh of how Trieste will be governed.

Both the United States and Britain argue that the four-power ministers have decided that Trieste shall be under control of the United Nations. But Russia is balking on the type of government.

Molotov is insisting that the strategic city be under the control of a governor appointed by an Assembly from the international zone. Since such an assembly would be predominately Yugoslav because of the large Yugoslav majority in the area, British and American sources argue that Yugoslavia under this arrangement would hold a position of influence over Trieste.

Car Which Left Fire Scene Found

BALTIMORE, Nov. 5 (AP)—A two-door sedan believed to be the automobile which sped away from a Thames street rooming house last week as a fire broke out and claimed the lives of five seamen, was brought to Eastern District police station today.

Police have been running laboratory tests on two metal cans found inside the building after the fire on the theory they contained inflammable material set to explode after being planted there by an intruder.

A special district squad assigned to the case brought in the machine, and announced that it was owned by one of three men arrested earlier today for questioning in the arson case.

Witnesses said that the car that left the scene of the fire early last Thursday made a lot of noise as though it either had a broken muffler or bad connecting rods. The car brought in today had makeshift repairs to the muffler.

Funeral services for four of the Latin seamen were conducted today but no arrangements have been made for the fifth victim, Antonio Mariano, who died Sunday.

O'CONOR HAS 141,370 TO MARKEY'S 129,524

McKeldin Says Lane's Election "Indicated"; Hammond, Lacy Lead

(By The Associated Press)

BALTIMORE, Wednesday, Nov. 6 (AP)—Election returns slowly moving in from Maryland's 23 counties today showed William Preston Lane, Jr., and Herbert R. O'Conor, Democratic standardbearers for governor and United States Senator, respectively, were holding the margins they had piled up in Baltimore City.

With 735 of the state's 1,330 polling places reported, Lane's unofficial total was 163,983 votes to 120,053 for his Republican opponent, Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin, of Baltimore.

O'Conor, two-term governor of Maryland, had 141,370 votes to 129,524 for D. John Markey, who was making his first bid for political office, in returns from 734 polling places.

McKeldin, who lost Baltimore by about 44,000 votes, issued a statement from his headquarters that "from the unofficial returns, Mr. Lane's election appears indicated."

Lane forces were openly claiming a victory, but there was no personal statement from the Hagerstown newspaper publisher, who is National Democratic Committeeman from Maryland.

Markey Counts On Counties

Backers of Markey still saw a possible victory in the offing for the 64-year-old veteran of three wars who was making his first bid for public office. They cited a pre-election statement from Markey headquarters predicting that the GOP senatorial aspirant would lose Baltimore by about 15,000 votes.

However, one of the counties the Markey forces had placed in their "win" column before the election, Montgomery, went to O'Conor, 15,905 votes to 15,061.

The 51 precincts in Montgomery county gave McKeldin 16,133 votes to 14,939 for Lane.

With scattered precincts reported from other counties, Lane was ahead in Baltimore county, Charles, Queen Annes, St. Marys, and Washington, while McKeldin led in Allegany, Calvert, Dorcester, Garrett, Prince Georges, Wicomico and Worcester.

The first scattering of county returns showed O'Conor ahead in Allegany, Calvert, Queen Annes, St. Marys, Washington, Wicomico and Worcester. Markey led in Baltimore county, Dorcester, Garrett, and Prince Georges. The one precinct from Charles county that had reported at an early hour today gave 88 votes for each.

The other two state-wide Democratic candidates, Hall Hammond for attorney general, and James L. Lacy, for comptroller, had built up commanding leads over their Republi-

Re-election Fight Apparently Won By Sen. Kilgore

Carries Every Major W. Va. Coal County Despite UMW Opposition

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 6 (Wednesday) (AP) — Carrying every major West Virginia coal county despite opposition by the United Mine Workers, Sen. Harley M. Kilgore apparently had won his fight for re-election over Republican Thomas B. Sweeney early today.

With only 402 of the state's 2,799 precincts unreported, the chairman of the Senate War Investigating Committee led with 251,340 votes to 244,069 for Sweeney, Wheeling insurance company executive who was supported by the UMW leadership.

Apparently the only result of the union's formal rejection of Kilgore's bid for another term was the shaving of the Democratic margin in the predominantly miner counties.

However, at least three of five Democratic candidates for Congress apparently were losing. Unofficial returns indicated the re-election of the only Republican member of the present house delegation—Rep. H. S. Ellis, of the Fourth District.

Rep. John Kee (D-WVa), expected to have the best chance of any of the five Democrats to win re-election, was leading Hartley Sandeis in the Fifth District. Incumbent E. H. Hedrick, Democrat, in the Sixth was ahead of Judge Harold H. Neff, of the Charleston Municipal Court.

In other districts, Republicans Francis J. Love, Melvin C. Snyder, former Congressman E. G. Rohrbough and Incumbent Ellis were leading their Democratic opponents. Snyder was leading Incumbent Rep. Jennings Randolph.

With only 647 precincts left uncounted, State Supreme Court Judge Frank C. Haymond, Democrat serving by appointment of Gov. Clarence W. Meadows, had 220,101 votes to Republican Circuit Judge Lewis H. Miller's 217,302.

British Free Jew Leaders, Many Arabs

Action Is Avowed Effort To Restore Peace To Holy Land

JERUSALEM, Nov. 5 (AP)—Eight prominent Jewish leaders, freed by the British government in an avowed effort to bring peace to the Holy Land, left the Latrun detention camp tonight and drove toward Jerusalem, where a huge crowd waited to welcome them.

It was already dark when the party left the camp and headed through the Judea mountains toward Jerusalem. The crowd gathered in front of the Jewish Agency building, illuminated by flood lights.

Besides releasing the eight Jews, British authorities also announced the release of 20 Arabs, said that 120 additional Jews would be freed shortly, and lifted the curfew from Palestine.

Jews and Britons alike hailed the action with optimism, and one

The other three, whose names were withheld, were listed as missing by the 11th Naval District.

Truman Follows Election Returns Aboard Train En Route To Capital

ABOARD PRESIDENTIAL TRAIN ENROUTE TO WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP)—President Truman followed the returns from the nation's congressional elections tonight aboard a special train en route to the White House from his home at Independence, Mo., where he and his family cast early votes.

He kept up with the results of the election — critical to his own political future—by a radio in his private car and through bulletins furnished by newspapermen aboard the train.

Earlier, the President, walking the length of the cars to chat with the newsmen, disclosed plans to remain up to get late returns. He scheduled a series of White House conferences for tomorrow afternoon.

So did the President's mother, Mrs. Martha E. Truman, 93, who surprised her son by showing up at the Independence depot to see him off. She had driven in from her home at Grandview with her daughter, Mary Jane Truman.

The pre-election silence the President maintained throughout the campaign remained unbroken as he stepped aboard the train.

While the state's congressional nominees engaged in a flurry of last-minute oratory, Mr. Truman spent election eve with his family.

Status Of TWA Strike Unchanged

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5—(AP)—Trans-World Airline tonight signed a formal agreement to arbitrate issues in the 16-day-old strike of its 1,400 pilots, but the union deferred acceptance at least until tomorrow, leaving the status of the walkout unchanged.

Chairman Frank P. Douglass, of the National Mediation Board, said he expects the union to accept the agreement also.

Paul E. Richter, TWA executive vice president, signed the agreement in Douglass' office, but explained that no steps toward resuming service will be taken until David L. Behncke, union president, authorizes his Washington representative to sign.

Douglass told reporters that John M. Dickerman, Washington counsel for the Airline Pilots Association (AFL), is sending a copy of the document to Behncke.

The mediator said that he expects the union leader to accept the proposal and authorize Dickerman to sign it.

If Behncke accepts, Richter said, TWA is prepared to recall most of the 15,000 employes laid off without pay because of the strike which began October 21 and to resume flights on some routes within 24 hours.

Embezzlement Investigation Turns To Lagoon In Rear Of Suspect's Home

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP)—Investigation into the alleged embezzlement of $900,000 from the Mergenthaler Linotype Company turned today to a 40-foot lagoon in the rear of the home of the firm's ex-bookkeeper-cashier, where District Attorney Miles F. McDonald said he hoped to recover "machines and stamps used" in the alleged fraud.

The district attorney said he would take William A. Nickel, former employe of the firm, to Nickel's home in Freeport, Long Island, in a search for the articles which McDonald quoted Nickel as saying he tossed into the lagoon.

Nickel disclosed during questioning this afternoon, McDonald said, that he had "thrown a package containing the machine and stamps used in the forgery into a lagoon in the rear of his home."

McDonald said "a large magnet" would be used in trying to recover the articles and, failing in that, he would ask "the police harbor squad to drag the lagoon."

McDonald said the lagoon previously had been dredged but nothing was found, and added that the lagoon empties into Great South Bay on Long Island.

McDonald disclosed that Nickel, who arrived today from Miami, Florida in the custody of detectives for questioning in connection with the case, had asked to be represented by counsel, adding, "but he is continuing to talk" about the case.

The district attorney said Nickel was permitted to lunch with his wife, Mrs. Grace Nickel, and their 16-year-old daughter in a Brooklyn hotel.

Officials said Nickel promised to

BALTIMORE, Nov. 5 (AP)—A two-door sedan believed to be the automobile which sped away from a Thames street rooming house last week as a fire broke out and claimed the lives of five seamen, was brought to Eastern District police station today.

Police have been running laboratory tests on two metal cans found inside the building after the fire on the theory they contained inflammable material set to explode after being planted there by an intruder.

A special district squad assigned to the case brought in the machine, and announced that it was owned by one of three men arrested earlier today for questioning in the arson case.

Witnesses said that the car that left the scene of the fire early last Thursday made a lot of noise as though it either had a broken muffler or bad connecting rods. The car brought in today had makeshift repairs to the muffler.

Funeral services for four of the Latin seamen were conducted today but no arrangements have been made for the fifth victim, Antonio Mariano, who died Sunday.

Democratic Standardbearers Maintain In Counties Margins They Piled Up In Baltimore

O'CONOR HAS 141,370 TO MARKEY'S 129,524

McKeldin Says Lane's Election "Indicated"; Hammond, Lacy Lead

(By The Associated Press)

BALTIMORE, Wednesday, Nov. 6 (AP)—Election returns slowly moving in from Maryland's 23 counties today showed William Preston Lane, Jr., and Herbert R. O'Conor, Democratic standardbearers for governor and United States Senator, respectively, were holding the margins they had piled up in Baltimore City.

With 735 of the state's 1,330 polling places reported, Lane's unofficial total was 163,983 votes to 120,053 for his Republican opponent, Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin, of Baltimore.

O'Conor, two-term governor of Maryland, had 141,370 votes to 129,524 for D. John Markey, who was making his first bid for political office, in returns from 734 polling places.

McKeldin, who lost Baltimore by about 44,000 votes, issued a statement from his headquarters that "from the unofficial returns, Mr. Lane's election appears indicated."

Lane forces were openly claiming a victory, but there was no personal statement from the Hagerstown newspaper publisher, who is National Democratic Committeeman from Maryland.

Markey Counts On Counties

Backers of Markey still saw a possible victory in the offing for the 64-year-old veteran of three wars who was making his first bid for public office. They cited a pre-election statement from Markey headquarters predicting that the GOP senatorial aspirant would lose Baltimore by about 15,000 votes.

However, one of the counties the Markey forces had placed in their "win" column before the election, Montgomery, went to O'Conor, 15,905 votes to 15,061.

The 51 precincts in Montgomery county gave McKeldin 16,133 votes to 14,939 for Lane.

With scattered precincts reported from other counties, Lane was ahead in Baltimore county, Charles, Queen Annes, St. Marys, and Washington, while McKeldin led in Allegany, Calvert, Dorcester, Garrett, Prince Georges, Wicomico and Worcester.

The first scattering of county returns showed O'Conor ahead in Allegany, Calvert, Queen Annes, St. Marys, Washington, Wicomico and Worcester. Markey led in Baltimore county, Dorcester, Garrett, and Prince Georges. The one precinct from Charles county that had reported at an early hour today gave 88 votes for each.

The other two state-wide Democratic candidates, Hall Hammond for attorney general, and James L. Lacy, for comptroller, had built up commanding leads over their Republi-

Carries Every Major W. Va. Coal County Despite UMW Opposition

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 6 (Wednesday) (AP) — Carrying every major West Virginia coal county despite opposition by the United Mine Workers, Sen. Harley M. Kilgore apparently had won his fight for re-election over Republican Thomas B. Sweeney early today.

With only 402 of the state's 2,799 precincts unreported, the chairman of the Senate War Investigating Committee led with 251,340 votes to 244,069 for Sweeney, Wheeling insurance company executive who was supported by the UMW leadership.

Apparently the only result of the union's formal rejection of Kilgore's bid for another term was the shaving of the Democratic margin in the predominantly miner counties.

However, at least three of five Democratic candidates for Congress apparently were losing. Unofficial returns indicated the re-election of the only Republican member of the present house delegation—Rep. H. S. Ellis, of the Fourth District.

Rep. John Kee (D-WVa), expected to have the best chance of any of the five Democrats to win re-election, was leading Hartley Sandals in the Fifth District. Incumbent E. H. Hedrick, Democrat, in the Sixth was ahead of Judge Harold H. Neff, of the Charleston Municipal Court.

In other districts, Republicans Francis J. Love, Melvin C. Snyder, former Congressman E. G. Rohrbough and Incumbent Ellis were leading their Democratic opponents. Snyder was leading Incumbent Rep. Jennings Randolph.

With only 647 precincts left uncounted, State Supreme Court Judge Frank C. Haymond, Democrat serving by appointment of Gov. Clarence W. Meadows, had 220,101 votes to Republican Circuit Judge Lewis H. Miller's 217,302.

British Free Jew Leaders, Many Arabs

Action Is Avowed Effort To Restore Peace To Holy Land

JERUSALEM, Nov. 5 (AP)—Eight prominent Jewish leaders, freed by the British government in an avowed effort to bring peace to the Holy Land, left the Latrun detention camp tonight and drove toward Jerusalem, where a huge crowd waited to welcome them.

It was already dark when the party left the camp and headed through the Judea mountains toward Jerusalem. The crowd gathered in front of the Jewish Agency building, illuminated by flood lights.

Besides releasing the eight Jews, British authorities also announced the release of 20 Arabs, said that 120 additional Jews would be freed shortly, and lifted the curfew from Palestine.

Truman Follows Election Returns Aboard Train En Route To Capital

ABOARD PRESIDENTIAL TRAIN ENROUTE TO WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP)—President Truman followed the returns from the nation's congressional elections tonight aboard a special train en route to the White House from his home at Independence, Mo., where he and his family cast early votes.

He kept up with the results of the election — critical to his own political future—by a radio in his private car and through bulletins furnished by newspapermen aboard the train.

Earlier, the President, walking the length of the cars to chat with the newsmen, disclosed plans to remain up to get late returns. He scheduled a series of White House conferences for tomorrow afternoon.

So did the President's mother, Mrs. Martha E. Truman, 93, who surprised her son by showing up at the Independence depot to see him off. She had driven in from her home at Grandview with her daughter, Mary Jane Truman.

The pre-election silence the President maintained throughout the campaign remained unbroken as he stepped aboard the train.

While the state's congressional nominees engaged in a flurry of last-minute oratory, Mr. Truman spent election eve with his family.

Status Of TWA Strike Unchanged

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5—(AP)—Trans-World Airline tonight signed a formal agreement to arbitrate issues in the 16-day-old strike of its 1,400 pilots, but the union deferred acceptance at least until tomorrow, leaving the status of the walkout unchanged.

Chairman Frank P. Douglass, of the National Mediation Board, said he expects the union to accept the agreement also.

Paul E. Richter, TWA executive vice president, signed the agreement in Douglass' office, but explained that no steps toward resuming service will be taken until David L. Behncke, union president, authorizes his Washington representative to sign.

Douglass told reporters that John M. Dickerman, Washington counsel for the Airline Pilots Association (AFL), is sending a copy of the document to Behncke.

The mediator said that he expects the union leader to accept the proposal and authorize Dickerman to sign it.

If Behncke accepts, Richter said, TWA is prepared to recall most of the 15,000 employes laid off without pay because of the strike which began October 21 and to resume flights on some routes within 24 hours.

Embezzlement Investigation Turns To Lagoon In Rear Of Suspect's Home

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP)—Investigation into the alleged embezzlement of $900,000 from the Mergenthaler Linotype Company turned today to a 40-foot lagoon in the rear of the home of the firm's ex-bookkeeper-cashier, where District Attorney Miles F. McDonald said he hoped to recover "machines and stamps used" in the alleged fraud.

The district attorney said he would take William A. Nickel, former employe of the firm, to Nickel's home in Freeport, Long Island, in a search for the articles which McDonald quoted Nickel as saying he tossed into the lagoon.

Nickel disclosed during questioning this afternoon, McDonald said, that he had "thrown a package containing the machine and stamps used in the forgery into a lagoon in the rear of his home."

McDonald said "a large magnet" would be used in trying to recover the articles and, failing in that, he would ask "the police harbor squad to drag the lagoon."

McDonald said the lagoon previously had been dredged but nothing was found, and added that the lagoon empties into Great South Bay on Long Island.

McDonald disclosed that Nickel, who arrived today from Miami, Florida in the custody of detectives for questioning in connection with the case, had asked to be represented by counsel, adding, "but he is continuing to talk" about the case.

The district attorney said Nickel was permitted to lunch with his wife, Mrs. Grace Nickel, and their 16-year-old daughter in a Brooklyn hotel.

Bus Driver Denies Speeding Charges

Stating that Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, went "too far" in his remarks to the Mayor and City Council last week regarding operation of school buses on Valley Road, W. Ward Wilson, operator of three school buses which haul children from the Valley Road section, told the council Monday that the buses are not operated in a "reckless" manner or at "excessive" speeds.

Wilson emphasized Rizer's comments that some school buses go too fast and that bus drivers appear to be the worst offenders, but the city engineer said he did not say that school bus drivers exceeded the speed limit or were reckless.

The bus operator told the council that he has been operating school buses for 13 years and that in that period he had not been in a single wreck and not one child was injured.

"Mr. Rizer also made a verbal report concerning his inspection of the above road. He said that his inspection party had to jump out of the way several times due to the excessive rate of speed at which some of the vehicles were operated. Saying that not all of the school buses but some of them are the worst offenders in this respect, he called attention to one special occasion when a driver was operating a car between 55 and 60 miles per hour, and he added that the drivers of vehicles using Valley Road apparently have no regard for the narrowness of the road."

So what? So the folks who own America's business-managed electric companies live in every one of these states. They include a lot of your friends and neighbors—and probably you, too.

How come? Well, several million Americans have invested their savings in electric companies directly. As a result, almost every American family has a stake in the self-supporting, tax-paying electric companies that provide most of America's power. Thanks largely to good business management, the price of electricity has come down while other prices have gone way up—and this country enjoys the best electric service in the world.

"FATHER, I CONFESS"

A dreadful and pitiful story has come out of San Francisco.

Some months ago a young woman was found distraught, bloody, near death. She accused her husband, a former Coast Guardsman, of attempting to kill her and said that he had killed their two babies, little Barbara Ann, 2, and Carolnie Lee, 7 months.

The man was easily found. He had made no attempt to hide his tracks. Instead he had attempted to drown himself in a well known Sierra lake.

Brought back and placed in jail, his testimony made little sense. First he denied the crime, then admitted it. He was obviously in a dazed and demoralized condition.

The weeks went on, as they do in any easy going state. There was little doubt of Vorhes Newton's guilt. For many days, his wife hovered on the brink of death.

Had he gone suddenly insane? Had the war unhinged his reason? Had marriage and its increasing responsibilities been too much for him?

One could not tell. In his eyes there were terrible blankness and dismay. Theoretically he seemed sane, yet no truly sane man could have done the thing which he had done.

Then the time came for his trial and sentence. But when they went for Vorhes Newton he was not there. Only his broken body lay mute upon the floor. He had hanged himself from a crossbar during the previous night.

But before he hanged himself words came at last to his tortured soul. On the back of a scrap of paper he had scribbled—

"Bless me, father. I confess before you and Almighty God that I have sinned."

That was all. Just those few words and then the slow and terrible death by strangulation.

I am writing this out of a deep pity for a man I never saw and a deep hope for the justice he too sought.

The crime he committed—if he did commit it—is as abhorent to as it must be to every decent human being. But I know of no human being who has not committed some crime. . . . who has not spent months, maybe years, in some lonely cell of remorse, and who has not found, at the end, that there is only one Friend to whom we all must turn in our despair. I believe in that Friend. I believe there is a plan and a purpose and an endless pity in life.

I believe that some day we shall all stumble home, stained and debased, with that one last cry—"Bless me, father, I confess before you and Almighty God that I have sinned."

And I think we will find peace at last.

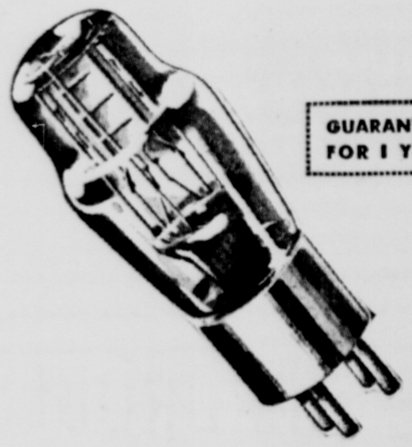

If I did not believe that I do not think I could live another day.

Too Many Strikes Are Detrimental To Workers

It is not easy for an outsider to pass judgment on the issues involved in the dispute which has led the United Auto Workers to file a 30-day strike notice with the Ford Motor Company on behalf of 68,000 employes at the River Rouge plant. The walkout has been called, ostensibly, because of alleged health hazards at the plant. But it is doubtful whether this dispute would have been brought to a head if the Ford company had not invoked a penalty clause in its contract to discipline the leaders of a recent wildcat strike.

But, whatever the merits of the case, the growing tendency of labor leaders to employ the strike weapon in every difference with management, instead of making every effort to settle disputes by negotiations, must be deplored. If this latest threat is implemented, an important segment of the automobile industry will be shut down again over an issue which could surely have been settled by arbitration.

Production in a key industry, beginning to recover from earlier strikes, will be slowed down again and reconversion will be dealt another setback. The increasing use of strikes is not only harmful to the entire economy, but when workers in an industry stage repeated walkouts they are also endangering the source of their livelihood. Nobody stands to gain so much from decent labor relations as does the worker. Nobody stands to lose so much from continuance of our present industrial warfare as does the worker. He is the one who will pay through lost wages and savings, unemployment and suffering. He is the one who loses pay when he goes out on the picket line. The men who send him there don't lose their pay, and they don't picket. They run the show while the worker does the fighting and foots the bill.

In the warfare for power and dues, many union bosses are like feudal lords struggling for personal prestige and spoils. The workers are the foot soldiers who go into battle and suffer the casualties. And so it goes.

An industry so hampered by strikes that it cannot reach volume production cannot supply jobs and cannot pay wages to the tens of thousands of workers dependent on it.

Of course, these workers will be worse sufferers if the budding boom is turned into a depression by repeated and continual strikes. Is it not high time the leaders of organized labor realized that fact?

If an egg shortage is looming, as predicted, there will be plenty of time to correct the deficiency before the demand for the hen fruit as 1948 campaign ammunition sets in.

Treasury Aide Talks Sense On Excessive Tax

Undersecretary of the Treasury O. Max Gardner is the man who will represent the Treasury in presenting tax legislation to the new Congress. The fact that Mr. Gardner, former governor of North Carolina, holds the opinion that the cost of government is excessive is definitely of public interest. As the next Congress will definitely cut taxes, it is fortunate that Mr. Gardner subscribes to the views he enunciates. Both Mr. Truman and Secretary of the Treasury Snyder are on record as opposing tax cuts.

"The cost of government—all government—is too great. We cannot continue federal expenditures on the basis of taking one dollar out of every four for federal revenue.

"It makes little difference to the taxpayer which jurisdiction imposes the greater burden—whether it is federal, state or local. It is the sum total of the costs of all public service that is making life difficult and hard today.

"Unnecessary activities must be eliminated. More efficient and economical means must be found to conduct the essential public services."

Taxpayers will respond to these statements with a unanimous "Amen!" They will also join heartily in the hope that Undersecretary Gardner and other economy advocates in Washington get somewhere with their ideas as soon as possible and that suggestions for tax legislation shortly will tend to decrease the burden which weighs so heavily upon so many at the moment. Nothing would be more unfortunate for the nation than administration efforts to buck the new Congress when it starts to prune expenditures and taxes.

The moon eventually may be colonized, according to scientists, but there is no proof that Russia already has taken over.

The Mentally Ill

Among worthy measures which went through Congress all but unnoticed during the excitement of the closing weeks of the session was a bill, now signed by the President, which provides for the building of a national mental health institute near Washington, its operation under the direction of the Public Health Service, and an appropriation of approximately $10,000,000 a year to finance research in hospitals and schools, and by private specialists.

The country has long known that approximately 6 per cent of the American people suffer from some kind of mental disturbance, that the nation spends $250,000,000 a year on the maintenance of hospitals for the mentally ill, and that only $2,500,000 a year is spent on getting at causes of mental and nervous disorders and seeking means of correcting them.

But it took the war's experience to bring about a broad and direct attack on the problem. Some 1,100,000 men were found by Selective Service to be disqualified for military service because of mental or nervous instability. Half of all pensions now being paid to veterans for disability are going to men whose difficulties are largely mental or connected with nervous disorders.

The Senate committee report on the bill laid great stress on this disclosure to reach the conclusion that "research in the field of mental illness has up to the present time been utterly inadequate." The report swept away all opposition to the bill. The law is now in effect. Its benefits will not be felt for some time, but its enactment can be counted today as one of the country's great advances in public health.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

HORMONES IN PEPTIC ULCER

THE healing of peptic ulcer is promoted by decreasing the energetic movements of the stomach and neutralizing acidity. These two aims are behind the myriads of remedies which have been advocated thruout the years. The plan has been successful in general but not to the complete satisfaction of all concerned. With each successive generation we are confronted with a new crop of victims. Once the condition appears, the individual must be careful lest it return. There are a few who never seem to rid themselves of distress.

The problem has been attacked from various angles. The nervous system plays a major role, with ulceration but one manifestation of a more generalized disturbance. Consequently the lesion arises after nervous strain, overwork, or undue anxiety. Thru mental hygiene and lessening the tempo of living, the psychic elements are brought under control so that no longer are motility and the acid secreting glands in the stomach affected adversely.

Other forms of treatment have been devised to correct abnormalities within the organ. Alkalies, including Sippy powders, and our more modern aluminum preparations, are prescribed to keep down acidity. In addition sedatives are administered to reduce aprehension, and atropine or belladonna to alleviate spasm. The diet is important. Small but frequent feedings lessen activity so that there are fewer contractions and less churning. Foods which do not stimulate acidity are favored, caffeine beverages are eliminated.

Surgery, too, has been utilized. One type consists of removal of the part of the structure containing much of the acid secreting glands. The procedure is helpful also in those who have developed obstruction of hemorrhage. In another operation, certain nerves which influence the acidity and motions of the gastric pouch are severed.

Recently a more logical approach has been taken. Many experimental laboratories have been working with animals on some new hormones (anthelones) called "enterogastrone" and "urogastrone." These substances are believed to influence the membranes of the stomach and intestine—not only by depressing the secretions and motility but by increasing the resistance of the tissues against ulcer formation. The preparations are not available commercially altho a few patients have been treated with the crude extracts.

Ivy, who has done much of the work in this country, is optimistic as 40 per cent of his 58 patients were improved by daily injections of enterogastrone. A recent article by Sandweiss states that Swiss scientists using similar products regard the results as encouraging altho the reports are somewhat colored by their enthusiasm.

In many instances symptoms vanish rapidly and X-rays reveal that the ulcer crater disappears some times within three weeks. The diet can be relaxed and the time spent in bed cut down considerably. Before the material can be given in a practicable manner, it must be manufactured in a more concentrated form. Tablets may be used but a large number must be taken daily in order to obtain the desired effect.

COLD CRAMPS HIS STYLE

W. P. writes: Whenever I take an alcoholic or cold drink, I find it difficult to breathe. What could do this?

REPLY

Apparently chilling leads to spasm. Cold beverages are not for you.

BACKACHE

B. N. writes: Is sacroiliac the same as backache?

REPLY

It is one type, involving the joint of the same name. Discomfort in this region may be due to other causes such as disturbances of the vertebrae or the powerful muscles in the spinal area.

HEMORRHOIDS

T. K. writes: What are the symptoms of piles?

REPLY

In order of their frequency—bleeding and protrusion. Complications may result in pain. In many patients there are no symptoms.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

BOBBING FOR DIAMONDS

NEW YORK—Spent Hallowe'en at the Waldorf Astoria here and they celebrated that holiday in typical Waldorf style.

They didn't bob for apples.

I knocked on one guy's door and asked for him for a handout.

He gave me the controlling stock in United States Steele.

One guy passed me in the lobby dressed in a turban and sheets and I pulled the sheets off. Was I embarrassed when he turned out to be the United Nations delegate from Saudi Arabia.

I put on a silly Hallowe'en costume and a mask and started to go out, but the manager said, "It won't work, Hope, pay your bill."

The hotel is really crowded.

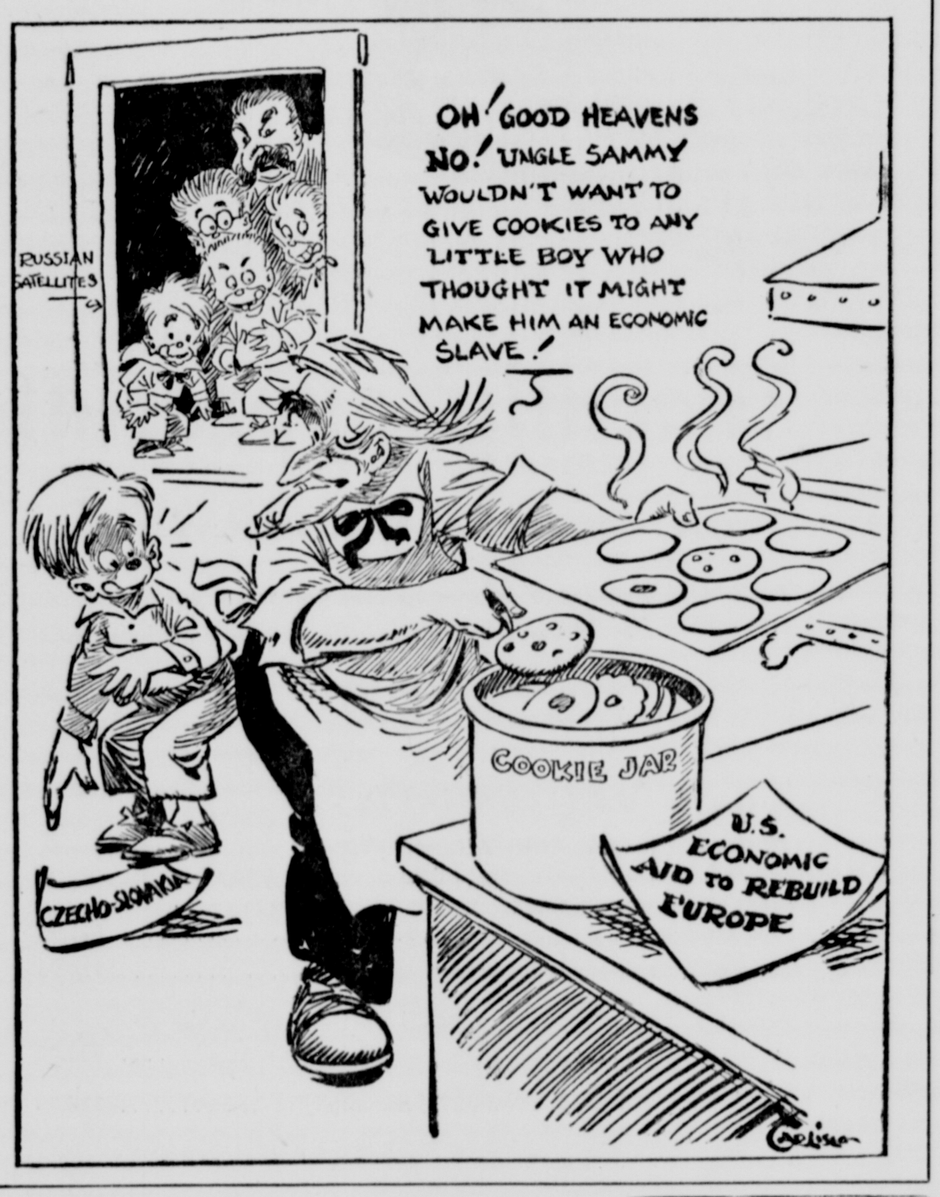

I passed a lighted pumpkin and went "boo," and three voices answered back, "boo yourself, we're living in here."

But just to show you how bad certain shortages are, I saw the manager in front of the hotel on his knees PLEADING with the kids to soap up his windows.

I threw a Hallowe'en party in my suite for the kids, and to make sure no furniture would be broken I didn't invite any boys, and to make sure their parents wouldn't worry those who did come had to be at least twenty-one.

THE

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Killion, Fund-Raiser For Democrats, Will Propose Future Campaigns Be Equitably Financed Out of Public Treasury; Would Prevent Big-Money Influence on Elections

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Nov 5.—Now that the elections are over, Democratic National Committee Treasurer George Killion will make an almost revolutionary proposal to President Truman for the financing of further political campaigns. Killion raised $3,000,000 for the party in the last year and a half, an almost incredible amount for Democrats in a non-presidential year. Despite that, Killion considers fund raising a messy job.

"You never know who's really giving the money," he says. "You can only hope that it is honest money. You must work on the premise that the press and congress are looking over your shoulder every minute."

During the recent campaign, Killion turned down more than $100,000 in proffered contributions because they were contingent on some favor or other from the administration. Now, however, Killion will propose that further campaigns be financed not by contributions, but out of the public treasury. This proposal would give both parties a chance to serve in a more statesmanlike fashion, permit them to ignore special privilege groups and give congress greater control of corrupt election practices.

Killion's plan also would have the effect of preventing moneyed interests from purchasing elections—whether labor or big business. Under his plan, bipartisan committees of the House and Senate would handle election funds, would dole them out on the basis of population to the candidates of both parties. Much stricter control could then be exercised on the use of the funds.

Killion knows that he probably won't get the plan through at once. Numerous objections are certain to be advanced. For example, the plan makes no provision for the establishment of new parties, would probably be rejected on that one count alone. However, a constructive discussion of the proposal may lead congress eventually to adopt it.

Wallace Rebels

"The boss heard Pearson predict that you were planning to attack Senator Vandenberg in your Minneapolis speech," Hannegan said. "He doesn't want you to blast him. He thinks it's a mistake."

"But, Bob," Wallace said, "I quit the cabinet in order to be able to say what I wanted. Besides, I firmly believe that Vandenberg has been needling Byrnes into a lot of our difficulties with the Russians."

"I know," replied Hannegan, "but the President asked me to tell you he thinks your attack will hurt the party."

"Which Party," Wallace asked, "the Republicans or the Democrats?"

"The Democrats," Hannegan replied. "He thinks it's an error to attack Vandenberg."

"I'm sorry, Bob," said Wallace, "but I don't work for him any more."

Note—Later at Detroit, Wallace bowed to the will of Michigan Democrats and in a subsequent speech pulled his punches on Vandenberg.

Capital Chaff

Kenneth Royall will resign as undersecretary of war shortly . . . Congressman Wright Patman of Texas will demand a congressional investigation of the ouster of Assistant Attorney General O. John Rogge, whose courageous exposures of Nazi activities in the United States have shocked the nation. Patman will demand that all the evidence against Nazi agents in the U. S., including documentary proof of the collaboration of U. S. Senators with the Germans, be placed squarely in the record . . . Price controls have been dropping so rapidly in the last 10 days that even the top men in OPA don't know what will be decontrolled next. Price Chief Paul Porter hopes to work out an orderly schedule this week, but that depends on whether Reconversion Director John Steelman will play ball with him . . . Latest slogan among Supreme Court Justices is "clear it with Kelly." Paul Kelly is Chief Justice Vinson's old secretary and political adviser . . . Though Senator Wayne Morse, liberal Oregon Republican, publicly supported reactionary Republican senate candidates in Idaho and Washington, he offered to go to Oklahoma to help Democratic Representative Mike Monroney. Munroney said he didn't need him . . . Gerald L. K. Smith, head of the American First Party, has now thrown his full weight behind American Action, Inc., the blue-chip America First organization under another name which raised a $750,000 slush fund to defeat liberal candidates for congress.

From the Diplomatic Pouch

Secretary Byrnes and Assistant Secretary Will Clayton are differing over loans to countries in the Soviet orbit. Clayton maintains that if we cut off trade and credits to pro-Russian nations, this dollar diplomacy will drive those nations further into the Soviet orbit . . . Clayton also wants Russia to sit in at the world trade conference in London as a means of insuring the peace . . . The American Army has now trained and equipped 57 Kuomintang divisions already active in the Chinese Civil War. This is a total of 22 armies—707,000 men—plus 2,000 Chinese Air Cadets. This is four times as many men as the army equipped while China was fighting Japan . . . . . The State Department has turned thumbs down on the proposed Argentine purchase of our surplus corvettes and landing craft. They might be used for aggressive warfare in Latin America . . . Ambassador to Russia Bedell Smith has been trying to work out a blueprint of economic cooperation with Russia during his current conferences with top officials at the State Department. Smith is trying to pin down the administration to a final decision of a Russian loan . . . President Truman will try to heal the breach between the U. S. and Czechoslovakia by lunching with Jan Masaryk, the foreign minister of Czechoslovakia.

Admiral Leahy In Chile

It has all been kept very hush-hush, but U. S. ambassador to Chile Claude Bowers was opposed to sending Admiral William Leahy to Chile on a battleship.

Bowers wrote several confidential letters to the President on the subject, but Truman went ahead anyway.

When left-wing Chilean presidential candidate Gabriel Gonzalez Videla, generally regarded as the first communist-elected president in Latin America, was swept into office, Bowers sent a personal note to the President, warning of possible dangers ahead. To avoid them, he urged Truman to send Henry Wallace, then secretary of commerce, as the President's personal representative to Gonzalez Videla's inauguration.

Bowers made the point that Wallace was especially equipped to convince the new Chilean administration, as well as the Chilean people, of the peaceful and friendly feelings of the United States. Wallace, he said, could effectively convince the Chileans of the dangers inherent in excessive leftism.

Truman said nothing to Wallace, but sent Admiral [illegible] a U. S. battleship, accompanied by a task force. In Latin America this is interpreted as part of America's new "get tough" policy, though actually Leahy was sent because he was a personal friend of President Gonzalez Videla when both served as ambassadors to Vichy France.

Court Decision Upholds Rights Of Individuals

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

If the government seizes your property, can it force you to take the government's price for it? The answer is NO.

The United States Court of Claims has so held in a notable decision. We are returning to the Constitution. That great bulwark against tyranny says that private property can not be "taken for public use without just compensation."

But what is just compensation, and how is it determined? It is not the price fixed by O.P.A. The price is a judicial question to be decided by a court or jury. The President can take your property for public use but he can not tell you what price you must accept.

We can breathe more easily because of this decision.

Foils Truman Plan

Only recently the President said he gave long and serious consideration to sending his hirelings out on the farms to seize the farmers' cattle. If he had done so, could he have compelled the farmers to accept a price fixed by him or his agents?

No, he could not. The Court of Claims case arose out of the requisition by the government of 125,000 pounds of meat for the army, and the the insistence by the administration that the packing house must accept the O.P.A. price in payment. The packing house said it would lose money at the O.P.A. price. The government admitted this was true, but insisted that the owners must do business with the government at a loss.

Government may, of course, condemn land for a post office, or requisition supplies for the army. But it must pay "just compensation" therefor. The government, as a buyer, cannot fix the price either by act of Congress or bureaucratic decree. It may not, as the Declaration of Independence complained of a king, "send hither swarms of officers to harass our people, and eat out their substance! Judgment was rendered against the government for a price that reimbursed the packers for the meat. "The plaintiff did not sell its property to the Government; its property was taken by the Government. In such case the plaintiff is clearly entitled to demand the price the Constitution says it is entitled to."

Noteworthy Decision

This is a noteworthy decision. It went as far as was necessary to dispose of the case. But, curiously, the court seems to agree that while the government can not force an O.P.A. price or rental down the owner's throat for the government's benefits, that nevertheless in cases in which the government is not a party to the transaction, it can compel Jones to sell or rent to Smith at a price dictated by O.P.A. even though that price forces Jones to sell or rent at a loss.

The bigger question remains undecided. In time of peace, can the government constitutionally fix the price at which private citizens Jones and Smith must buy and sell?

Congressman Buffett of Nebraska discloses that the Government bought 50,000 tons of copper in Chile and paid 2 cents a pound more for it than American companies are allowed to pay. The administration said it had to pay more than the ceiling in order to meet the bids of European buyers in the Chilean market!

Well, Well, well! And how does Europe get the cash to outbid American ceilings for copper in Chile? Why, it borrows it from Uncle Sam! And Uncle Sam taxes American copper companies to furnish the dough to Europe to outbid American buyers for copper—a requisite for war. This planned economy surely is a wonderful thing. It provides full employment for a million bureaucrats and makes America rich by giving America away.

"Straight-Ticket" Voters In Both Parties No Longer Controlling Factor

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5—The election unquestionably was decided by "independent" voters. This means the groups who do not vote the same way in every election. The "straight-ticket" voters in both parties are no longer the controlling factor. The balance of power is held by those who shift according to the issues offered or the candidates presented.

There are congressional districts in which a change of only three per cent from one election to the other is enough to swing victory from one side to the other. The sum total of all these shifting groups throughout the nation produces the election victory.

Back in 1932 a substantial number of Republican voters left their party to vote for Franklin D. Roosevelt. By 1936 some of them had gone back to their party but not enough to affect the outcome. In 1940, with war issues in the offing, the return to the Republican Party was again checked and likewise in 1944.

Gains Not Retained

It was in the congressional elections each time between presidential elections that the Republicans showed signs of winning back their original constituents. But the Republican gains in these off-year elections were not retained when the presidential election swept Democratic members of Congress into office on the coattails of FDR.

With the 1946 congressional election over, the question will arise whether political history, as it happened in 1936, 1940 and 1944, will be repeated or whether in 1948 the Republican tide will keep on mounting.

Obviously, when a national election can be personalized, the tendency of the voters is to choose between the two major party candidates and vote the straight party ticket for the remainder of the candidates. This is the reason why some excellent Republican members lost out in presidential years.

The growth in independent voting has made elections more and more difficult to control by machines or party organizations. It is a relatively simple matter, however, to concentrate political campaigning in key cities and get enough electoral votes that way to swing a majority in a presidential election. In congressional elections, on the other hand where each district and each state are units, the concentration of voting cannot be as effective.

It doesn't matter, for instance, how high the majority runs in a New York City district usually carried by the Democrats because the Democratic candidate there cannot transfer his surplus votes to some other congressional district. That is one reason why the Republicans felt sure of gains this time in seats in the House of Representatives. Conversely, with populous cities where a heavy Democratic vote offsets Republican majorities in country districts, the candidates for U. S. Senator had the benefit of statewide voting and that is why the Democrats felt surer about cutting down Republican chances to win the Senate.

When all the election returns are in—and it usually takes several days for the final tally to be recorded in all districts—it will be found that the 1946 election followed the pattern of other congressional elections especially with respect to the so-called protest vote. Where there is discontent or dissatisfaction, the party in power usually suffers, whereas the party out of power, even though offering no particular alternative in public policy, benefits by the protests.

Presidential Ball To Roll

The congressional elections, moreover, start the ball rolling for the presidential race two years away. When the Congress just elected takes office in January next, the lines for the subsequent presidential political campaign will be laid. American politics occupies the attention of the voters just a few weeks in the autumn months every two years but actually the politicians play the game all the time. The late President Roosevelt was one of those who believed that campaigning between elections was most influential and he usually got most of his publicity in the press between campaigns so that the campaign itself was too short for his opponent to overcome those advantages.

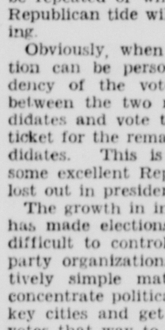

In the congressional campaign just closed, it may be said that impressions formed long before today actually influenced the voters and prejudiced them one way or the other on the issues and the candidates.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

I see the Army is working on a jet plane that'll fly a thousand miles an hour. I understand they've eliminated all the bugs but one—they can't redesign the pilot.

They find when you make a turn at supersonic speeds, your insides refuse to follow and your blood drains down into the big toe. It serves the scientists right for waiting until now to discover the human body is obsolete—a mustache cup on the shelves of technology. I could have told them that seven years ago. You see, it was seven years ago that I hit my fortieth birthday.

Billy Rose

I remember going up to my bedroom after the little surprise party I had organized for myself. On the night table my wife had placed one the presents, Walter B. Pitkin's book, "Life Begins at Forty". I smiled at her thoughtful gesture, I looked at myself in the mirror, and then pitched the book out the window.

Until then I had worn my body like an undershirt, something you put on and forget about. Except for an ingrown toe-nail at fourteen and the customary cold around Christmas, it hadn't troubled me any more than my vaccination mark. At forty I took stock, and realized that instead of my body serving me, I was going to be waiting on it hand and foot the rest of my life.

As a kid on the East Side, the only dietary problem was: where was the next meal coming from? Now that I've got enough to eat, I can't eat it. I'm told the hot rolls I love are crawling with calories, that six ounces of cherry pop put two pounds on your waistline. I used to eat five times a day and had a tummy flat as an ironing board. Now I eat twice a day and look as if I'm hoarding helium. My doctor tells me to play golf, but I put the ball where I can see it, I can't hit it, and if I put it where I can hit it, I can't see it.

Years of reading on the subway are beginning to catch up with me. Unless wear glasses, the morning mail looks as if it were written under water. And when I lose my glasses, I can't look for them until I find them. I'm glad I'm my own boss these days. If I were punching a timeclock, I'd probably work myself to death because I couldn't tell when the boss was watching me.

Another place where I got shortchanged by evolution is the teeth. I still have most of my own choppers, but the last time I went to the dentist, he told me to swear off caramels. I don't know how you feel about caramels, but he might as well have told me to give up kissing.

I used to run a hundred yards in eleven seconds. But I like the American dollar, my feet ain't what they used to be. I wish Nature had taken a couple of extra seconds and figured out a better looking gadget for us to get around on. Like wheels, for instance. Take a good look at your tootsies sometime. If they don't make you bust out laughing, you're a pretty conceited fellow.

I can't go along with the anthropologist who thinks Man is the last stone on the Evolutionary pyramid. Seals swim faster, eagles see farther, chickens get born easier, turtles live longer, roses smell better, and an alley cat is more graceful. And before you tell me we think better, take a look at what's happening on page one of this newspaper.

If the scientists fail to figure out how to fly a thousand miles an hour, it's OK by me. In 1936 it took me six days to get to London. Last November I flew there in sixteen hours. London was a lot more attractive ten years ago. The House of Commons looked better without a hole in the roof.

Today's Talk

WORRY

Worry is undoubtedly one of the greatest enemies the human race has ever had, or ever will have. But worry can easily be routed by paying no attention to it! Worry wants teasing and coddling. It wants attention. Then it gets in its deadly work. It creates within the mind an endless number of other worries that never had any intention of roosting with their godfather!

Worry is not a disease, but it is a breeder of diseases. Therefore it's something that you should avoid as you would an ugly plague. There is not a single good that worry has ever accomplished. Most worries are about things that never happen, anyway. Most of the ills we hand over to worry are imaginary, as well.

Worry gets people down—it never helps them up! It hasn't a single bit of merit to warrant its presence in the mind of anyone. It's just plain uselessness to harbor it for a moment, for if it gets the least encouragement it jumps in on all fours and takes immediate possession. If we do our best, and honestly follow out our inclinations, and make our decisions with intelligence, we can well let worry alone.

It is well, and natural, that we be concerned about our health, and those whom we love, but worrying is not going to help us at any time, nor is it going to help them.

We must learn the gospel of acceptance, as we wend our way through life. We must aid this wonderful machine of ours, this human body, and give it all the encouragement and backing possible. Worry, thrown into its happy, and natural working, would be like sprinkling sand into the gas of your car. Worry always promises dire results. An absolute absence of it in the mind, gives every evidence of hope.

You know what static is that you sometimes get over your radio. Well, that's what worry is to the mind, and which rattles its destructive way throughout the entire nervous system. No rest, no peace—no clear vision ahead. Just confusion and fear. Then why not dismiss all worry? It hasn't one single virtue!

Too Many Strikes Are Detrimental To Workers

It is not easy for an outsider to pass judgment on the issues involved in the dispute which has led the United Auto Workers to file a 30-day strike notice with the Ford Motor Company on behalf of 68,000 employes at the River Rouge plant. The walkout has been called, ostensibly, because of alleged health hazards at the plant. But it is doubtful whether this dispute would have been brought to a head if the Ford company had not invoked a penalty clause in its contract to discipline the leaders of a recent wildcat strike.

But, whatever the merits of the case, the growing tendency of labor leaders to employ the strike weapon in every difference with management, instead of making every effort to settle disputes by negotiations, must be deplored. If this latest threat is implemented, an important segment of the automobile industry will be shut down again over an issue which could surely have been settled by arbitration.

Production in a key industry, beginning to recover from earlier strikes, will be slowed down again and reconversion will be dealt another setback. The increasing use of strikes is not only harmful to the entire economy, but when workers in an industry stage repeated walkouts they are also endangering the source of their livelihood. Nobody stands to gain so much from decent labor relations as does the worker. Nobody stands to lose so much from continuance of our present industrial warfare as does the worker. He is the one who will pay through lost wages and savings, unemployment and suffering. He is the one who loses pay when he goes out on the picket line. The men who send him there don't lose their pay, and they don't picket. They run the show while the worker does the fighting and foots the bill.

In the warfare for power and dues, many union bosses are like feudal lords struggling for personal prestige and spoils. The workers are the foot soldiers who go into battle and suffer the casualties. And so it goes.

An industry so hampered by strikes that it cannot reach volume production cannot supply jobs and cannot pay wages to the tens of thousands of workers dependent on it.

Of course, these workers will be worse sufferers if the budding boom is turned into a depression by repeated and continual strikes. Is it not high time the leaders of organized labor realized that fact?

If an egg shortage is looming, as predicted, there will be plenty of time to correct the deficiency before the demand for the hen fruit as 1948 campaign ammunition sets in.

Treasury Aide Talks Sense On Excessive Tax

Undersecretary of the Treasury O. Max Gardner is the man who will represent the Treasury in presenting tax legislation to the new Congress. The fact that Mr. Gardner, former governor of North Carolina, holds the opinion that the cost of government is excessive is definitely of public interest. As the next Congress will definitely cut taxes, it is fortunate that Mr. Gardner subscribes to the views he enunciates. Both Mr. Truman and Secretary of the Treasury Snyder are on record as opposing tax cuts.

"The cost of government—all government—is too great. We cannot continue federal expenditures on the basis of taking one dollar out of every four for federal revenue.

"It makes little difference to the taxpayer which jurisdiction imposes the greater burden—whether it is federal, state or local. It is the sum total of the costs of all public service that is making life difficult and hard today.

"Unnecessary activities must be eliminated. More efficient and economical means must be found to conduct the essential public services."

Taxpayers will respond to these statements with a unanimous "Amen!" They will also join heartily in the hope that Undersecretary Gardner and other economy advocates in Washington get somewhere with their ideas as soon as possible and that suggestions for tax legislation shortly will tend to decrease the burden which weighs so heavily upon so many at the moment. Nothing would be more unfortunate for the nation than administration efforts to buck the new Congress when it starts to prune expenditures and taxes.

The moon eventually may be colonized, according to scientists, but there is no proof that Russia already has taken over.

The Mentally Ill

Among worthy measures which went through Congress all but unnoticed during the excitement of the closing weeks of the session was a bill, now signed by the President, which provides for the building of a national mental health institute near Washington, its operation under the direction of the Public Health Service, and an appropriation of approximately $10,000,000 a year to finance research in hospitals and schools, and by private specialists.

The country has long known that approximately 6 per cent of the American people suffer from some kind of mental disturbance, that the nation spends $250,000,000 a year on the maintenance of hospitals for the mentally ill, and that only $2,500,000 a year is spent on getting at causes of mental and nervous disorders and seeking means of correcting them.

But it took the war's experience to bring about a broad and direct attack on the problem. Some 1,100,000 men were found by Selective Service to be disqualified for military service because of mental or nervous instability. Half of all pensions now being paid to veterans for disability are going to men whose difficulties are largely mental or connected with nervous disorders.

The Senate committee report on the bill laid great stress on this disclosure to reach the conclusion that "research in the field of mental illness has up to the present time been utterly inadequate." The report swept away all opposition to the bill. The law is now in effect. Its benefits will not be felt for some time, but its enactment can be counted today as one of the country's great advances in public health.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

HORMONES IN PEPTIC ULCER

THE healing of peptic ulcer is promoted by decreasing the energetic movements of the stomach and neutralizing acidity. These two aims are behind the myriads of remedies which have been advocated thruout the years. The plan has been successful in general but not to the complete satisfaction of all concerned. With each successive generation we are confronted with a new crop of victims. Once the condition appears, the individual must be careful lest it return. There are a few who never seem to rid themselves of distress.

The problem has been attacked from various angles. The nervous system plays a major role, with ulceration but one manifestation of a more generalized disturbance. Consequently the lesion arises after nervous strain, overwork, or undue anxiety. Thru mental hygiene and lessening the tempo of living, the psychic elements are brought under control so that no longer are motility and the acid secreting glands in the stomach affected adversely.

Other forms of treatment have been devised to correct abnormalities within the organ. Alkalies, including Sippy powders, and our more modern aluminum preparations, are prescribed to keep down acidity. In addition sedatives are administered to reduce aprehension, and atropine or belladonna to alleviate spasm. The diet is important. Small but frequent feedings lessen activity so that there are fewer contractions and less churning. Foods which do not stimulate acidity are favored, caffeine beverages are eliminated.

Surgery, too, has been utilized. One type consists of removal of the part of the structure containing much of the acid secreting glands. The procedure is helpful also in those who have developed obstruction of hemorrhage. In another operation, certain nerves which influence the acidity and motions of the gastric pouch are severed.

Recently a more logical approach has been taken. Many experimental laboratories have been working with animals on some new hormones (anthelones) called "enterogastrone" and "urogastrone." These substances are believed to influence the membranes of the stomach and intestine—not only by depressing the secretions and motility but by increasing the resistance of the tissues against ulcer formation. The preparations are not available commercially altho a few patients have been treated with the crude extracts.

Ivy, who has done much of the work in this country, is optimistic as 40 per cent of his 58 patients were improved by daily injections of enterogastrone. A recent article by Sandweiss states that Swiss scientists using similar products regard the results as encouraging altho the reports are somewhat colored by their enthusiasm.

In many instances symptoms vanish rapidly and X-rays reveal that the ulcer crater disappears some times within three weeks. The diet can be relaxed and the time spent in bed cut down considerably. Before the material can be given in a practicable manner, it must be manufactured in a more concentrated form. Tablets may be used but a large number must be taken daily in order to obtain the desired effect.

REPLY

Apparently chilling leads to spasm. Cold beverages are not for you.

BACKACHE

B. N. writes: Is sacroiliac the same as backache?

REPLY

It is one type, involving the joint of the same name. Discomfort in this region may be due to other causes such as disturbances of the vertebrae or the powerful muscles in the spinal area.

HEMORRHOIDS

T. K. writes: What are the symptoms of piles?

REPLY

In order of their frequency—bleeding and protrusion. Complications may result in pain. In many patients there are no symptoms.

BOBBING FOR DIAMONDS

NEW YORK—Spent Hallowe'en at the Waldorf Astoria here and they celebrated that holiday in typical Waldorf style.

They didn't bob for apples.

I knocked on one guy's door and asked for him for a handout.

He gave me the controlling stock in United States Steele.

One guy passed me in the lobby dressed in a turban and sheets and I pulled the sheets off. Was I embarrassed when he turned out to be the United Nations delegate from Saudi Arabia.

I put on a silly Hallowe'en costume and a mask and started to go out, but the manager said, "It won't work, Hope, pay your bill."

The hotel is really crowded.

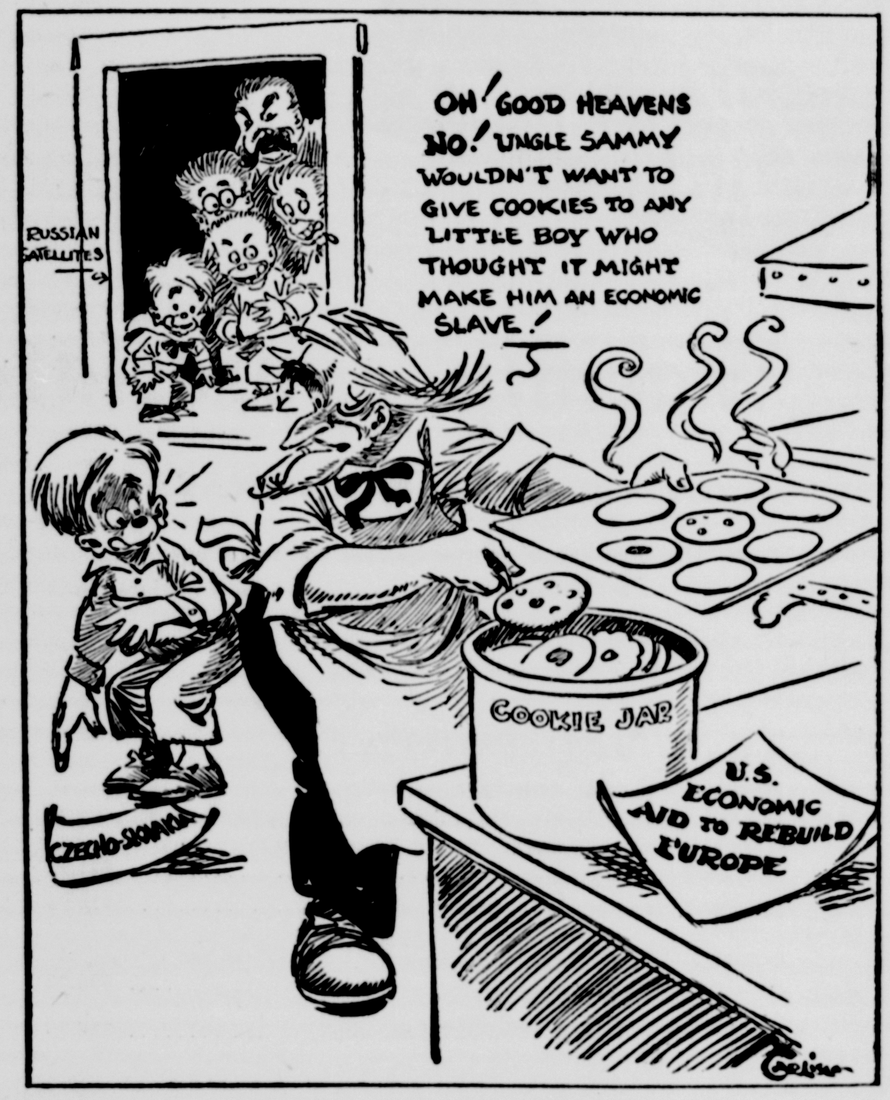

I passed a lighted pumpkin and went "boo," and three voices answered back, "boo yourself, we're living in here."

But just to show you how bad certain shortages are, I saw the manager in front of the hotel on his knees PLEADING with the kids to soap up his windows.

I threw a Hallowe'en party in my suite for the kids, and to make sure no furniture would be broken I didn't invite any boys, and to make sure their parents wouldn't worry those who did come had to be at least twenty-one.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Killion, Fund-Raiser For Democrats, Will Propose Future Campaigns Be Equitably Financed Out of Public Treasury; Would Prevent Big-Money Influence on Elections

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Nov 5.—Now that the elections are over, Democratic National Committee Treasurer George Killion will make an almost revolutionary proposal to President Truman for the financing of further political campaigns. Killion raised $3,000,000 for the party in the last year and a half, an almost incredible amount for Democrats in a non-presidential year. Despite that, Killion considers fund raising a messy job.

"You never know who's really giving the money," he says. "You can only hope that it is honest money. You must work on the premise that the press and congress are looking over your shoulder every minute."

During the recent campaign, Killion turned down more than $100,000 in proffered contributions because they were contingent on some favor or other from the administration. Now, however, Killion will propose that further campaigns be financed not by contributions, but out of the public treasury. This proposal would give both parties a chance to serve in a more statesmanlike fashion, permit them to ignore special privilege groups and give congress greater control of corrupt election practices.

Killion's plan also would have the effect of preventing moneyed interests from purchasing elections—whether labor or big business. Under his plan, bipartisan committees of the House and Senate would handle election funds, would dole them out on the basis of population to the candidates of both parties. Much stricter control could then be exercised on the use of the funds.

Killion knows that he probably won't get the plan through at once. Numerous objections are certain to be advanced. For example, the plan makes no provision for the establishment of new parties, would probably be rejected on that one count alone. However, a constructive discussion of the proposal may lead congress eventually to adopt it.

Wallace Rebels

Henry Wallace got a significant secret phone call from Democratic Chairman Bob Hannegan while on his western campaign tour.

"The boss heard Pearson predict that you were planning to attack Senator Vandenberg in your Minneapolis speech," Hannegan said. "He doesn't want you to blast him. He thinks it's a mistake."

"But, Bob," Wallace said, "I quit the cabinet in order to be able to say what I wanted. Besides, I firmly believe that Vandenberg has been needling Byrnes into a lot of our difficulties with the Russians."

"I know," replied Hannegan, "but the President asked me to tell you he thinks your attack will hurt the party."

"Which Party," Wallace asked, "the Republicans or the Democrats?"

"The Democrats," Hannegan replied. "He thinks it's an error to attack Vandenberg."

"I'm sorry, Bob," said Wallace, "but I don't work for him any more."

Note—Later at Detroit, Wallace bowed to the will of Michigan Democrats and in a subsequent speech pulled his punches on Vandenberg.

Capital Chaff

Kenneth Royall will resign as undersecretary of war shortly . . . Congressman Wright Patman of Texas will demand a congressional investigation of the ouster of Assistant Attorney General O. John Rogge, whose courageous exposures of Nazi activities in the United States have shocked the nation. Patman will demand that all the evidence against Nazi agents in the U. S., including documentary proof of the collaboration of U. S. Senators with the Germans, be placed squarely in the record . . . Price controls have been dropping so rapidly in the last 10 days that even the top men in OPA don't know what will be decontrolled next. Price Chief Paul Porter hopes to work out an orderly schedule this week, but that depends on whether Reconversion Director John Steelman will play ball with him . . . Latest slogan among Supreme Court Justices is "clear it with Kelly." Paul Kelly is Chief Justice Vinson's old secretary and political adviser . . . Though Senator Wayne Morse, liberal Oregon Republican, publicly supported reactionary Republican senate candidates in Idaho and Washington, he offered to go to Oklahoma to help Democratic Representative Mike Monroney. Munroney said he didn't need him . . . Gerald L. K. Smith, head of the American First Party, has now thrown his full weight behind American Action, Inc., the blue-chip America First organization under another name which raised a $750,000 slush fund to defeat liberal candidates for congress.

From the Diplomatic Pouch

Secretary Byrnes and Assistant Secretary Will Clayton are differing over loans to countries in the Soviet orbit. Clayton maintains that if we cut off trade and credits to pro-Russian nations, this dollar diplomancy will drive those nations further into the Soviet orbit . . . Clayton also wants Russia to sit in at the world trade conference in London as a means of insuring the peace . . . The American Army has now trained and equipped 57 Kuomintang divisions already active in the Chinese Civil War. This is a total of 22 armies—707,000 men—plus 2,000 Chinese Air Cadets. This is four times as many men as the army equipped while China was fighting Japan . . . . . The State Department has turned thumbs down on the proposed Argentine purchase of our surplus corvettes and landing craft. They might be used for aggressive warfare in Latin America . . . Ambassador to Russia Bedell Smith has been trying to work out a blueprint of economic cooperation with Russia during his current conferences with top officials at the State Department. Smith is trying to pin down the administration to a final decision of a Russian loan . . . President Truman will try to heal the breach between the U. S. and Czechoslovakia by lunching with Jan Masaryk, the foreign minister of Czechoslovakia.

Admiral Leahy In Chile

It has all been kept very hush-hush, but U. S. ambassador to Chile Claude Bowers was opposed to sending Admiral William Leahy to Chile on a battleship.

Bowers wrote several confidential letters to the President on the subject, but Truman went ahead anyway.

When left-wing Chilean presidential candidate Gabriel Gonzalez Videla, generally regarded as the first communist-elected president in Latin America, was swept into office, Bowers sent a personal note to the President, warning of possible dangers ahead. To avoid them, he urged Truman to send Henry Wallace, then secretary of commerce, as the President's personal representative to Gonzalez Videla's inauguration.

Bowers made the point that Wallace was especially equipped to convince the new Chilean administration, as well as the Chilean people, of the peaceful and friendly feelings of the United States. Wallace, he said, could effectively convince the Chileans of the dangers inherent in excessive leftism.

Truman said nothing to Wallace, but sent Admiral [illegible] a U. S. battleship, accompanied by a task force. In Latin America this is interpreted as part of America's new "get tough" policy, though actually Leahy was sent because he was a personal friend of President Gonzalez Videla when both served as ambassadors to Vichy France.

Court Decision Upholds Rights Of Individuals

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

If the government seizes your property, can it force you to take the government's price for it? The answer is NO.

The United States Court of Claims has so held in a notable decision. We are returning to the Constitution. That great bulwark against tyranny says that private property can not be "taken for public use without just compensation."

But what is just compensation, and how is it determined? It is not the price fixed by O.P.A. The price is a judicial question to be decided by a court or jury. The President can take your property for public use but he can not tell you what price you must accept.

We can breathe more easily because of this decision.

Foils Truman Plan

Only recently the President said he gave long and serious consideration to sending his hirelings out on the farms to seize the farmers' cattle. If he had done so, could he have compelled the farmers to accept a price fixed by him or his agents?

No, he could not. The Court of Claims case arose out of the requisition by the government of 125,000 pounds of meat for the army, and the the insistence by the administration that the packing house must accept the O.P.A. price in payment. The packing house said it would lose money at the O.P.A. price. The government admitted this was true, but insisted that the owners must do business with the government at a loss.

Government may, of course, condemn land for a post office, or requisition supplies for the army. But it must pay "just compensation" therefor. The government, as a buyer, cannot fix the price either by act of Congress or bureaucratic decree. It may not, as the Declaration of Independence complained of a king, "send hither swarms of officers to harass our people, and eat out their substance! Judgment was rendered against the government for a price that reimbursed the packers for the meat. "The plaintiff did not sell its property to the Government; its property was taken by the Government. In such case the plaintiff is clearly entitled to demand the price the Constitution says it is entitled to."

Noteworthy Decision

This is a noteworthy decision. It went as far as was necessary to dispose of the case. But, curiously, the court seems to agree that while the government can not force an O.P.A. price or rental down the owner's throat for the government's benefits, that nevertheless in cases in which the government is not a party to the transaction, it can compel Jones to sell or rent to Smith at a price dictated by O.P.A. even though that price forces Jones to sell or rent at a loss.

The bigger question remains undecided. In time of peace, can the government constitutionally fix the price at which private citizens Jones and Smith must buy and sell?

Congressman Buffett of Nebraska discloses that the Government bought 50,000 tons of copper in Chile and paid 2 cents a pound more for it than American companies are allowed to pay. The administration said it had to pay more than the ceiling in order to meet the bids of European buyers in the Chilean market!

Well, Well, well! And how does Europe get the cash to outbid American ceilings for copper in Chile? Why, it borrows it from Uncle Sam! And Uncle Sam taxes American copper companies to furnish the dough to Europe to outbid American buyers for copper—a requisite for war. This planned economy surely is a wonderful thing. It provides full employment for a million bureaucrats and makes America rich by giving America away.

"Straight-Ticket" Voters In Both Parties No Longer Controlling Factor

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5—The election unquestionably was decided by "independent" voters. This means the groups who do not vote the same way in every election. The "straight-ticket" voters in both parties are no longer the controlling factor. The balance of power is held by those who shift according to the issues offered or the candidates presented.

There are congressional districts in which a change of only three per cent from one election to the other is enough to swing victory from one side to the other. The sum total of all these shifting groups throughout the nation produces the election victory.

Back in 1932 a substantial number of Republican voters left their party to vote for Franklin D. Roosevelt. By 1936 some of them had gone back to their party but not enough to affect the outcome. In 1940, with war issues in the offing, the return to the Republican Party was again checked and likewise in 1944.

Gains Not Retained

It was in the congressional elections each time between presidential elections that the Republicans showed signs of winning back their original constituents. But the Republican gains in these off-year elections were not retained when the presidential election swept Democratic members of Congress into office on the coattails of FDR.

With the 1946 congressional election over, the question will arise whether political history, as it happened in 1936, 1940 and 1944, will be repeated or whether in 1948 the Republican tide will keep on mounting.

Obviously, when a national election can be personalized, the tendency of the voters is to choose between the two major party candidates and vote the straight party ticket for the remainder of the candidates. This is the reason why some excellent Republican members lost out in presidential years.

The growth in independent voting has made elections more and more difficult to control by machines or party organizations. It is a relatively simple matter, however, to concentrate political campaigning in key cities and get enough electoral votes that way to swing a majority in a presidential election. In congressional elections, on the other hand where each district and each state are units, the concentration of voting cannot be as effective.

It doesn't matter, for instance, how high the majority runs in a New York City district usually carried by the Democrats because the Democratic candidate there cannot transfer his surplus votes to some other congressional district. That is one reason why the Republicans felt sure of gains this time in seats in the House of Representatives. Conversely, with populous cities where a heavy Democratic vote offsets Republican majorities in country districts, the candidates for U. S. Senator had the benefit of statewide voting and that is why the Democrats felt surer about cutting down Republican chances to win the Senate.

When all the election returns are in—and it usually takes several days for the final tally to be recorded in all districts—it will be found that the 1946 election followed the pattern of other congressional elections especially with respect to the so-called protest vote. Where there is discontent or dissatisfaction, the party in power usually suffers, whereas the party out of power, even though offering no particular alternative in public policy, benefits by the protests.

Presidential Ball To Roll

The congressional elections, moreover, start the ball rolling for the presidential race two years away. When the Congress just elected takes office in January next, the lines for the subsequent presidential political campaign will be laid. American politics occupies the attention of the voters just a few weeks in the autumn months every two years but actually the politicians play the game all the time. The late President Roosevelt was one of those who believed that campaigning between elections was most influential and he usually got most of his publicity in the press between campaigns so that the campaign itself was too short for his opponent to overcome those advantages.

In the congressional campaign just closed, it may be said that impressions formed long before today actually influenced the voters and prejudiced them one way or the other on the issues and the candidates.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

I see the Army is working on a jet plane that'll fly a thousand miles an hour. I understand they've eliminated all the bugs but one—they can't redesign the pilot.

They find when you make a turn at supersonic speeds, your insides refuse to follow and your blood drains down into the big toe. It serves the scientists right for waiting until now to discover the human body is obsolete—a muscache cup on the shelves of technology. I could have told them that seven years ago. You see, it was seven years ago that I hit my fortieth birthday.

Billy Rose

I remember going up to my bedroom after the little surprise party I had organized for myself. On the night table my wife had placed one the presents, Walter B. Pitkin's book, "Life Begins at Forty". I smiled at her thoughtful gesture, I looked at myself in the mirror, and then pitched the book out the window.

Until then I had worn my body like an undershirt, something you put on and forget about. Except for an ingrown toe-nail at fourteen and the customary cold around Christmas, it hadn't troubled me any more than my vaccination mark. At forty I took stock, and realized that instead of my body serving me, I was going to be waiting on it hand and foot the rest of my life.

As a kid on the East Side, the only dietary problem was: where was the next meal coming from? Now that I've got enough to eat, I can't eat it. I'm told the hot rolls I love are crawling with calories, that six ounces of cherry pop put two pounds on your waistline. I used to eat five times a day and had a tummy flat as an ironing board. Now I eat twice a day and look as if I'm hoarding helium. My doctor tells me to play golf, but I put the ball where I can see it, I can't hit it, and if I put it where I can hit it, I can't see it.

Years of reading on the subway are beginning to catch up with me. Unless wear glasses, the morning mail looks as if it were written under water. And when I lose my glasses, I can't look for them until I find them. I'm glad I'm my own boss these days. If I were punching a timeclock, I'd probably work myself to death because I couldn't tell when the boss was watching me.

Another place where I got short-changed by evolution is the teeth. I still have most of my own choppers, but the last time I went to the dentist, he told me to swear off caramels. I don't know how you feel about caramels, but he might as well have told me to give up kissing.

I used to run a hundred yards in eleven seconds. But I like the American dollar, my feet ain't what they used to be. I wish Nature had taken a couple of extra seconds and figured out a better looking gadget for us to get around on. Like wheels, for instance. Take a good look at your tootsies sometime. If they don't make you bust out laughing, you're a pretty conceited fellow.

I can't go along with the anthropologist who thinks Man is the last stone on the Evolutionary pyramid. Seals swim faster, eagles see farther, chickens get born easier, turtles live longer, roses smell better, and an alley cat is more graceful. And before you tell me we think better, take a look at what's happening on page one of this newspaper.

If the scientists fail to figure out how to fly a thousand miles an hour, it's OK by me. In 1936 it took me six days to get to London. Last November I flew there in sixteen hours. London was a lot more attractive ten years ago. The House of Commons looked better without a hole in the roof.

Today's Talk

Worry is undoubtedly one of the greatest enemies the human race has ever had, or ever will have. But worry can easily be routed by paying no attention to it! Worry wants teasing and coddling. It wants attention. Then it gets in its deadly work. It creates within the mind an endless number of other worries that never had any intention of roosting with their godfather!

Worry is not a disease, but it is a breeder of diseases. Therefore it's something that you should avoid as you would an ugly plague. There is not a single good that worry has ever accomplished. Most worries are about things that never happen, anyway. Most of the ills we hand over to worry are imaginary, as well.

Worry gets people down—it never helps them up! It hasn't a single bit of merit to warrant its presence in the mind of anyone. It's just plain uselessness to harbor it for a moment, for if it gets the least encouragement it jumps in on all fours and takes immediate possession. If we do our best, and honestly follow out our inclinations, and make our decisions with intelligence, we can well let worry alone.

It is well, and natural, that we be concerned about our health, and those whom we love, but worrying is not going to help us at any time, nor is it going to help them.

We must learn the gospel of acceptance, as we wend our way through life. We must aid this wonderful machine of ours, this human body, and give it all the encouragement and backing possible. Worry, thrown into its happy, and natural working, would be like sprinkling sand into the gas of your car. Worry always promises dire results. An absolute absence of it in the mind, gives every evidence of hope.

You know what static is that you sometimes get over your radio. Well, that's what worry is to the mind, and which rattles its destructive way throughout the entire nervous system. No rest, no peace—no clear vision ahead. Just confusion and fear. Then why not dismiss all worry? It hasn't one single virtue!

Doctors Debate Effect Of "Canned" Music

SYDNEY, (AP)—Sydney's medical officer of health, Dr. J. Grahame Drew has warned Australians that "canned" music programs in some factories here are "far worse for the nerves than the noise of machinery," a theory disputed by Dr. Keith Barrie, program director of the Australian Broadcasting Commission.

"Factory managements," he continued, "should employ psychologists to decide the best kinds of music or entertainment for their workers. Some managers ask individuals to choose records, and the result is chaos."

Deaths from diseases resulting from noise had shown a big increase, the medical officer said.

Dr. Barrie said that the A.B.C. program—which is relayed in many factories—was "the result of considerable research in the industrial psychological field and actual experience in a large number of factories."

Hunger Striker Weaker

BELFAST, Nov. 6 (AP) — Hunger Striker David Fleming, imprisoned Irish Republican Army leader, is "weaker" today, his brother, Patrick, reported after a visit to David's cell. Fleming has gone without food for 23 days and without water for six days in a new bid for liberty.

Automatic coal stokers being constructed in railway yards in Conception, Chile, can recoal an engine's fuel bins in less than two minutes.

Motor Club Makes Traffic Proposals

Five suggestions for regulating traffic in Cumberland were made in a letter from J. Walter Byer, president of the Western Maryland Motor Club, to the Mayor and City Council yesterday.

Byer said the suggestions were made recently at a special meeting of the club, and asked city officials to give the proposals their consideration.

The club suggests:

1. That motorists parked at meters on streets not close to the shopping center be allowed two hours parking instead of one.
2. That motorists be permitted to park on yellow lines after business hours.
3. That motorists be permitted to park from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. instead of from 8 a. m. to 7 p. m.
4. That some provision be made for free parking for individuals where there are meters in front of their private homes.
5. That the buss stop now between Liberty and Mechanic streets causes congestion, and that a better location should be considered.

B. And O. Veterans Plan Banquet Tonight

One of the features of a banquet to be held today at 6 p. m. at the B. and O. YMCA will be the presentation of a 50-year service button to Henry W. Bloss, 301 Beall street, who retired recently after 50 years of service as a pipefitter at the Baltimore and Ohio roundhouse.

The banquet will be sponsored by Allison Lodge No. 5 of the Baltimore and Ohio Veterans Association, B. and O. employes who have worked for the railroad for 20 years or more, and by Allison Auxiliary No. 4.

The chief speaker will be Roy E. Collins, Staten Island, N. Y., grand president of the association, who will present the service button to Bloss.

TWO MASKED BANDITS SOUGHT BY POLICE

Cumberland police were searching last night for the two masked bandits who, they were told, robbed the manager of a local club of $10 at the point of a gun early yesterday morning.

Police identified the victim as George Ruhl, 544 North Mechanic street, who is manager of the Workers Social and Athletic Club, 149-151 North Centre street.

Ruhl, police said, quit work yesterday about 12:30 a. m. and drove his car into a Hamilton place garage, near his home. Ruhl told police that as he stepped out of the car two bandits pointed a gun at him, took $10 from his pockets and fled after tying his hands behind his back.

When the pair disappeared, Ruhl ran to a nearby car where friends were waiting for him.

Police said the bandits were apparently waiting for Ruhl in the garage, and added that the light was "very dim." Ruhl was not harmed and papers in his possession were left behind by the robbers. It is believed that the men thought Ruhl would have a large amount of cash on his person when he returned home from the club. Ruhl described the bandits as "young men."

Police did not comment on the reported theft of about $3,000 from Bopp's Flower Shop Monday afternoon except to say that they are searching for a person they believe may be responsible for taking the pocketbook.

Damage Action Is Dismissed Here

A $5,000 damage action filed by Henry M. Millhouser, former manager of the local office of the Social Security Administration, against the Board of Garrett County Commissioners, has been withdrawn in Circuit Court here.

The action was first filed in Oakland last May and later moved to this county. F. Brooke Whiting, this city, and Walter W. Dawson, Oakland, represented Millhouser.

Former Allegany Athlete To Be Airline Agent

Edward B. Gale, 31, a former Allegany High School football and track star, is among 40 war veterans who began a new career in aviation with the Capital Airlines PCA fleet yesterday.

These men, after an intensive training course at the Washington headquarters of the airline, will become "flight agents"—something new in the air transport industry—aboard the four-engined Capital liners. They will be schooled in meteorology, routes and tariffs, ticketing, passenger fares, factors governing flights, air mail and baggage.

Gale, who served as a captain in the Army Ordnance, lived here while his father was a Boy Scout executive in this district. He later attended Washington and Jefferson College and his present home is Hillcrest Court, Johnstown, Pa.

Storing Cauliflower

Cauliflower keeps well if stored where it is cool and slightly moist—indicating that the head, well-wrapped may be put into the refrigerator. When ready to use, remove the coarse leaves, leaving the innermost very tender ones. And the tender ones may be cooked with the cauliflower head.

Brush a band of DDT coating around the garbage can; it will kill flies and other "garbage bugs."

THE FURNACE COIL
IS A COAL THIEF

Most people who put up with antiquated furnace coil hot water systems do so because they think they are getting hot water for nothing. Actually, they are paying more for hot water than they would if they switched to a modern, fully automatic Gas water heater.

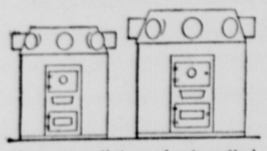

HERE'S WHY—

THE FURNACE HEATS WATER INSTEAD OF YOUR HOUSE

The furnace coil is installed in the fire box, between the fire and the heat transfer surface of the furnace. The fire heats the water in the furnace coil first. Only heat that gets past the furnace coil heats your house.

DECREASES FURNACE EFFICIENCY BY 20%

Heating contractors know that a furnace coil is a coal thief. The heating contractor always specifies a 20% larger furnace if a furnace coil is to be installed.

EVERY FIFTH SHOVEL OF COAL HEATS WATER

During winter months it is estimated that one out of every five shovels of coal goes to heat water in the furnace coil. Hold your hand next to the range boiler. The boiler, full of hot water, acts as a large radiator in your basement where heat is not needed. Coal is being wasted.

INSTALL AN AUTOMATIC GAS WATER HEATER

Don't put up with an unpredictable hot water supply. Switch to Gas. Fully automatic, you are always certain of a plentiful supply of hot water, any time of the year, every hour of the day, at just the temperature you want.

Ask your Gas Appliance Dealer or visit your Gas Company office and discover how little it costs to install and operate a Gas water heater.

STRAWS IN THE WIND

BROADWAY

By DANTON WALKER

If the Republicans capture Congress, look for these New Deal hangovers to get a tossing around: Federal Communications Commission, Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the Surplus Property disposal policies, and the Pearl Harbor scandal, which will be revived with heretofore undisclosed evidence. . . . The as-yet-unreleased Russian reply to Senator Warren Austin's plea for complete disarmament before the United Nations assemblage, unless toned down, may threaten the success of the Peace Parley. . . . Maxim Litvinoff is expected to pay a visit to the United States shortly, as forerunner of a move to get him back in the good graces of Soviet officialdom. . . . Dr. Jan Masaryk, Czech Foreign Minister, to become Czech Ambassador to Washington, also as a goodwill gesture (the Czechoslovak Republic owes its existence to the friendship between Masaryk's father and Woodrow Wilson). . . . Washington hears that India's new Ambassador to the United States will be a woman.

John L. Lewis' post-election attempts to lure various CIO unions into the AFL fold contain more explosive elements than the atom bomb. . . . When the CIO-PAC and the ICCASP (Independent Citizens Committee of Arts, Sciences and Professions) unite into one active political group, with the specific aim of keeping the Democratc on the "liberal" side, look for Hank Wallace to read it. . . . If you can believe Hollywood talk, Eric Johnston may realize his ambitions in Washington, with Donald Nelson inheriting his movie czar job . . . . New Mexico's Senator Hatch to front a new and revolutionary amendment, when Congress resumes in January, to enable House members to serve five-year terms instead of two. . . . LaGuardia taking a new job in January. . . . James O'Brien, son of another ex-New York Mayor, being groomed for a political career. . . . Marshal Petain's friends believe that he will be a free man in two years, if he lives that long. . . . Ex-Senator Burton K. Wheeler may join President Truman's Brain Trust after the expected reshuffle.

Winston Churchill's personal physicians insisting that he take it easier, even to dropping some of his extra-curricular activities. . . . Top brass, incidentally, much more inclined to take Churchill's estimate of the number of Russian divisions in Europe than the figure given out by Stalin. In fact, they think even Churchill was too conservative. . . . California airplane factories cloaked in a secrecy as dense as during the war. . . . Beverly Hills soon to make important news in the newspaper field. . . . Kaiser-Frazer auditioning a gigantic air show. . . . OPA won't lift rent controls, but landlords may get 15% raise in ceilings they're petitioning for. . . . Used car prices, already 19% lower than six months ago, expected to take another nose dive (away below ceilings) within six months. . . . A bank tellers' strike recently averted with behind-the-scenes negotiations. . . . Both CIO and AFL out to unionize domestic help in several large cities.

Margaret Sullavan, Jimmy Stewart and Henry Fonda may produce and co-star in a Broadway stage production next Spring (they're working on a script, at any rate.). . . Clare Boothe Luce already on the third act of her new play. . . . Basil Rathbone readying a Shapespearean flash. . . . Andy Devine doing so well with his zooming airplane business that he may quit radio and films to concentrate on it. . . . By next month there'll be almost as many Hollywood big names on Broadway as there are in the film colony—Joan Crawford, Charles Boyer, Brian Donlevy, Myrna Loy are a few of the expected visitors. . . . Columbia football games such a sellout that players have been raffling off their own complimentary tickets. . . . Baseball men want an ever more hyped-up season next year; claim that "rabbit ball" draws more fans than the pitchers' best efforts. . . . Inside on the Tyrone Power-Annabella situation is that they haven't signed a property settlement, as reported. . . . In case you care Alfred G. Vanderbilt's ex, Manuela Hudson, and the recently divorced Charles Munn, Jr., are what columnists call an item.

STRAWS IN THE WIND

BROADWAY

By DANTON WALKER

If the Republicans capture Congress, look for these New Deal hangovers to get a tossing around: Federal Communications Commission, Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the Surplus Property disposal policies, and the Pearl Harbor scandal, which will be revived with heretofore undisclosed evidence. . . . The as-yet-unreleased Russian reply to Senator Warren Austin's plea for complete disarmament before the United Nations assemblage, unless toned down, may threaten the success of the Peace Parley. . . . Maxim Litvinoff is expected to pay a visit to the United States shortly, as forerunner of a move to get him back in the good graces of Soviet officialdom. . . . Dr. Jan Masaryk, Czech Foreign Minister, to become Czech Ambassador to Washington, also as a goodwill gesture (the Czechoslovak Republic owes its existence to the friendship between Masaryk's father and Woodrow Wilson). . . . Washington hears that India's new Ambassador to the United States will be a woman.

John L. Lewis' post-election attempts to lure various CIO unions into the AFL fold contain more explosive elements than the atom bomb. . . . When the CIO-PAC and the ICCASP (Independent Citizens Committee of Arts, Sciences and Professions) unite into one active political group, with the specific aim of keeping the Democratic on the "liberal" side, look for Hank Wallace to read it. . . . If you can believe Hollywood talk, Eric Johnston may realize his ambitions in Washington, with Donald Nelson inheriting his movie czar job . . . . New Mexico's Senator Hatch to front a new and revolutionary amendment, when Congress resumes in January, to enable House members to serve five-year terms instead of two. . . . LaGuardia taking a new job in January. . . . James O'Brien, son of another ex-New York Mayor, being groomed for a political career. . . . Marshal Petain's friends believe that he will be a free man in two years, if he lives that long. . . . Ex-Senator Burton K. Wheeler may join President Truman's Brain Trust after the expected reshuffle.

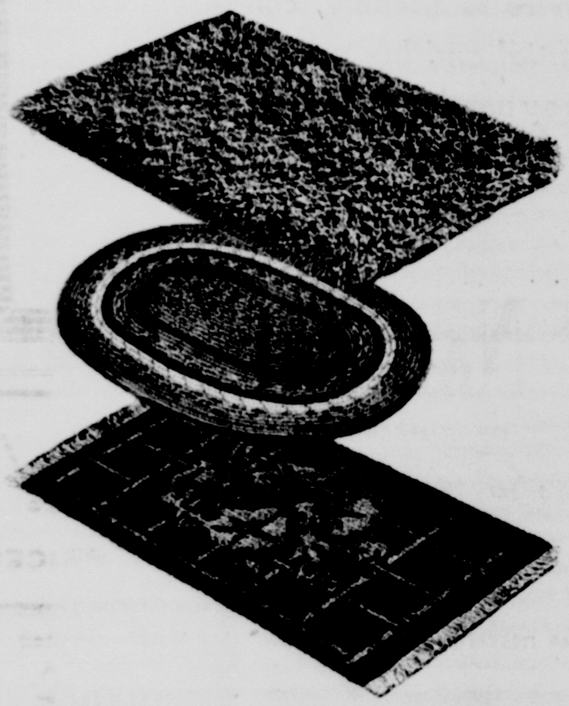

Winston Churchill's personal physicians insisting that he take it easier, even to dropping some of his extra-curricular activities. . . . Top brass, incidentally, much more inclined to take Churchill's estimate of the number of Russian divisions in Europe than the figure given out by Stalin. In fact, they think even Churchill was too conservative. . . . California airplane factories cloaked in a secrecy as dense as during the war. . . . Beverly Hills soon to make important news in the newspaper field. . . . Kaiser-Frazer auditioning a gigantic air show. . . . OPA won't lift rent controls, but landlords may get 15% raise in ceilings they're petitioning for. . . . Used car prices, already 19% lower than six months ago, expected to take another nose dive (away below ceilings) within six months. . . . A bank tellers' strike recently averted with behind-the-scenes negotiations. . . . Both CIO and AFL out to unionize domestic help in several large cities.

Margaret Sullavan, Jimmy Stewart and Henry Fonda may produce and co-star in a Broadway stage production next Spring (they're working on a script, at any rate.). . . Clare Boothe Luce already on the third act of her new play. . . . Basil Rathbone readying a Shapespearean flash. . . . Andy Devine doing so well with his zooming airplane business that he may quit radio and films to concentrate on it. . . . By next month there'll be almost as many Hollywood big names on Broadway as there are in the film colony—Joan Crawford, Charles Boyer, Brian Donlevy, Myrna Loy are a few of the expected visitors. . . . Columbia football games such a sellout that players have been raffling off their own complimentary tickets. . . . Baseball men want an ever more hyped-up season next year; claim that "rabbit ball" draws more fans than the pitchers' best efforts. . . . Inside on the Tyrone Power-Annabella situation is that they haven't signed a property settlement, as reported. . . . In case you care Alfred G. Vanderbilt's ex, Manuela Hudson, and the recently divorced Charles Munn, Jr., are what columnists call an item.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Shall He Tell His Parents He Is Father Of A Baby Overseas?

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Even with the greatest desire in the world to be honest, it is not always easy to know when to confess, and when not to confess, that one has done a wrong thing.

Many people believe that one should always confess. But I feel quite certain that there are times when "making a clean breast of it" is far from advisable. The fact that should tip the scales to one side or the other, in making a decision of this kind, it seems to me, is what the confession would accomplish, as well as the motives that prompt it. When it serves to right a wrong, to clarify a muddled situation, or to establish a new relationship of understanding and trust for the future between people who have been at odds, then it is the thing to do. But if it serves only to hurt someone, while accomplishing nothing more than easing the conscience of the one who has been guilty of the wrong-doing and making life simpler for him, then I doubt if it is the course to follow.

On this basis, I think the young man who writes the following letter should examine his own motives very carefully before deciding whether or not to tell his parents that he is the father of a baby born out of wedlock.

Here is his problem:

"About two years ago, while I was stationed in England, I fell in love with an English girl. Unfortunately, she was married. But, after she told me that she had been trying to obtain a divorce, my conscience was appeased and I dated her steadily.

"Three months after we met, I went to bid her goodby on what was rumored to be our last pass. That was the first time that we had been intimate. The next morning I left for France. Five months later, her mail caught up with me at a hospital where I was recuperating. She was going to be a mother at 21.

"My problem is not a moral one. It is how to keep my family from being deeply hurt. I realize that my first duty is to make a home for the girl I love and a son who must have a fair chance in life. But, by English law, it will be three years before the divorce is granted and we will be able to marry. My college education will be completed in two years and then I can start from scratch to make some money to support a wife and child.

"How can I tell my folks the truth? Should I tell them or let them believe that the baby's father was the girl's former husband? Dad would probably disown me, but my greatest concern is how my mother would take the news. The sudden shock might have disastrous results."

In this particular case, I can't see anything to be gained by hurting your parents with a confession of the truth, unless the question of supporting the child is involved and you need financial aid from them to enable you to do it. And it would certainly be a sad state of affairs if you have to ask them to assume the responsibility for your misdeed. That would indeed be piling one burden on top of another on their shoulders.

If you don't have to support this girl and her child, then what reason would there be for telling your parents, aside from the fact that you probably would be distressed to carry this secret in silence while knowing that your mother and father believed you to be a "perfect son?" As I look at it, the distress you would bear over this would be the penalty you must pay for making a serious mistake. You would have to go through the rest of your life feeling that your parents' complete confidence in you was not justified. But, on the other hand, if it makes you resolve always to live up to their confidence in the future, you could make amends that way.

I am wondering, however, if during the three years that you must wait before you and this girl can be married, your love is going to last, and if through so long a period of not seeing this girl, her memory may not grow dimmer year by year until you gradually lose interest in her and your sense of responsibility to her. I am afraid you have a very involved situation here altogether, and one that will not be easy to untangle.

You have to begin somewhere, however, and the starting point would seem to be the question of your financial responsibility.

If no financial responsibility is involved, then I do not think your parents should be told the circumstances. If you tell them anything at all at this point, let them think, as you suggest, that this girl in whom you are inerested already has a child by her former husband.

If, on the other hand, you feel you must provide money for her and her child, and are not able to do it out of your own pocket, it is a different matter. Then I can see nothing to do but tell the whole story and accept the consequences.

And one last word: If you don't call this a moral problem, what would your idea of a moral problem be?

Efforts To Crack Safe Here Fail

A safe, in the Millenson Furniture Company here, 317 Virginia avenue, resisted efforts of persons who entered the building sometime between Saturday night and early Sunday morning, Police Chief Oscar A. Eyerman said.

Eyerman said the persons entered the store through an upstairs window and then bungled an attempt to get into the safe which is kept in a back room.

As far as could be determined nothing was taken from the store, the chief said, but the handle on the safe was broken off.

Hi-Y Clubs Report On Current Programs

Reports on current activities of clubs in the Hi-Y Council of Central YMCA were given Monday at the monthly meeting of the council, with Howard Peterson, president, presiding, according to Robert L. Sisson, general YMCA secretary.

The girls' Hi-Y at Fort Hill High School is looking after the hospital room at the school; the Allegany girls' Hi-Y contributed to the Jones Family Fund and to the Community Chest drive and are planning Thanksgiving gifts to needy families; the Fort Hill boys' group is printing mimeographed programs for all home games of the school football team, and the Allegany boys' Hi-Y contributed to the Jones Family Fund and the Community Chest campaign, and is conducting a campaign against swearing among the student body, Sisson said.

The Fort Hill Hi-Y adviser, A. J. Stouffer, attended the meeting.

Waitresses-Bartenders To Seek New Contracts

Representatives of Local 569, Bartenders Union, AFL, and the Allegany Liquor Dealers' Association will meet Friday afternoon at 2 p. m. at the Windsor Hotel to discuss a new contract, according to C. E. Stutzman, union business agent.

He said that practically every tavern and bar room in the city is covered by contract.

At a meeting Sunday members of the Restaurant Workers Union, AFL, which is comprised of about 50 waitresses in taverns and restaurants, ratified a proposed contract which will be submitted to tavern and restaurant operators for negotiation, Stutzman said.

The waitresses are asking a 30 per cent wage increase, which will give a minimum increase of $5 weekly to all workers, five holidays at time and a half pay, Christmas Day off and paid, 40 hour week of five eight hour days, and one week's vacation after one year and two weeks after three years.

Industry Leader Scoffs At Lewis' Mine Pay Theory

Battle Says UMW Chief "Is Going To Price His Boys Out On Street"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP) — A John L. Lewis theory — that higher hourly pay and a shorter week for his soft coal miners would not increase costs — drew a quick "utterly ridiculous" from an industry leader today.

"Mr. Lewis is going to price his boys right out on the street," John D. Battle, executive secretary of the National Coal Association, told a reporter.

"The gas and oil people are stepping in and taking whatever business they want. The only thing stopping them is a little difficulty getting equipment."

While the debate went on during a recess in talks on Lewis' demands for a new contract and more pay, tens of thousands of soft coal miners stayed out of the pits, even though their contract is still in force. The Solid Fuels Administration attributed that to election day.

Economists for Lewis' United Mine Workers whose contract with the government is in dispute — with the implied threat of a strike November 20—told reporters informally of the new pay theory. They said the union president was convinced the operators would not suffer under an arrangement involving 25 cents more an hour with their 54-hour, six day work week cut back to five days.

Basic pay now is $1.18½ an hour for the first 35 hours with the additional time on a premium pay basis.

These statisticians figure that operating costs would be reduced from 20 to 70 cents a ton, with an average saving of 45 cents. Miners dig four and one-half or five tons of bituminous coal daily. Thus the approximately $2 a day added to the payroll costs would be offset by the savings, in the union arithmetic.

"I would want to see the formula they use," said Ezra Van Horn, chairman of the operators' negotiating committee.

Republicans

Young Brown. Democratic candidate, conceded to his Republican foe, John Sherman Cooper.

California, the other state where they hoped to gain a Senate seat from the Republicans, was giving them no encouragement on the face of indecisive returns. Sen. William F. Knowland (R) led Will Rogers Jr. (D), son of the late humorist.

John W. Bricker, of Ohio, 1944 Republican vice presidential nominee, took a big lead in his bid for a Senate seat, and for a possible place on the 1948 ticket of his party.

Missouri, President Truman's home stamping grounds, gave a lead to James P. Kem, Republican challenger for the Senate seat of Democrat Frank P. Briggs. Elsewhere Democrats were ahead in at least two key senatorial contests.

Kilgore Leads In W. Va.

One of these was the West Virginia contest, where New Deal Sen. Harley Kilgore led his Republican foe, despite the opposition of some aides of John L. Lewis, leader of the United Mine Workers.

The other was Wyoming, where the incumbent senator, Joseph C. O'Mahoney, went slightly to the fore.

Out in New Mexico, dashing Patrick J. Hurley had a slim margin in his senatorial tussle with the incumbent, Dennis Chavez.

One contest in which President Truman had a special interest, the House fight in the Fifth Missouri District, saw Democrat Enos A. Axtell trailing Republican Albert L. Reeves, Jr. The President had handpicked Axtell for the Democratic nomination.

One of many indicators of a Republican sweep along the line was the overtaking of Democrat Gov Frank J. Lausche in Ohio, a strong vote-getter in the past, by Thomas J. Herbert, Republican. The race still was undecided.

In New Jersey, the gubernatorial victory of Alfred E. Driscoll, Republican, was conceded by Lewis G. Hansen, Democrat. Mayor George E. Brunner, of Camden, Democratic candidate for the Senate, also acknowledged that his Republican opponent, Sen. H. Alexander Smith, was in again.

Sen. Joseph F. Guffey, New Dealer from away back, lost out in his re-election bid, the victor being Republican Gov. Edward Martin. Republican James H. Duff clinched the governorship.

In the senatorial contests, an administration stalwart, James M. Tunnell, was trailing in Delaware. Another strong administration man, Harley M. Kilgore was in a nip-and-tuck contest in West Virginia.

There was some balm for the Democrats, however, in the fact that Enos A. Axtell had piled up a big lead for the House seat from the Fifth Missouri District. Axtell was handpicked for the Democratic nomination by President Truman.

In Ohio, former Gov. John W. Bricker was away ahead of Democratic Incumbent James W. Huffman for the United States senate. Bricker, GOP vice presidential candidate in 1944, figures in talk of the national ticket for 1948.

Congress was assured of a lone minor party member when American-Laborite Vito Marcantonio, of New York, captured another house term.

In Kentucky, Rep. Andrew Jackson May, chairman of the House Military Committee, was lagging 7,400 to 11,576 behind his Republican rival with more than a third of the precincts reported. May won by a little over 3,000 in 1944

This year he has been a figure in investigations of war contracts.

In an election bearing on his personal political future President Truman voted at Independence, Mo., — the straight Democratic ticket, he said—then headed for Washington by special train.

Despite the heat generated in many a contest, little unruliness developed. Minor fracases were reported in New York's Harlem and in Tennessee.

The first smattering of returns was as inconclusive as it always is in any nationwide election.

But the early tabulations did nothing to change the tone of emphatic Republican predictions that 1946 marks a turning point, that this year the GOP again becomes the dominant party in American politics—for the first time in 15 years.

Democrats similarly hung onto publicly-voiced prophecies that the final count would show them still in control of Senate and House. Yet some top men in that party had conceded the Democrats might slip a bit, and that they had a better chance of holding the Senate than the House.

As the heavy turnout of voters approached record proportions for an off-year election, both sides took heart.

Republicans, who had dinned out a "Had Enough" slogan during the campaign, said the big vote meant the people were recording protests against strikes, skimpy supplies of things they want, and the way the government has handled the general shift from war to peace.

Democrats said a heavy vote always had favored them in the past, that this year was no exception, that the protest was against Republican efforts to torpedo administration reconversion plans.

The advance estimates were that 131,000 polling places would check off more than 35,000,000 voters — some 7,000,000 more than in the last off-year election in 1942.

Vets Take Over Unrented Units Of Housing Project

CHICAGO, Nov. 5 (AP) — A group of war veterans forced their way into unrented units of a public housing project last night and refused to budge today.

Miss Elizabeth Wood, executive secretary of the Chicago Housing Authority, reported "14 or 15 families" of veterans had seized space in the authority's South Side airport homes project.

The authority, she said, has not taken title to the units from the Federal Housing Authority. She said attorneys were conferring on what legal steps might be used to remove the families.

When completed, the project will contain 186 housing units, Miss Wood said. She added that 128 of them had been completed and were occupied by veterans.

D'Alesandro, Fallon Win

With 577 polling places reported in each contest, Hammond had 127,169 votes to 82,011 for Doub, and Lacy had 130,210 votes to 83,684 for Grier.

Incumbent Democratic Congressmen Thomas D'Alesandro and George H. Fallon won easy re-election from their Baltimore City districts, the third and fourth, respectively.

A fairly close race between Rep. Roe (D-Md) and Edward T. Miller for the First (Eastern Shore) District Congress seat had developed. With 22 of 194 polling places in, Roe led Miller, 2,529 votes to 2,064. Roe won two years ago by less than 1,000 votes.

With 185 of 418 polling places reported from the Second District, Democrat Hugh A. Meade, of Baltimore City, had 36,248 votes to 28,795 for David G. Harry, Pylesville, in their contest for the seat being vacated by Rep. Baldwin (D-Md).

Fifty-two polling places out of 184 in the Fifth Congressional District gave Rep. Lansdale G. Sasscer 7,762 votes to 4,462, for Edwin Glenn, Suitland.

Beall Leads McDonald

The only incumbent Republican representative from Maryland, J. Glenn Beall, Frostburg, was leading Democrat Arch McDonald 18,477 to 16,410, with 67 of the district's 280 polling places in. Montgomery county surprised political observers by electing a solid delegation of Republicans to the General Assembly. Four years ago is sent only Democrats to the Legislature.

The currently solid Democratic representation from Baltimore City in the Legislature was broken by Republican Daniel Ellison, who won election to the State Senate from the city's Fourth Legislature District over the incumbent, A. Milton Altfeld.

The other five Senate seats in Baltimore went to Democrats as did the city's 36 house places.

The electorate, on the basis of about one sixth of the state's polling places, apparently had placed its stamp of approval on four proposals for minor amendments to the state constitution.

Little Holland Asks 700 Square Miles Of Reich

Officials Say Dutch Claims Not Nearly As Large As Expected

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP) — Little Holland, whose economy was largely wrecked by the Germans, asked the Big Four nations today for 700 square miles of territory from the Reich in compensation.

A note delivered simultaneously in Washington, London, Moscow and Paris listed the requests and said their fulfillment would put only 1,190 Germans within the Netherlands.

The changes would eliminate four German "bulges" into Holland and reduce the frontier from 325 to 220 miles.

The Dutch deliberately refrained from asking to annex any of the larger German cities. Ambassador Alexander Loudon explained this was due to Holland's reluctance to shoulder any delicate minorities problem.

Loudon said the territory sought is rural with a sparse population. The 1,190 Germans could reside in their present homes unless convicted of Nazi activities, he said. If so, they would be repatriated to Germany.

The new projected border would run from the estuary of the Ems river southward in a fairly straight line a short distance west of Emden, Nordhorn, Emmerich, Goch, Gelden, Kaldenkirchen, Hernsberg, Geilenkirchen and Aachen, leaving them in Germany.

Diplomatic officials described the Dutch claims as modest and not nearly as large as had been expected.

Spanish Matador Reaches New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 5. (AP)—A group of cheering bullfight fans were on hand today to greet Cangancho, ace Spanish matador, but the conversation got around somehow to such things as snakes, cemeteries and funeral processions.

Cangancho said he was superstitious and explained if anything resembling reptiles or graveyards appeared on the horizon before a fight the whole thing was off.

Wearing a dark blue suit and a lot of sleek black hair, Cangancho indicated the general idea before a fight was to lay low and not see anything—except possibly a dash or two of sherry just before entering the ring.

"To be a good bullfighter," said Cangancho through an interpreter, after his ship, the Spanish steamer Marques De Comillas, docked, "you must have great courage and must be able to kill with the first thrust."

Cold Wave May Follow Blizzard In Colorado

DENVER, Nov. 5 (AP) — Freezing temperatures were forecast throughout Colorado tonight in the wake of a three-day blizzard that left nine dead, snarled transportation and closed many schools east of the continental Divide.

During the day a bright sun cut into the drifts, piled more than 10 feet in places. Buses resumed full schedules but ran late. Trains got back on timetables.

All main roads were reopened, although one-way traffic was the rule in spots along the Denver-Colorado Springs highway.

North of Denver, resumption of heavy traffic splashed slush off main roads, but in the southeast and the mountains the State Highway Patrol predicted hazardous travel tonight with expected low temperatures making icy mirrors of many partly-thawed roads.

The successor to the President's Senate seat, Sen. Frank P. Briggs, made an election-eve radio appeal to voters, describing the present administration as "a human administration" which has aided "elderly men and women down the final pathway of their lives."

Gandhi Threatens New Fast In Move To Halt Violence

400 Persons Reported Killed In Last Few Days In Bihar Province

NEW DELHI, Nov. 5 (AP)—The All-India radio said today Mohandas K. Gandhi had threatened a "fast unto death" unless Hindu-Moslem killings in Bihar Province were stopped within 24 hours.

The radio quoted Dr. Rajendra Prasad, minister for food in the interim government, as making the statement that the spiritual leader of the Congress Party would embark upon the new fast. Gandhi is now in Calcutta where he has gone to visit the troubled areas.

Authoritative reports said 400 persons had been killed in the last few days in Bihar where Hindus are in the majority. Moslem sources have declared the casualties were much higher, running into the thousands.

The Moslem festival Bakr Id, in which cows sacred to Hindus are offered as sacrifices in dozens of mosques, passed off comparatively peacefully in the Calcutta and Bombay areas despite fears of authorities that the holiday might precipitate a new peak of riots.

There were 18 scattered knife attacks in Bombay and stone and acid throwing incidents in a wide area. Police opened fire five times when Hindus threw stones at Moslem assemblages, but no casualties resulted from the bullets. Another tense moment developed in Central Bombay, when Moslems returning from Bakr Id prayers in trucks shouted pro-Pakistan slogans, but it passed.

Five persons were killed and 36 injured by stabbing and 14 injured by acid throwing in Bombay during the day.

British Free

British source said that freeing the leaders might "mark the turning point in the history of Palestine."

Conference Boycott May End

Government officials said the action was prompted by resolutions passed by the Inner Zionist Council condemning the "campaign of violence" waged by certain Jewish underground organizations.

Government and Jewish Agency spokesmen said the release of the leaders would almost certainly pave the way for Jewish participation in London talks on Palestine's future, scheduled to be resumed December 16. The Jews boycotted earlier conferences on the subject.

Simultaneous with the release of the Jews, Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham, Palestine High Commissioner, granted amnesty to the 20 Arabs.

Other Arabs Released

(In London, Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones told the House of Commons that, in addition to the Arabs granted amnesty in the Holy Land, a number of other Palestine Arabs had been released from detention in the Seychelles islands, off the northern tip of Madagascar in the Indian ocean.

(The Arab office in London said the Arabs, some imprisoned for 10 years, should have been released long ago, and that it could only hope that the freeing of "known Jewish terrorists" would not lead to new outbreaks of violence by Jews.

(Creech Jones said he believed the releases would reduce "the present tension" in Palestine and "restore conditions in which progress can be made" toward stability.

OPA Challenges Price Decontrol Board Authority

Panel Asked To Dismiss Groundwood Specialty Industry Petition

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP) — The Price Decontrol Board called for briefs from opposing parties today in preparation for a showdown on its powers to pass on decontrol of certain segments of industry prior to December 31.

The question came to a head when OPA asked the board to dismiss a decontrol petition filed by the Groundwood Specialty Industry, the first petition to come before the board.

OPA's Challenge

OPA challenged the board's authority to consider, before the end of the year, a petition for decontrol based on a contention that products involved are unimportant to business and living costs. It did not challenge the board's right to pass on petitions based on other grounds, such as a claim that supply of products is sufficient to meet demands.

OPA officials contended that the price agency itself is directed by the OPA Extender Act to decontrol on or before December 31 all items considered unimportant to business or living costs.

One OPA official pointed out that if the board should rule it does have jurisdiction many other industries might consider it a signal to flood OPA with similar petitions.

OPA officials emphasized that there is no actual dispute with the decontrol board.

Linoleum Ceilings Hiked

Elsewhere on the price front OPA ruled that textile buyers may not increase their sales prices for textiles to include fees paid to brokers, finders or agents in procuring the goods.

Under another order effective tomorrow, producers may charge an extra $15 per thousand board feet for southern pine short leaf and long leaf 4-4 and 4-5 flooring in "D" and better grades; $12.50 more per thousand feet for one-inch car material up to 16 feet, and $10 per thousand board feet for lengths of 18 and 20 feet.

Manufacturers' ceilings on linoleum and felt-base floor and wall covering were raised by approximately 12 per cent.

Police Chief Accused Of Beating Negro, Freed

COLUMBUS, S. C., Nov. 5. (AP)—Police Chief Lynwood L. Shull, Batesburg, was found innocent by a Federal Court jury tonight of charges of violating, by beating him blind, the civil rights of Isaac Woodard, Jr., negro war veteran from New York City.

Woodard testified that Shull beat him until he was blinded in arresting him last February 12.

The federal Department of Justice filed a criminal information against Shull late in September alleging that the police chief had violated Woodard's civil rights by "beating and torturing" him.

At today's trail Shull denied the charges and said he struck the negro only once, in self defense, as they struggled for possession of his blackjack.

Earlier, Joseph Millstein, 45, New York City merchandising man, whose connection, if any, with the case has not been explained by McDonald, was arraigned in Brooklyn Felony Court on larceny and forgery charges. He was held in $100,000 bail for hearing tomorrow.

One other man, Isadore Rappaport, president of the Ultima Optical Instrument Company has been arrested in the case. He is free on $25,000 bail awaiting hearing on charges of grand larceny and forgery. Police also have instituted a search for a man they identified as James Collins and described as a "Broadway character."

Industry Leader Scoffs At Lewis' Mine Pay Theory

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP) — A John L. Lewis theory — that higher hourly pay and a shorter week for his soft coal miners would not increase costs — drew a quick "utterly ridiculous" from an industry leader today.

"Mr. Lewis is going to price his boys right out on the street," John D. Battle, executive secretary of the National Coal Association, told a reporter.

"The gas and oil people are stepping in and taking whatever business they want. The only thing stopping them is a little difficulty getting equipment."

While the debate went on during a recess in talks on Lewis' demands for a new contract and more pay, tens of thousands of soft coal miners stayed out of the pits, even though their contract is still in force. The Solid Fuels Administration attributed that to election day.

Economists for Lewis' United Mine Workers whose contract with the government is in dispute — with the implied threat of a strike November 20—told reporters informally of the new pay theory. They said the union president was convinced the operators would not suffer under an arrangement involving 25 cents more an hour with their 54-hour, six day work week cut back to five days.

Basic pay now is $1.18½ an hour for the first 35 hours with the additional time on a premium pay basis.

These statisticians figure that operating costs would be reduced from 20 to 70 cents a ton, with an average saving of 45 cents. Miners dig four and one-half or five tons of bituminous coal daily. Thus the approximately $2 a day added to the payroll costs would be offset by the savings, in the union arithmetic.

"I would want to see the formula they use," said Ezra Van Horn, chairman of the operators' negotiating committee.

Republicans

Young Brown, Democratic candidate, conceded to his Republican foe, John Sherman Cooper.

California, the other state where they hoped to gain a Senate seat from the Republicans, was giving them no encouragement on the face of indecisive returns. Sen. William F. Knowland (R) led Will Rogers Jr., (D) son of the late humorist.

John W. Bricker, of Ohio, 1944 Republican vice presidential nominee, took a big lead in his bid for a Senate seat, and for a possible place on the 1948 ticket of his party.

Missouri, President Truman's home stamping grounds, gave a lead to James P. Kem, Republican challenger for the Senate seat of Democrat Frank P. Briggs. Elsewhere Democrats were ahead in at least two key senatorial contests.

Kilgore Leads In W. Va.

The other was Wyoming, where the incumbent senator, Joseph C. O'Mahoney, went slightly to the fore.

Out in New Mexico, dashing Patrick J. Hurley had a slim margin in his senatorial tussle with the incumbent, Dennis Chavez.

One contest in which President Truman had a special interest, the House fight in the Fifth Missouri District, saw Democrat Enos A. Axtell trailing Republican Albert L. Reeves, Jr. The President had handpicked Axtell for the Democratic nomination.

One of many indicators of a Republican sweep along the line was the overtaking of Democrat Gov Frank J. Lausche in Ohio, a strong vote-getter in the past, by Thomas J. Herbert, Republican. The race still was undecided.

In New Jersey, the gubernatorial victory of Alfred E. Driscoll, Republican, was conceded by Lewis G. Hansen, Democrat. Mayor George E. Brunner, of Camden, Democratic candidate for the Senate, also acknowledged that his Republican opponent, Sen. H. Alexander Smith, was in again.

Sen. Joseph F. Guffey, New Dealer from away back, lost out in his re-election bid, the victor being Republican Gov. Edward Martin. Republican James H. Duff clinched the governorship.

In the senatorial contests, an administration stalwart, James M. Tunnell, was trailing in Delaware. Another strong administration man, Harley M. Kilgore was in a nip-and-tuck contest in West Virginia.

There was some balm for the Democrats, however, in the fact that Enos A. Axtell had piled up a big lead for the House seat from the Fifth Missouri District. Axtell was handpicked for the Democratic nomination by President Truman.

In Ohio, former Gov. John W. Bricker was away ahead of Democratic Incumbent James W. Huffman for the United States senate. Bricker, GOP vice presidential candidate in 1944, figures in talk of the national ticket for 1948.

Congress was assured of a lone minor party member when American-Laborite Vito Marcantonio, of New York, captured another house term.

In Kentucky, Rep. Andrew Jackson May, chairman of the House Military Committee, was lagging 7,400 to 11,576 behind his Republican rival with more than a third of the precincts reported. May won by a little over 3,000 in 1944

This year he has been a figure in investigations of war contracts.

In an election bearing on his personal political future President Truman voted at Independence, Mo., — the straight Democratic ticket, he said—then headed for Washington by special train.

Despite the heat generated in many a contest, little unruliness developed. Minor fracases were reported in New York's Harlem and in Tennessee.

The first smattering of returns was as inconclusive as it always is in any nationwide election.

But the early tabulations did nothing to change the tone of emphatic Republican predictions that 1946 marks a turning point, that this year the GOP again becomes the dominant party in American politics—for the first time in 15 years.

Democrats similarly hung onto publicly-voiced prophecies that the final count would show them still in control of Senate and House. Yet some top men in that party had conceded the Democrats might slip a bit, and that they had a better chance of holding the Senate than the House.

As the heavy turnout of voters approached record proportions for an off-year election, both sides took heart.

Republicans, who had dinned out a "Had Enough" slogan during the campaign, said the big vote meant the people were recording protests against strikes, skimpy supplies of things they want, and the way the government has handled the general shift from war to peace.

Democrats said a heavy vote always had favored them in the past, that this year was no exception, that the protest was against Republican efforts to torpedo administration reconversion plans.

The advance estimates were that 131,000 polling places would check off more than 35,000,000 voters — some 7,000,000 more than in the last off-year election in 1942.

The death toll for the month of July, 1946, resulting from traffic accidents was 2,530, which is 23 percent below the last peacetime July in 1941.

D'Alesandro, Fallon Win

With 577 polling places reported in each contest, Hammond had 127,169 votes to 82,011 for Doub, and Lacy had 130,210 votes to 83,684 for Grier.

Incumbent Democratic Congressmen Thomas D'Alesandro and George H. Fallon won easy re-election from their Baltimore City districts, the third and fourth, respectively.

A fairly close race between Rep. Roe (D-Md) and Edward T. Miller for the First (Eastern Shore) District Congress seat had developed. With 22 of 194 polling places in, Roe led Miller, 2,529 votes to 2,064. Roe won two years ago by less than 1,000 votes.

With 185 of 418 polling places reported from the Second District, Democrat Hugh A. Meade, of Baltimore City, had 36,248 votes to 28,795 for David G. Harry, Pylesville, in their contest for the seat being vacated by Rep. Baldwin (D-Md).

Fifty-two polling places out of 184 in the Fifth Congressional District gave Rep. Lansdale G. Sasscer 7,762 votes to 4,462, for Edwin Glenn, Suitland.

Beall Leads McDonald

The only incumbent Republican representative from Maryland, J. Glenn Beall, Frostburg, was leading Democrat Arch McDonald 18,477 to 16,410, with 67 of the district's 280 polling places in. Montgomery county surprised political observers by electing a solid delegation of Republicans to the General Assembly. Four years ago is sent only Democrats to the Legislature.

The currently solid Democratic representation from Baltimore City in the Legislature was broken by Republican Daniel Ellison, who won election to the State Senate from the city's Fourth Legislature District over the incumbent, A. Milton Altfeld.

The other five Senate seats in Baltimore went to Democrats as did the city's 36 house places.

The electorate, on the basis of about one sixth of the state's polling places, apparently had placed its stamp of approval on four proposals for minor amendments to the state constitution.

Vets Take Over Unrented Units Of Housing Project

CHICAGO, Nov. 5 (AP) — A group of war veterans forced their way into unrented units of a public housing project last night and refused to budge today.

Miss Elizabeth Wood, executive secretary of the Chicago Housing Authority, reported "14 or 15 families" of veterans had seized space in the authority's South Side airport homes project.

The authority, she said, has not taken title to the units from the Federal Housing Authority. She said attorneys were conferring on what legal steps might be used to remove the families.

When completed, the project will contain 186 housing units, Miss Wood said. She added that 128 of them had been completed and were occupied by veterans.

Little Holland Asks 700 Square Miles Of Reich

Officials Say Dutch Claims Not Nearly As Large As Expected

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP) — Little Holland, whose economy was largely wrecked by the Germans, asked the Big Four nations today for 700 square miles of territory from the Reich in compensation.

A note delivered simultaneously in Washington, London, Moscow and Paris listed the requests and said their fulfillment would put only 1,190 Germans within the Netherlands.

The changes would eliminate four German "bulges" into Holland and reduce the frontier from 325 to 220 miles.

The Dutch deliberately refrained from asking to annex any of the larger German cities. Ambassador Alexander Loudon explained this was due to Holland's reluctance to shoulder any delicate minorities problem.

Loudon said the territory sought is rural with a sparse population. The 1,190 Germans could reside in their present homes unless convicted of Nazi activities, he said. If so, they would be repatriated to Germany.

The new projected border would run from the estuary of the Ems river southward in a fairly straight line a short distance west of Emden, Nordhorn, Emmerich, Goch, Gelden, Kaldenkirchen, Hernsberg, Geilenkirchen and Aachen, leaving them in Germany.

Diplomatic officials described the Dutch claims as modest and not nearly as large as had been expected.

Spanish Matador Reaches New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 5. (AP)—A group of cheering bullfight fans were on hand today to greet Cangancho, ace Spanish matador, but the conversation got around somehow to such things as snakes, cemeteries and funeral processions.

Cangancho said he was superstitious and explained if anything resembling reptiles or graveyards appeared on the horizon before a fight the whole thing was off.

Wearing a dark blue suit and a lot of sleek black hair, Cangancho indicated the general idea before a fight was to lay low and not see anything—except possibly a dash or two of sherry just before entering the ring.

"To be a good bullfighter," said Cangancho through an interpreter, after his ship, the Spanish steamer Marques De Comillas, docked, "you must have great courage and must be able to kill with the first thrust."

Cold Wave May Follow Blizzard In Colorado

DENVER, Nov. 5 (AP) — Freezing temperatures were forecast throughout Colorado tonight in the wake of a three-day blizzard that left nine dead, snarled transportation and closed many schools east of the continental Divide.

During the day a bright sun cut into the drifts, piled more than 10 feet in places. Buses resumed full schedules but ran late. Trains got back on timetables.

All main roads were reopened, although one-way traffic was the rule in spots along the Denver-Colorado Springs highway.

North of Denver, resumption of heavy traffic splashed slush off main roads, but in the southeast and the mountains the State Highway Patrol predicted hazardous travel tonight with expected low temperatures making icy mirrors of many partly-thawed roads.

Gandhi Threatens New Fast In Move To Halt Violence

400 Persons Reported Killed In Last Few Days In Bihar Province

NEW DELHI, Nov. 5 (AP)—The All-India radio said today Mohandas K. Gandhi had threatened a "fast unto death" unless Hindu-Moslem killings in Bihar Province were stopped within 24 hours.

The radio quoted Dr. Rajendra Prasad, minister for food in the interim government, as making the statement that the spiritual leader of the Congress Party would embark upon the new fast. Gandhi is now in Calcutta where he has gone to visit the troubled areas.

Authoritative reports said 400 persons had been killed in the last few days in Bihar where Hindus are in the majority. Moslem sources have declared the casualties were much higher, running into the thousands.

The Moslem festival Bakr Id, in which cows sacred to Hindus are offered as sacrifices in dozens of mosques, passed off comparatively peacefully in the Calcutta and Bombay areas despite fears of authorities that the holiday might precipitate a new peak of riots.

There were 18 scattered knife attacks in Bombay and stone and acid throwing incidents in a wide area. Police opened fire five times when Hindus threw stones at Moslem assemblages, but no casualties resulted from the bullets. Another tense moment developed in Central Bombay, when Moslems returning from Bakr Id prayers in trucks shouted pro-Pakistan slogans, but it passed.

Five persons were killed and 36 injured by stabbing and 14 injured by acid throwing in Bombay during the day.

British source said that freeing the leaders might "mark the turning point in the history of Palestine."

Conference Boycott May End

Government officials said the action was prompted by resolutions passed by the Inner Zionist Council condemning the "campaign of violence" waged by certain Jewish underground organizations.

Government and Jewish Agency spokesmen said the release of the leaders would almost certainly pave the way for Jewish participation in London talks on Palestine's future, scheduled to be resumed December 16. The Jews boycotted earlier conferences on the subject.

Simultaneous with the release of the Jews, Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham, Palestine High Commissioner, granted amnesty to the 20 Arabs.

Other Arabs Released

(In London, Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones told the House of Commons that, in addition to the Arabs granted amnesty in the Holy Land, a number of other Palestine Arabs had been released from detention in the Seychelles islands, off the northern tip of Madagascar in the Indian ocean.

(The Arab office in London said the Arabs, some imprisoned for 10 years, should have been released long ago, and that it could only hope that the freeing of "known Jewish terrorists" would not lead to new outbreaks of violence by Jews.

(Creech Jones said he believed the releases would reduce "the present tension" in Palestine and "restore conditions in which progress can be made" toward stability.

OPA Challenges Price Decontrol Board Authority

Panel Asked To Dismiss Groundwood Specialty Industry Petition

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP) — The Price Decontrol Board called for briefs from opposing parties today in preparation for a showdown on its powers to pass on decontrol of certain segments of industry prior to December 31.

The question came to a head when OPA asked the board to dismiss a decontrol petition filed by the Groundwood Specialty Industry, the first petition to come before the board.

OPA's Challenge

OPA challenged the board's authority to consider, before the end of the year, a petition for decontrol based on a contention that products involved are unimportant to business and living costs. It did not challenge the board's right to pass on petitions based on other grounds, such as a claim that supply of products is sufficient to meet demands.

OPA officials contended that the price agency itself is directed by the OPA Extender Act to decontrol on or before December 31 all items considered unimportant to business or living costs.

One OPA official pointed out that if the board should rule it does have jurisdiction many other industries might consider it a signal to flood OPA with similar petitions.

OPA officials emphasized that there is no actual dispute with the decontrol board.

Linoleum Ceilings Hiked

Elsewhere on the price front OPA ruled that textile buyers may not increase their sales prices for textiles to include fees paid to brokers, finders or agents in procuring the goods.

Under another order effective tomorrow, producers may charge an extra $15 per thousand board feet for southern pine short leaf and long leaf 4-4 and 4-5 flooring in "D" and better grades; $12.50 more per thousand feet for one-inch car material up to 16 feet, and $10 per thousand board feet for lengths of 18 and 20 feet.

Manufacturers' ceilings on linoleum and felt-base floor and wall covering were raised by approximately 12 per cent.

Coney Residents Told Not To Burn Rubbish In Streets

By MARIE MERRBACH

LONACONING, Nov. 5 — William Broderick, manager of the Lonaconing office of the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company, asked at the town council meeting Monday night that the townspeople be warned against the danger of burning leaves or rubbish along the curbs and pavements thereby causing explosions in the event of leaking gas lines. Persons are asked by the council to refrain from building fires on the streets where gas pipes are located in case there might be gas leakage.

In reply to the Veterans of Foreign Wars request that streets be roped off for sleigh-riding during winter months, the town ordered that Douglas avenue and upper Jackson street be closed certain nights and at certain hours when the weather permits. All local organizations which are supporting this project will have men to watch over the young children.

The council also discussed the possibility of securing another doctor in the town of Lonaconing. It was stated that 70 applications have been made following an advertisement in a medical journal. Several doctors have been interviewed. A committee will be selected to meet any doctors that come to town to seek possibilities of setting up their practice here.

The railing will be placed on the new cement bridge on Robbins street by Sloan's store sometime this week, it was mentioned. The bridge in Beechwood section has been completed but the construction is not open for public use yet.

In a statement regarding the closing of the office which served Mineral, Hampshire and Hardy counties, Chairman Harold Fredlock said that hereafter the business of the OPA will be carried on through the district office in Charleston. He stated that the clerical help now in the office will remain on duty through this month to complete records and transfer them to the Charleston district office.

He gave information under five headings as to how the work of OPA will be carried on between local persons concerned and the district office.

1. Trade and consumer inquiries about price control, formerly handled by price control boards, should be addressed to the OPA District Office, Charleston, W. Va.

2. Certificates of transfer covering sales of used passenger cars may be obtained from principal automobile dealers. Dealers should request additional supplies from the OPA Regional Distribution Center, 1020 Boliver Road, Cleveland, O.

3. Sugar rationing has been administered from the district office since last January. In the future sugar forms required by the trade and consumers may be obtained from the district office in Charleston.

Coney Residents Told Not To Burn Rubbish In Streets

By MARIE MERRBACH

LONACONING, Nov. 5 — William Broderick, manager of the Lonaconing office of the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company, asked at the town council meeting Monday night that the townspeople be warned against the danger of burning leaves or rubbish along the curbs and pavements thereby causing explosions in the event of leaking gas lines. Persons are asked by the council to refrain from building fires on the streets where gas pipes are located in case there might be gas leakage.

In reply to the Veterans of Foreign Wars request that streets be roped off for sleigh-riding during winter months, the town ordered that Douglas avenue and upper Jackson street be closed certain nights and at certain hours when the weather permits. All local organizations which are supporting this project will have men to watch over the young children.

The council also discussed the possibility of securing another doctor in the town of Lonaconing. It was stated that 70 applications have been made following an advertisement in a medical journal. Several doctors have been interviewed. A committee will be selected to meet any doctors that come to town to seek possibilities of setting up their practice here.

The railing will be placed on the new cement bridge on Robbins street by Sloan's store sometime this week, it was mentioned. The bridge in Beechwood section has been completed but the construction is not open for public use yet.

Autographs Cover Modern War 'Horse'

ATLANTA, Ga., —(AP) — Jules Bagarry of Opelousas, La., has a traveling collection of the autographs —they're scribbed all over the jeep he drove through Europe as an Army master sergeant and later as a civilian.

As a soldier, Bagarry became attached to the jeep and he arranged to have it demobiliged the same time he was, purchasing it from the Army. Later he used it while supervising the distruction of 25,000 rations of sweet potatoes donated to Italian civilians by an Opeleuas, producer.

Entire GOP Ticket Amasses Landslide Vote; Ives Defeats Lehman

NEW YORK, Nov. 5. (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey led a triumphant Republican sweep of politically important New York state tonight with the entire GOP ticket amassing a landslide vote.

Dewey was returned to office by the greatest margin ever given a Republican gubernatorial candidate and projected himself as a leading contender for the 1948 presidential nomination.

Indications were that Dewey would receive a smashing 750,000 plurality over his Democratic coalition nominee, United States Sen. James M. Mead, who had PAC support.

Riding to victory with the 44-year-old titular head of the Republican Party was Irving M. Ives who captured the United States Senate seat from Herbert H. Lehman—the first Republican to be elected to that office in 20 years.

The vote:

In heavily Democratic New York City, Dewey had 899,254 votes to Mead's 938,163 in 2,982 districts out of 4,050 while Ives had 741,083 against 1,104,147 for Lehman in 3,000 districts.

In 1942 Dewey won over his Democratic and American Labor Party opponents by a 243,881 plurality but two years ago he lost the state in the presidential race to the late Franklin D. Roosevelt by 316,591.

GOP congressional gains were scored in the 40th District (Monroe) where Kenneth B. Keating whipped the Democratic incumbent, George F. Rogers; the 44th District (Queens) where Gregory McMahon defeated Mrs. Emily Barry; in the 5th District (Queens), where Robert T. Ross defeated James A. Phillips, and in the 6th (Queens) where Robert Nodar, Jr., unseated James J. Delaney.

Lane And Family Listen To Results

BALTIMORE, Nov. 5. (AP)—William Preston Lane, Jr., Democratic candidate for governor, sat in his hotel suite here tonight and munched chicken sandwiches as he listened to broadcasts of favorable election returns.

With him were his wife, and two daughters.

Lane replied:

"Who did you think it was, Mr. McKeldin? That's me and I'm satisfied."

The radio interrupted a Lane family discussion, announcing that Lane was leading his opponent, Baltimore Mayor Theodore McKeldin at that hour by 61,523 to 31,487, in Baltimore City.

"I hope it's accurate," said Lane.

McKeldin, meanwhile, had gone into seclusion.

O'Conor's opponent, D. John Markey, said he expected to "run a whole lot stronger in the counties. He added that he had a "pretty good picture" of what he could win and "that will be enough."

New Spectroscope Makes Molecules 'Talk'

PITTSBURGH, (AP) — A new kind of spectroscope makes molecules tell their names by "tuning in" on them with radio waves.

Called a microwave spectroscope, it was developed by Westinghouse Research Laboratories as a means of identifying unknown molecules in gaseous form.

Its basis is the radar tube which produces ultrashort waves of energy. These waves vibrate from side to side with tremendous frequency, and the waves can be turned to different vibrations or frequencies.

Each type of molecule has its own characteristic kind of vibration. The microwaves are sent through a sample of gas to be analyzed and when the vibration of the radio waves is "in tune" with the molecule's vibrations, the molecule absorbs some of the waves. The amount of absorption can be measured.

"By seeing which wave vibrations are absorbed, we know what molecules are present and how the atoms within the molecules are behaving," said Dr. William E. Good, Westinghouse physicist. "The identification of substances used in making plastics, synthetic rubber, chemicals and similar products is possible with great accuracy and speed."

Pilot And Mechanic Die In Air Tragedy

BOWIE, Md., Nov. 5. (AP)—A veteran of 2,100 hours of flight with the Naval Transport Service and his mechanic, a former Navy machinist's mate, hurled from the cockpit of their crippled plane and plunged to death in a Maryland field today.

They were Robert J. Frankenfield, 27, Rockville, Md., the pilot, who flew for the Navy during the war, and Frank E Tate, 45, Riverdale, Md., airplane mechanical expert.

The ship went into a spin and hurtled rapidly toward the ground. It crashed and immediately burst into flames that prevented rescuers from reaching the cockpit.

Election Results Hailed By Hoover

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover issued tonight a statement in which he said the election returns showed the nation is "again moving to the goal of free men."

Hoover, at his New York hotel, said:

"The whole world, including the United States, has been for years driving to the left on the totalitarian road of 'planned economy.'" America is by this election the first country to repudiate this road.

"And it defines that the Republican Party is the party of the right. We are again moving to the goal of free men. This decision of the United States will have a profound effect on nations which have been following along the road to the left."

GIs Give College 2,354 Percent Gain

CINCINNATI, O. —(AP)—GI Joe's return to school has played strange tricks on American college enrollments, but probably none more strange than that in the 114-year-old College of Law at the University of Cincinnati.

Its current student body of 306 is actually 2,354 percent, larger than the college's wartime low enrollment of 13 students a year or so ago.

The answer is two fold: (1) There were no draft deferments for law students and (2) an unusual number of GIs, attracted by provisions of the GI Bill of Rights, made up their minds to study law after leaving the services.

Of the current law enrollment here, 190 are freshmen. For the University of Cincinnati as a whole, its 11 colleges and schools this fall have an enrollment of 15,500 men and women, largest in its history.

Election Day

Preliminary predictions of political leaders indicated about a 50 percent total vote in the county. But with 31 percent of the city's registered 22,433 voters already at the polls by 5 p. m., this figure seemed conservative.

As this is being written, at 10:30 p. m., not a single precinct from the city or county has completed tabulation of returns. This indicates that while voting was heavier than expected during the day, it was much heavier during the last two hours.

Of all the polling places visited, we did not see one idle place. Contrary to the primary and city elections, when workers inside and outside the polls had time to visit and make conversation, yesterday was all business all day.

The Armory, which came in for some criticism in this column the last time Sidelights were written, as being the dirtiest place encountered, was spic and span yesterday, and the building was warm and comfortable.

At the Canada Hose House, North Mechanic street, it was noted the volunteer firemen there have been busy. The place has been newly painted, was bright and cheerful, and looked much different than the dingy cellar it appeared to be a few months ago.

On Bedford street, where workers in the city election said, "this is the worst turn-out we've ever seen," yesterday were too busy to talk and by 4 p. m. had a total of 196 ballots cast.

The highest number quoted during our tour was 398 at 6-2 K to Z on Fayette street. The lowest number of ballots cast prior to 5 p. m. was 78 at 4-5 K to Z Humbird street school.

We encountered none of the state or county candidates in our tour of the polling places, and saw a lot of new faces among party precinct workers. New people work harder than those who have had the jobs for years, political leaders contend, and this election, both parties enlisted the help of new and young blood.

A number of veterans, some of them officers and leaders in veterans organizations were out urging people to vote. Some of this effort was non-partisan, some of it was in favor of veterans on the both tickets, and as one veteran friend told us, "just because I think I should and have a day off from work. People don't take voting seriously enough around here."

Local News In Brief

Members of Local 654, Retail Clerks Union, transacted only routine business at their meeting Monday night. A number of pending matters were tabled due to the absence of William R. McGinnis, international representative.

The Cumberland Chamber of Commerce was notified yesterday that the city is one of the five most "distinctive" cities in the United States, according to a member of the Chicago Park District Commission, who recently concluded a tour of United States cities.

A special meeting of Cumberland Council, Navy League of the United States, will be held at council headquarters, 148 North Centre street, at 8 o'clock tonight to make final arrangements for the Armistice Day celebration.

Approximately 20 appointments have been made for a chest clinic to be held Friday from 9 a. m. to 2 p. m. at City Hall. The clinic will be conducted by Dr. I. B. Lyon, a member of the staff of the state sanitarium at Sabillasville.

Miss Ursula Brode, 104 Decatur street, night supervisor of Allegany Hospital from 3 to 11 o'clock, who underwent an operation October 22, is reported "getting along fine".

East Side Fire Company extinguished a grass fire on Dewey terrace, at the head of Baltimore street, yesterday at 10:45 a. m.

Louis J. Rizer, Wiley Ford, W. Va., who was arrested here yesterday morning by city police was turned over to C. V. Barncord, Ridgeley, W. Va., constable, last night. Ridgeley authorities said a Mineral county warrant charges Rizer with non-support.

Girl Is Back Home After Kidnap Report

CONOWINGO, Md., Nov. 5 (AP)—A frightened eight-year-old girl was back home tonight after a frantic two-hour search touched off by a report to the state police sub-station here that she had been kidnaped.

Maryland troopers, local police officers, and an FBI agent were looking for a man wearing hunting clothes and driving a gray coupe with Maryland license plates, described for them by Sue Carol Smith after she came running home across the fields from the Susquehanna river banks in Eastern Harford county.

State Police Sgt. John Novicki said the girl apparently had been enticed into the car by the stranger after he asked her to help him find a workman on the dairy farm managed by her father, Robert L. Smith.

Britain Asked To Explain Accord With Argentina

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5—(AP)—Secretary of the Treasury John Snyder has called upon Britain to explain a financial feature of the British-Argentine economic agreement which the United States dislikes, government officials said tonight.

Snyder is reported to have sent a letter late last week asking London to give its interpretation of a provision which under certain conditions prevents Argentina from spending some of the blocked sterling Britain owes her, wherever she desires.

Officials thoroughly familiar with the situation said this government believes the arrangement may violate commitments made by Britain in obtaining a $3,750,000,000 United States loan.

Drivers Post Bonds

Two motorists, booked as John E. Lancaster, 624 Shriver avenue, and W. E. Fogle, 216 Piedmont avenue, posted $10 bonds in police court yesterday afternoon for hearings today on charges of careless driving.

California Lothario Rejected By Army

FORT DOUGLAS, Utah, Nov. 5—(AP)—Ellsworth (Sonny) Wisecarver, 17-year-old California Lothario whose elopement with two married women entangled him with the law, tried unsuccessfully to enlist in the Army here, a public relations officer said today.

Warrant Officer O. L. Snyder said the youth was rejected yesterday because of his juvenile delinquency record.

Wisecarver was released from jail at Ely, Nev., last week on a habeas corpus writ and told officers he intended to go to Salt Lake City and join the Navy.

In the rose display, all old and new varieties now in bloom in greenhouses will be shown, as well as Easter lilies, bouvardia, stephanotis, gardenias, camellias, love apples, carnations, delphinium, sweet peas, gerberas, forget-me-not and heather.

Mums Bloom Earlier

Stating that 60 varieties of mums, cut or growing in greenhouses, will be on display, Mrs. Lottig said that the chrysanthemum, although it is the emblem of Japan, originated in China and was cultivated there 2,000 years ago. The flower is mentioned in the writings of Confucius. Approximately 2,100 varieties of mums originated in this country, with 225 catalogued and grown at the present time.

Despite the recent Indian summer weather which made the mums bloom a little earlier than usual, the season has been most favorable and the blooms are colorful and of unusual size, she added.

Mrs. Lottig pointed out that local greenhouse operators are doing everything possible to promote interest in flowers by opening their greenhouses to the public when the choicest flowers are in bloom.

Voters Approve State Amendment

BALTIMORE, Nov. 6 (AP)—Marylanders appeared to have indicated approval of all four proposed amendments to the state constitution on the basis of returns from 519 out of 1,330 polling places at an early hour today.

The first proposed amendment, that eliminating the need for the Baltimore Redevelopment Commission to have in hand, either by purchase or option, 50 per cent of a tract before it could exercise condemnation powers, drew affirmative votes from 53,930 voters, compared with 16,150 negative ballots.

The proposal to permit the General Assembly to prescribe the surety bond to be required of state's attorneys, rather than the $10,000 fixed by the constitution at present, drew 54,495 votes for and 14,404 against.

A slightly narrower margin was polled in favor of the proposal to set the pay of the sheriff of Baltimore City at $7,500 and give the counties the fees collected in their sheriffs' office, less operating costs. The vote on this amendment was 51,986 for and 16,598 against.

The amendment to permit the Governor to appoint an associate judge of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore City chief judge in event of a vacancy, his term as chief judge to end with the term for which he was elected associate judge, drew approving votes from 55,875 and disapproval from 14,549.

Entire GOP Ticket Amasses Landslide Vote; Ives Defeats Lehman

NEW YORK, Nov. 5. (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey led a triumphant Republican sweep of politically important New York state tonight with the entire GOP ticket amassing a landslide vote.

Dewey was returned to office by the greatest margin ever given a Republican gubernatorial candidate and projected himself as a leading contender for the 1948 presidential nomination.

Indications were that Dewey would receive a smashing 750,000 plurality over his Democratic coalition nominee, United States Sen. James M. Mead, who had PAC support.

Riding to victory with the 44-year-old titular head of the Republican Party was Irving M. Ives who captured the United States Senate seat from Herbert H. Lehman—the first Republican to be elected to that office in 20 years.

The vote:

In heavily Democratic New York City, Dewey had 899,254 votes to Mead's 938,163 in 2,982 districts out of 4,050 while Ives had 741,083 against 1,104,147 for Lehman in 3,000 districts.

In 1942 Dewey won over his Democratic and American Labor Party opponents by a 243,881 plurality but two years ago he lost the state in the presidential race to the late Franklin D. Roosevelt by 316,591.

GOP congressional gains were scored in the 40th District (Monroe) where Kenneth B. Keating whipped the Democratic incumbent, George F. Rogers; the 4th District (Queens) where Gregory McMahon defeated Mrs. Emily Barry; in the 5th District (Queens), where Robert T. Ross defeated James A. Phillips, and in the 6th (Queens) where Robert Nodar, Jr., unseated James J. Delaney.

Lane And Family Listen To Results

BALTIMORE, Nov. 5. (AP)—William Preston Lane, Jr., Democratic candidate for governor, sat in his hotel suite here tonight and munched chicken sandwiches as he listened to broadcasts of favorable election returns.

With him were his wife, and two daughters.

Lane replied:

"Who did you think it was, Mr. McKeldin? That's me and I'm satisfied."

The radio interrupted a Lane family discussion, announcing that Lane was leading his opponent, Baltimore Mayor Theodore McKeldin at that hour by 61,523 to 31,487, in Baltimore City.

"I hope it's accurate," said Lane.

McKeldin, meanwhile, had gone into seclusion.

O'Conor's opponent, D. John Markey, said he expected to "run a whole lot stronger in the counties. He added that he had a "pretty good picture" of what he could win and "that will be enough."

New Spectroscope Makes Molecules 'Talk'

PITTSBURGH, (AP) — A new kind of spectroscope makes molecules tell their names by "tuning in" on them with radio waves.

Called a microwave spectroscope, it was developed by Westinghouse Research Laboratories as a means of identifying unknown molecules in gaseous form.

Its basis is the radar tube which produces ultrashort waves of energy. These waves vibrate from side to side with tremendous frequency, and the waves can be turned to different vibrations or frequencies.

Each type of molecule has its own characteristic kind of vibration. The microwaves are sent through a sample of gas to be analyzed and when the vibration of the radio waves is "in tune" with the molecule's vibrations, the molecule absorbs some of the waves. The amount of absorption can be measured.

"By seeing which wave vibrations are absorbed, we know what molecules are present and how the atoms within the molecules are behaving," said Dr. William E. Good, Westinghouse physicist. "The identification of substances used in making plastics, synthetic rubber, chemicals and similar products is possible with great accuracy and speed."

Pilot And Mechanic Die In Air Tragedy

BOWIE, Md., Nov. 5. (AP)—A veteran of 2,100 hours of flight with the Naval Transport Service and his mechanic, a former Navy machinist's mate, hurled from the cockpit of their crippled plane and plunged to death in a Maryland field today.

They were Robert J. Frankenfield, 27, Rockville, Md., the pilot, who flew for the Navy during the war, and Frank E Tate, 45, Riverdale, Md., airplane mechanical expert.

The ship went into a spin and hurtled rapidly toward the ground. It crashed and immediately burst into flames that prevented rescuers from reaching the cockpit.

Election Results Hailed By Hoover

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover issued tonight a statement in which he said the election returns showed the nation is "again moving to the goal of free men."

Hoover, at his New York hotel, said:

"The whole world, including the United States, has been for years driving to the left on the totalitarian road of 'planned economy.'" America is by this election the first country to repudiate this road.

"And it defines that the Republican Party is the party of the right. We are again moving to the goal of free men. This decision of the United States will have a profound effect on nations which have been following along the road to the left."

GIs Give College 2,354 Percent Gain

CINCINNATI, O. —(AP)—GI Joe's return to school has played strange tricks on American college enrollments, but probably none more strange than that in the 114-year-old College of Law at the University of Cincinnati.

Its current student body of 306 is actually 2,354 percent, larger than the college's wartime low enrollment of 13 students a year or so ago.

The answer is two fold: (1) There were no draft deferments for law students and (2) an unusual number of GIs, attracted by provisions of the GI Bill of Rights, made up their minds to study law after leaving the services.

Of the current law enrollment here, 190 are freshmen. For the University of Cincinnati as a whole, its 11 colleges and schools this fall have an enrollment of 15,500 men and women, largest in its history.

Preliminary predictions of political leaders indicated about a 50 percent total vote in the county. But with 31 percent of the city's registered 22,433 voters already at the polls by 5 p. m., this figure seemed conservative.

As this is being written, at 10:30 p. m., not a single precinct from the city or county has completed tabulation of returns. This indicates that while voting was heavier than expected during the day, it was much heavier during the last two hours.

Of all the polling places visited, we did not see one idle place. Contrary to the primary and city elections, when workers inside and outside the polls had time to visit and make conversation, yesterday was all business all day.

The Armory, which came in for some criticism in this column the last time Sidelights were written, as being the dirtiest place encountered, was spic and span yesterday, and the building was warm and comfortable.

At the Canada Hose House, North Mechanic street, it was noted the volunteer firemen there have been busy. The place has been newly painted, was bright and cheerful, and looked much different than the dingy cellar it appeared to be a few months ago.

On Bedford street, where workers in the city election said, "this is the worst turn-out we've ever seen," yesterday were too busy to talk and by 4 p. m. had a total of 196 ballots cast.

The highest number quoted during our tour was 398 at 6-2 K to Z on Fayette street. The lowest number of ballots cast prior to 5 p. m. was 78 at 4-5 K to Z Humbird street school.

We encountered none of the state or county candidates in our tour of the polling places, and saw a lot of new faces among party precinct workers. New people work harder than those who have had the jobs for years, political leaders contend, and this election, both parties enlisted the help of new and young blood.

A number of veterans, some of them officers and leaders in veterans organizations were out urging people to vote. Some of this effort was non-partisan, some of it was in favor of veterans on the both tickets, and as one veteran friend told us, "just because I think I should and have a day off from work. People don't take voting seriously enough around here."

was in second place with 2,453 votes. James Holmes, another Republican incumbent, had 1,936 votes while trailing in fourth place was Samuel T Weatherholt, Democrat, with 1,223 votes. Holmes led Weatherholt by 713 votes. Three are to be elected.

Local News In Brief

Members of Local 654, Retail Clerks Union, transacted only routine business at their meeting Monday night. A number of pending matters were tabled due to the absence of William R. McGinnis, international representative.

The Cumberland Chamber of Commerce was notified yesterday that the city is one of the five most "distinctive" cities in the United States, according to a member of the Chicago Park District Commission, who recently concluded a tour of United States cities.

A special meeting of Cumberland Council, Navy League of the United States, will be held at council headquarters, 148 North Centre street, at 8 o'clock tonight to make final arrangements for the Armistice Day celebration.

Approximately 20 appointments have been made for a chest clinic to be held Friday from 9 a. m. to 2 p. m. at City Hall. The clinic will be conducted by Dr. I. B. Lyon, a member of the staff of the state sanitarium at Sabillasville.

Miss Ursula Brode, 104 Decatur street, night supervisor of Allegany Hospital from 3 to 11 o'clock, who underwent an operation October 22, is reported "getting along fine".

East Side Fire Company extinguished a grass fire on Dewey terrace, at the head of Baltimore street, yesterday at 10:45 a. m.

Held For Non-Support

Louis J. Rizer, Wiley Ford, W. Va., who was arrested here yesterday morning by city police was turned over to C. V. Barncord, Ridgeley, W. Va., constable, last night. Ridgeley authorities said a Mineral county warrant charges Rizer with non-support.

Girl Is Back Home After Kidnap Report

CONOWINGO, Md., Nov. 5 (AP)—A frightened eight-year-old girl was back home tonight after a frantic two-hour search touched off by a report to the state police sub-station here that she had been kidnaped.

Maryland troopers, local police officers, and an FBI agent were looking for a man wearing hunting clothes and driving a gray coupe with Maryland license plates, described for them by Sue Carol Smith after she came running home across the fields from the Susquehanna river banks in Eastern Harford county.

State Police Sgt. John Novicki said the girl apparently had been enticed into the car by the stranger after he asked her to help him find a workman on the dairy farm managed by her father, Robert L. Smith.

Britain Asked To Explain Accord With Argentina

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5—(AP)—Secretary of the Treasury John Snyder has called upon Britain to explain a financial feature of the British-Argentine economic agreement which the United States dislikes, government officials said tonight.

Snyder is reported to have sent a letter late last week asking London to give its interpretation of a provision which under certain conditions prevents Argentina from spending some of the blocked sterling Britain owes her, wherever she desires.

Officials thoroughly familiar with the situation said this government believes the arrangement may violate commitments made by Britain in obtaining a $3,750,000,000 United States loan.

Drivers Post Bonds

Two motorists, booked as John E. Lancaster, 624 Shriver avenue, and W. E. Fogle, 216 Piedmont avenue, posted $10 bonds in police court yesterday afternoon for hearings today on charges of careless driving.

California Lothario Rejected By Army

FORT DOUGLAS, Utah, Nov. 5—(AP)—Ellsworth (Sonny) Wisecarver, 17-year-old California Lothario whose elopement with two married women entangled him with the law, tried unsuccessfully to enlist in the Army here, a public relations officer said today.

Warrant Officer O. L. Snyder said the youth was rejected yesterday because of his juvenile delinquency record.

Wisecarver was released from jail at Ely, Nev., last week on a habeas corpus writ and told officers he intended to go to Salt Lake City and join the Navy.

In the rose display, all old and new varieties now in bloom in greenhouses will be shown, as well as Easter lilies, bouvardia, stephanotis, gardenias, camellias, love apples, carnations, delphinium, sweet peas, gerberas, forget-me-not and heather.

Mums Bloom Earlier

Stating that 60 varieties of mums, cut or growing in greenhouses, will be on display, Mrs. Lottig said that the chrysanthemum, although it is the emblem of Japan, originated in China and was cultivated there 2,000 years ago. The flower is mentioned in the writings of Confucius. Approximately 2,100 varieties of mums originated in this country, with 225 catalogued and grown at the present time.

Despite the recent Indian summer weather which made the mums bloom a little earlier than usual, the season has been most favorable and the blooms are colorful and of unusual size, she added.

Mrs. Lottig pointed out that local greenhouse operators are doing everything possible to promote interest in flowers by opening their greenhouses to the public when the choicest flowers are in bloom.

Voters Approve State Amendment

BALTIMORE, Nov. 6 (AP)—Marylanders appeared to have indicated approval of all four proposed amendments to the state constitution on the basis of returns from 519 out of 1,330 polling places at an early hour today.

The first proposed amendment, that eliminating the need for the Baltimore Redevelopment Commission to have in hand, either by purchase or option, 50 per cent of a tract before it could exercise condemnation powers, drew affirmative votes from 53,930 voters, compared with 16,150 negative ballots.

The proposal to permit the General Assembly to prescribe the surety bond to be required of state's attorneys, rather than the $10,000 fixed by the constitution at present, drew 54,495 votes for and 14,404 against.

A slightly narrower margin was polled in favor of the proposal to set the pay of the sheriff of Baltimore City at $7,500 and give the counties the fees collected in their sheriffs' office, less operating costs. The vote on this amendment was 51,986 for and 16,598 against.

The amendment to permit the Governor to appoint an associate judge of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore City chief judge in event of a vacancy, his term as chief judge to end with the term for which he was elected associate judge, drew approving votes from 55,875 and disapproval from 14,549.

Price Control Head Reports On OPA

With the closing down of the local OPA Price Control Board the procedure to be followed in all OPA matters were listed yesterday by Joseph E. Mackert, chairman of the Price Control Board. His instructions follow:

1. Trade and consumer inquiries about price control formerly handled by Price Control Boards should be addressed to the OPA district office, 2000 O'Sullivan building, Baltimore—2.

2. Certificates of transfer covering sales of used passenger automobiles by individuals may be obtained from principal auto dealers. Dealers should request additional supplies from the OPA Regional Mail Order Center at 201 Varick street, New York City-14.

3. Sugar rationing has been administered from the district office since last January. In the future, sugar forms required by the trade and consumers may be obtained from the district office.

4. Pending compliance actions by the board will be transferred to the district office.

5. The local board office was closed for the transaction of public business on November 4. However, the paid clerical personnel will continue on duty during the month of November in order to transfer records to the district office and to perform the many other duties involved in closing the board.

6. Supervision of rent control as in the past will continue under the Cumberland office at the Union Street County Building. This office serves all of Allegany county.

"This step marks the conclusion of almost five years of unprecedented patriotic service by many citizens of our area who, through their thousands of hours of volunteer work, have prevented inflationary dangers from taking effect, and saw that their neighbors had an equal right to their fair share of commodities during the days of rationing," Mackert said.

"Members of our Price Control Boards stayed on the job for more than a year after the end of the war. Production has had a chance to catch up with the demand. Now that President Truman has announced the program for accelerating the remaining wartime controls, Price Administrator Paul A. Porter has determined that the remaining functions of local boards can be continued by the District Office at Baltimore."

Cutting Remarks From The Salesman

BROCKTON, Mass. (AP)—Variety store owner Phil Rooney successfully demonstrated a new blunt scissors for kindergartens by slashing at his necktie. "Perfectly safe, it will only cut paper," he assured a hesitant mother and made the sale. But the necktie trick did not convince a later customer. So Rooney tried the scissors on his shirtsleeve. The fabric was sliced neatly. "Now I gotta sell a thousand more scissors to break even for the shirt I ruined," Rooney mourned.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Writes Mr. Robert Jordan, Colon, Mich.
Advises every sufferer from Rheumatic—Arthritic—Sciatic—Neuritic Pains to try Muscle-Rub.

Here's the true story of a man who took treatments, used all kinds of remedies for his sciatic, neuritic pains without being helped in the slightest degree. Mr. Robert Jordan of Colon, Mich., suffered agony from pains in his hip—knee—calf of legs. The pain at times was so bad that he couldn't sit down. He tried several different treatments, many different medicines, all of which did him no good. He couldn't work. Life was misery for him.

Then one day he saw an advertisement of Muscle-Rub—the doctor's prescription—and in desperation bought a bottle. He used it as directed and in 3 days the pains were relieved and Mr. Jordan was back on the job.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 5—Hold everything, girls—hold everything. There's a very strong chance that Stewart Granger, who for my money, has few equals in the London acting field, will be in Hollywood before long. Brynie Foy is negotiating with this attractive Englishman, whom you saw in "Caesar and Cleopatra", to play the "Prince Valiant". Yes, I mean the popular King Features Syndicate comic strip by Harold Foster. Brynie bought "Prince Valiant" which has over 20,000,000 readers in this country and many, many in Europe.

Eagle-Lion, as the world knows, is backed by Arthur Rank, and Granger belongs to Rank, so there you have it. Leonard Pickerd will produce the popular strip, and that's a picture on many people's must list.

I thought there was some reason for the many visits that Mike Curtiz was paying to Samuel Goldwyn. No, he isn't trying to sign up with Sam. He's already put his name to a ticket for Jack Warner, but Mike has his eye on Virginia Mayo and Dana Andrews, and after you see "The Best Years of Our Lives" you'll know why. Dana is excellent, and Virginia Mayo, who I always considered just a pretty girl, comes through with a performance that will really rate her attention. Well, to make a long story short, Mike wants Dana and Virginia for "The Unsuspected" his first picture at Warners. These two with Claude Rains would really give Mike a good start. "The Unsuspected" is one of the best murder mysteries I've read.

Can you imagine June Allyson being the nemesis in anyone's life? Junie, who is as wholesome as a lollypop both on and off the screen, will do a right-about-face as the "The Blonde" in her next picture called "Virtuous", playing the role of the girl who causes a lot of trouble for an author who hates blondes. She's really hepped up about this role because, like most actresses, she wants a fling in something different from her usual movie menu. Albert Beich wrote the story which is next on the list for Mrs. Dick Powell.

The famous annual Macy parade on Thanksgiving Day in New York will be in the movies. What's more, there will be a really Hollywood Santa Claus in the person of Actor Edmund Gwenn. This is the first time a Hollywood character has led this procession, but this is for the movie "My Heart Tells Me" and will be photographed with 10 hidden cameras. Gwenn plays Kris Kringle, a man who has a mental fixation that he is Santa Claus. The shooting will be done in a manner similar to the scenes Paramount took of "Lost Weekend" in the Bellevue Hospital.

Chatter In Hollywood: Bill Perlberg, who is producting "Forever Amber" by Kathleen Winsor Shaw, says he would like to do the life of Artie Shaw as a sequel. Ain't bad, Bill! "There's more romance," says Bill, "in Shaw's life than Amber's, and just think of the names that could assembled in the original cast—what glamor—Lana Turner, Ava Gardner, Betty Kern, Kathleen Winsor—just to name a few."

You think producers don't pay much attention to the fans? Don't you believe it—as the man growls on the radio. MGM got such a kickback and kick-up when Van Johnson dies in "High Barbaree" that they're reshooting the ending following a sneak preview a couple of nights ago. The new ending pumps breath back into Van who, himself, specializes in leaving 'em breathless. And speaking of "High Barbaree". Jack Conway, who directed takes over the same job when the "Hucksters" gets going this month.

Lana Turner, Van Johnson, Peter Lawford, Tom Drake and all the top young actors, and a few of the older ones, too, will figure in a murder mystery. Yes, indeed, they're the subjects of the serial Leslie Ford is writing for one of the current magazines. Miss Ford, who has been out here working with Adela Rogers St. John, will write this who-dun-it thriller with an M.G.M. background and all the stars figuring playing themselves. Naturally M.G.M. has dibs on picture rights, should it turn out to be good movie material.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at Random: Chico Marx, who has been ailing in the east, cancelled his engagement at Boston . . . Fannie Brice will be a grandmother for the second time any minute now. Her daughter, Mrs. Ray Stark, is expecting the stork . . . Mrs. Oscar Homolka, who recently divorced her husband, plans to have a career as a professional photographer . . . Martha Raye has been set at work at Slapsy Maxie's following their current show. Martha, who is divorcing Nick Condos, wants to keep her baby. Well, a child should be with its mother . . . That cute little Lina Romay a twosome with Tony Martin at Henri's; glimpsed all in evening at Peggy Cleary's "Talk of The Town" were Ava Gardner with her good friend Howard Hughes, and Margot Graham with an attentive escort . . . The major studios will observe Thomas Edison's birthday in February with a centennial celebration . . . Tyrone Power believes that Jean Peters, the Ciderella who plays Catana opposite him in "Captain From Castile", will be the screen's next sensation. Tyrone says she is entirely different from any actress on the screen. Jean plans to return to college to get her degree after she finishes her picture. Wonder if she will do it if she clicks as everyone believes . . . Stirling Hayden has taken up residence in his dressing room at Paramount a la Victor Mature. That's because Stirling spends all of his time on his yacht when he isn't actually working . . . Congratulations to Joe Alvin on his new job as Donald Nelson's assistant with the society of independent motion picture producers . . . Now it's Nancy Guild and Steve Cochran who are keeping dates . . . Heaven help us! Columbia's going to do "The Wreck of the Hesperus"—honest! I remember reciting it at school before any of you were born—and was I good, and was the class and the teacher a wreck . . . Arthur Lubin, director of "New Orleans" hosting the principals, Dorothy Patrick and Arturo de Cordova at luncheon at the Savoy. That's all today.

Three Drivers Forfeit $19.35 Bonds

Three drivers forfeited bonds totaling $19.35 Monday when they failed to appear in Trial Magistrates court for hearings on motor vehicle violations.

Robert L. Zeller, RFD 5, this city, was arrested Saturday for reckless driving on Route 40 near LaVale. Kenneth S. Hopwood, 465 Centre street, was arrested Saturday for exceeding the 30-mile per hour speed limit in LaVale and Edward C. Moore, Lonaconing, was arrested October 19, for exceeding 30 miles per hour on Route 40 in LaVale.

Each man had posted a $6.45 bond for the hearings. Trooper H. S. Holsinger, Maryland State Police, made the arrests.

Local Man Acquitted On 16 Parking Charges

Charged with 18 parking violations, Michael D. Reinhart, local insurance and real estate dealer, was fined $4 on three of the counts and acquitted on the rest.

Magistrate Frank A. Perdew fined Reinhart $1 for overtime parking as indicated by a meter, and $2 for as many violations in prohibited areas. The other dollar was for the warrant served on Reinhart last week by Officer Fred Daum.

The remaining 16 charges were for parking in areas reserve for a physician, and Charles Z. Heskett, city attorney, indicated yesterday that the reservation of parking space for a special group of professional men would not hold in court action. In view of the opinion Magistrate Perdew did not fine Reinhart for the 16 tickets given for parking in the restricted area.

He's already put his name to a ticket for Jack Warner, but Mike has his eye on Virginia Mayo and Dana Andrews, and after you see "The Best Years of Our Lives" you'll know why. Dana is excellent, and Virginia Mayo, who I always considered just a pretty girl, comes through with a performance that will really rate her attention. Well, to make a long story short, Mike wants Dana and Virginia for "The Unsuspected" his first picture at Warners. These two with Claude Rains would really give Mike a good start. "The Unsuspected" is one of the best murder mysteries I've read.

Can you imagine June Allyson being the nemesis in anyone's life? Junie, who is as wholesome as a lollypop both on and off the screen, will do a right-about-face as the "The Blonde" in her next picture called "Virtuous", playing the role of the girl who causes a lot of trouble for an author who hates blondes. She's really hepped up about this role because, like most actresses, she wants a fling in something different from her usual movie menu. Albert Belch wrote the story which is next on the list for Mrs. Dick Powell.

The famous annual Macy parade on Thanksgiving Day in New York will be in the movies. What's more, there will be a really Hollywood Santa Claus in the person of Actor Edmund Gwenn. This is the first time a Hollywood character has led this procession, but this is for the movie "My Heart Tells Me" and will be photographed with 10 hidden cameras. Gwenn plays Kris Kringle, a man who has a mental fixation that he is Santa Claus. The shooting will be done in a manner similar to the scenes Paramount took of "Lost Weekend" in the Bellevue Hospital.

Chatter In Hollywood: Bill Perlberg, who is producing "Forever Amber" by Kathleen Winsor Shaw, says he would like to do the life of Artie Shaw as a sequel. Ain't bad, Bill! "There's more romance," says Bill, "in Shaw's life than Amber's, and just think of the names that could assembled in the original cast—what glamor—Lana Turner, Ava Gardner, Betty Kern, Kathleen Winsor—just to name a few."

You think producers don't pay much attention to the fans? Don't you believe it—as the man growls on the radio. MGM got such a kick-back and kick-up when Van Johnson dies in "High Barbaree" that they're reshooting the ending following a sneak preview a couple of nights ago. The new ending pumps breath back into Van who, himself, specializes in leaving 'em breathless. And speaking of "High Barbaree". Jack Conway, who directed takes over the same job when the "Hucksters" gets going this month.

Lana Turner, Van Johnson, Peter Lawford, Tom Drake and all the top young actors, and a few of the older ones, too, will figure in a murder mystery. Yes, indeed, they're the subjects of the serial Leslie Ford is writing for one of the current magazines. Miss Ford, who has been out here working with Adela Rogers St. John, will write this who-dun-it thriller with an M.G.M. background and all the stars figuring playing themselves. Naturally M.G.M. has dibs on picture rights, should it turn out to be good movie material.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at Random: Chico Marx, who has been ailing in the east, cancelled his engagement at Boston . . . Fannie Brice will be a grandmother for the second time any minute now. Her daughter, Mrs. Ray Stark, is expecting the stork . . Mrs. Oscar Homolka, who recently divorced her husband, plans to have a career as a professional photographer . . . Martha Raye has been set at work at Slapsy Maxie's following their current show. Martha, who is divorcing Nick Condos, wants to keep her baby. Well, a child should be with its mother . . . That cute little Lina Romay a twosome with Tony Martin at Henri's; glimpsed all in evening at Peggy Cleary's "Talk of The Town" were Ava Gardner with her good friend Howard Hughes, and Margot Graham with an attentive escort . . . The major studios will observe Thomas Edison's birthday in February with a centennial celebration . . . Tyrone Power believes that Jean Peters, the Ciderella who plays Catana opposite him in "Captain From Castile", will be the screen's next sensation. Tyrone says she is entirely different from any actress on the screen. Jean plans to return to college to get her degree after she finishes her picture. Wonder if she will do it if she clicks as everyone believes . . . Stirling Hayden has taken up residence in his dressing room at Paramount a la Victor Mature. That's because Stirling spends all of his time on his yacht when he isn't actually working . . . Congratulations to Joe Alvin on his new job as Donald Nelson's assistant with the society of independent motion picture producers . . . Now it's Nancy Guild and Steve Cochran who are keeping dates . . . Heaven help us! Columbia's going to do "The Wreck of the Hesperus"—honest! I remember reciting it at school before any of you were born—and was I good, and was the class and the teacher a wreck . . . Arthur Lubin, director of "New Orleans" hosting the principals, Dorothy Patrick and Arturo de Cordova at luncheon at the Savoy. That's all today.

Three Drivers Forfeit $19.35 Bonds

Three drivers forfeited bonds totaling $19.35 Monday when they failed to appear in Trial Magistrates court for hearings on motor vehicle violations.

Robert L. Zeller, RFD 5, this city, was arrested Saturday for reckless driving on Route 40 near LaVale. Kenneth S. Hopwood, 465 Centre street, was arrested Saturday for exceeding the 30-mile per hour speed limit in LaVale and Edward C. Moore, Lonaconing, was arrested October 19, for exceeding 30 miles per hour on Route 40 in LaVale.

Each man had posted a $6.45 bond for the hearings. Trooper H. S. Holsinger, Maryland State Police, made the arrests.

Local Man Acquitted On 16 Parking Charges

Charged with 18 parking violations, Michael D. Reinhart, local insurance and real estate dealer, was fined $4 on three of the counts and acquitted on the rest.

Magistrate Frank A. Perdew fined Reinhart $1 for overtime parking as indicated by a meter, and $2 for as many violations in prohibited areas. The other dollar was for the warrant served on Reinhart last week by Officer Fred Daum.

The remaining 16 charges were for parking in areas reserve for a physician, and Charles Z. Heskett, city attorney, indicated yesterday that the reservation of parking space for a special group of professional men would not hold in court action. In view of the opinion Magistrate Perdew did not fine Reinhart for the 16 tickets given for parking in the restricted area.

Local Man Treated For Knife Injuries

Robert Willison, 41, 622 Baltimore avenue, was treated Monday night in Allegany Hospital for injuries suffered, he told attaches, when he was attacked with a butcher knife during an argument.

State Investigating "Runaway" Car Accident

An investigation that is being continued, shows, so far, that there is no criminal negligence involved in the accident caused by a "runaway" car that knocked a B. and O. crossing watchman against a freight engine and caused his death early Sunday morning.

The car a 1946 Plymouth convertible coupe, is owned by Wilbur M. Buchanan, Prospect Square, and was parked on Baltimore avenue near the Hafer Funeral Home prior to the time it started down Baltimore avenue and struck Edward W. Valentine, 59, 68 Cresap street, while he was on duty at the Baltimore crossing.

At an inquiry yesterday in the office of State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris, Buchannan is reported to have said the engine of the car was off and the vehicle in gear with the brake on, when he left and the keys were in his pocket.

Harris said that the statements made did not indicate that any children had been tampering with the car, but said more witnesses will be questioned before the case is closed.

Local Man Treated For Knife Injuries

Robert Willison, 41, 622 Baltimore avenue, was treated Monday night in Allegany Hospital for injuries suffered, he told attaches, when he was attacked with a butcher knife during an argument.

State Investigating "Runaway" Car Accident

An investigation that is being continued, shows, so far, that there is no criminal negligence involved in the accident caused by a "runaway" car that knocked a B. and O. crossing watchman against a freight engine and caused his death early Sunday morning.

The car a 1946 Plymouth convertible coupe, is owned by Wilbur M. Buchanan, Prospect Square, and was parked on Baltimore avenue near the Hafer Funeral Home prior to the time it started down Baltimore avenue and struck Edward W. Valentine, 59, 68 Cresap street, while he was on duty at the Baltimore crossing.

At an inquiry yesterday in the office of State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris, Buchannan is reported to have said the engine of the car was off and the vehicle in gear with the brake on, when he left and the keys were in his pocket.

Harris said that the statements made did not indicate that any children had been tampering with the car, but said more witnesses will be questioned before the case is closed.

Bruce And Beall Clash For Soccer Title

Allegany County Title Is At Stake In Contest Today

Soccer teams of Beall High School, Frostburg, and Bruce High School, Westernport, will meet at 3:30 o'clock in the most important game of the Western Maryland Interscholastic League season.

Barring upsets in the final games of the league campaign on Friday, the outcome of today's game will determine the county championship.

Today's game will be played at Frostburg State Teachers' College field and is expected to attract the largest crowd of the scholastic soccer season. Ray Middleton, of Frostburg, will officiate.

Battled To 2-2 Draw

Beall, which already has qualified for the state Class "A" championship tournament, battled Bruce to a 2-2 deadlock in their first meeting October 15 in Westernport.

At the present time Beall and Bruce are tied for first place in the five-team county circuit, each team having won five and tied one. Beall has rolled up 30 points, an average of five goals a game, while limiting the opposition to five tallies. Bruce has scored 14 points against six opponents while holding opposing teams to four goals.

To qualify for the state Class "C" championship tournament, Bruce must defeat Central, of Lonaconing, at Westernport, Friday. Bruce already holds a 3-1 decision over the Orange and Black.

Class D Teams Clash

In another contest on tap for today, Agricultural High School will play host to Barton at Flintstone at 3:30 o'clock. Flintstone won the opener of this series, 2-1, and a victory today would qualify Coach Saylor's eleven as Allegany county's representative in the state Class "D" championship tournament. A Barton victory would necessitate a playoff between the teams.

Pos.	BRUCE	BEALL

Penn State Aids California Team

KEYSER, W. Va., Nov. 5.—When the California (Pa.) Teachers College football team comes here Saturday afternoon to tangle with the Potomac State Catamounts at 2 p. m. on Stayman Field it will not be an ordinary minor college eleven.

The California squad is rated better than the Penn State squad that dumped Fordham 68-0 last Saturday. In fact, California's team is composed of an overflow of Penn State gridders.

It seems that Penn State found itself with more students than the school could handle so students were distributed among other colleges throughout the State of Pennsylvania to study until room for them could be found. The excess football material was shifted to California, Pa., along with three topnotch Penn State coaches. Several of the California boys would be playing varsity ball at Penn State this year if they had a year's training in Penn State gridiron strategy.

The coaching staff comprises Earl Bruce, head mentor, and a regular coach at Penn State, and Ted Nemeth, another Nittany Lion regular. A third man from Penn State is Eugene Hester, another Teacher assistant. This coaching staff, says California's student publication, "Hammer and Tongs," is here for an indefinite stay. In letters to sportscasters and sports writers, California's publicity agent claims that the California team is a "farm" for the Penn State team.

Padgett was taken to Maryland General Hospital where he was reported to have suffered back and chest injuries, the seriousness of which could not be determined immediately.

With substitute Jockey T. Sullivan taking Padgett's place, Galaxy, owned by M. Gilbert, finished third in the race, won by Brookmead Stable's Phantasy, with Bomar Stable's Green Shed in the place position.

WINS IN LONDON—Joe Baksi, Kulpmont, Pa., heavyweight, stopped Freddie Mills, British light-heavyweight champion, in the sixth round of their scheduled 10-round bout yesterday at London, England. Mills' seconds tossed in the sponge when Freddie was bleeding badly from both eyes and Baksi was backing him about the ring.

Frostburg Wins Opening Indoor Shooting Match

Turning in a team total of 857 points, Frostburg's Rifle Club won the first gallery rifle match of the 1946-47 winter season in the Western Maryland Rifle and Pistol League Sunday on the indoor range of the Cold Spring Rifle Club at Luke, Md.

High individual honors were carried off by Dewey Barnes, of Barton, with a total of 185. Harry Morgan, of Frostburg, placed second with 181 and Frank Simpson, of Fort Hill, was in third position with 178.

The course of fire consisted of 10 shots from the prone position and 10 shots from the standing position at a distance of 50 feet, giving a total possible score of 200. Twenty-two caliber rifles with iron sights were used. The scores:

Navy Gridders Point For Georgia Tech Game

He said that there was some improvement in the physical condition of the team which had suffered heavy casualties in Saturday's game with Notre Dame.

Seconds Toss In Sponge After Freddie Mills Takes Bad Beating

LONDON, Nov. 5 (AP) — American Heavyweight Joe Baksi, slashing with both hands, won a technical knockout at the end of six rounds tonight over British Light Heavyweight Champion Freddie Mills.

Mills was bleeding badly from both eyes when his seconds pitched in the sponge after six stanzas of the scheduled ten round bout.

At the end of the fight, Baksi, whose face was unscarred, was as cool as when he started.

An underdog in the betting and outweighed by more than 27 pounds, the English champion was credited by the Associated Press score card with winning only the first round.

By the end of three rounds both Mills' eyes were bleeding and the Englishman was on the run as Baksi backed him about the ring.

Army Will Pin Hopes On Eight Backfield Men

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 5—(AP)—Army's football team, somewhat weary after playing under pressure every week since the beginning of the season in September, will have to pin its hopes on eight backs in its all-important game with Notre Dame in New York's Yankee Stadium Saturday.

Before sending his squad out for its first scrimmage in two weeks, Coach Earl Blaik said today that he would alternate two comparatively light backs, Elwyn (Ripper) Rowan and Bill West, in place of the injured Herschel Fuson. Which one will start the game depends largely upon the showing made in this week's drills and whether a Army kicks off or receives.

Leahy Places Lujack Above Angelo Bertelli

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 5 (AP)—Johnny Lujack, the boy they fitted with Angelo Bertelli's man-size shoes, is a better football player than the matchless guy he succeeded, in the judgment of the man who coached 'em both. That may sound like ordering the pie-a-la-mode instead of the special pineapple frappe, but Frank Leahy, giving his Notre Dame team a fast carbon-and-valve job in preparation for Saturdays four star scramble with Army, made that flat statement without reservation today.

Chapman Tops Field

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 5. (AP)—Dick Chapman, U. S. amateur champion in 1940, fired a three under par 69 in the opening round of the $7,500 North and South Open golf championship here today to take a two-stroke lead with one-third of the 171 entries still out on the 6,879-yard No. 2 course.

Bucky Harris Signs 2-Year Contract To Pilot Yankees

Yearly Salary Reported To Be $35,000; Chuck Dressen Is Appointed Head Coach

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP)—Stanley (Bucky) Harris succumbed to President Larry MacPhail's financial bait today and signed a two-year contract to manage the New York Yankees at a reported $35,000 yearly salary with Chuck Dressen, late of Brooklyn, as his head coach.

Thus the "Boy Wonder" of 1924 who won a first pennant and world series for Washington in his initial year as a skipper apologetically did a complete aboutface from his earlier announced position that he was not interested in becoming a field manager."

When MacPhair signed Bucky Sept. 10 as an administrative assistant he said Harris could "in no wise be considered either a manager or prospective manager."

Larry reserved the right to change his mind and stated today he was satisfied he had "the best man for the job." Although he insisted the choice had not been made until a few days ago, the story had leaked out and was common knowledge at the time of the official release.

As Harris recently had said he might be induced to change his mind by the Bulging Yankee cash box, it was obvious that a healthy pay boost had induced the veteran skipper to turn from the executive field and again don a uniform.

In his first statement as 14th Yankee manager, Harris calmly expressed his faith in Dressen as a coach and said he would select another coach at a later date from several applicants.

"Johnny Schulte (bull pen coach under Joe McCarthy) will stay in some capacity," Harris announced. "I have many plans for improving the ball club with one master plan—to win an American League pennant for New York."

The new boss admitted he was interested in making a deal for a first baseman, outfielder and pitchers but backed up President MacPhail's statement that he had no thoughts of trading Joe DiMaggio.

"DiMaggio will play center field for the Yanks," Harris grinned, "you can be sure we will make deals only, and you can underscore only, when we believe they will be for the benefit of the Yankees."

$25,000 Won By Assault Is Donated To Hospital

BALTIMORE, Nov. 5 (AP) — Henry A. Parr, 3rd., president of the Maryland Jockey Club, announced today that the owners of King Ranch's Assault, winner of the Pimlico Special, had donated the $25,000 purse to Johns Hopkins Hospital as a memorial to their sister.

Assault won the Special by six lengths last Friday from Mrs. Ethel D. Jacob's Stymie. Parr's announcement said.

"Robert and Richard Kleberg, masters of King Ranch in Texas, have donated the purse of the $25,000-winner-take-all Pimlico Special won by their home-bred Assault last Friday, to the Johns Hopkins Hospital as a memorial to their sister Sarah Kleberg Johnson."

TO LEAD YANKS—Stanley (Bucky) Harris, the "Boy Wonder" of 1924, who led Washington to its first pennant and world series victory, is the new manager of the New York Yankees. Harris signed a two-year contract yesterday to skipper the American League team at a reported $35,000 yearly salary. Chuck Dressen, formerly of the Dodgers, will be his head coach.

Interstate Cage Teams Must Post Forfeits Nov. 12

League Will Open Next Month; Rosters Must Be Filed Nov. 26

Teams seeking franchises in the Interstate Basketball League must post their forfeits of $50 each by Tuesday, November 12, it was decided at a meeting of the independent cage circuit last night at the Amvets Home.

It will not be known exactly how many clubs will enter the league until the next session on Tuesday, November 12 at 8 o'clock at the Amvets Home. If more than eight teams post forfeits it will be left to the officers of the league to decide on the make up of the circuit.

Team representatives at last night's meeting decided that the opening games will be played the first week in December. Team rosters must be forwarded to the secretary-treasurer by Tuesday, November 26.

The name "Interstate" was adopted at last night's meeting.

Teams represented were the Amvets, Fort Cumberland Post (Legion), Cumberland Moose, Lonaconing, Fulton Myers (Legion) and the Cumberland K. of C. Paw Paw and Westvaco called by telephone and requested that Keyser wants a franchise but the West Virginia town was not represented.

Fort Cumberland Post hopes to play its home games at the state armory, which will be available in December, it was reported.

100,000 AUSTRALIAN RACE FANS SEE RUSSIA ANNEX MELBOURNE CUP

MELBOURNE, Nov. 5—(AP)—Everything came to a standstill in Australia for about 10 minutes today while the Melbourne Cup was run.

More than 100,000 persons packed Flemington track to watch Russia, a six-year-old gelding owned by J. G. Leeds and E. Hush, romp to victory over the two-mile course. The rest of the country listened to broadcast descriptions of the race, run for 86 years on the second Tuesday in November at the track named for Melbourne Butcher Flemington.

When it was over, housewives went back to their dishes and office workers to their desks. Running of the race decided bets amounting to $5,000,000 and cured until next year what Australians call "cup fever"—a public condition for which there is no camparison except the pregame Army-Notre Dame frenzy in the United States.

MIAMI OBJECTS TO NEGROES, PENN STATE CALLS OFF GAME

Nevada-Mississippi State Game Also Cancelled For Same Reason

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Nov. 5 (AP)—Pennsylvania State College today cancelled a Nov. 29 football game with the University of Miami after the Florida institution asked that the game be called off to avoid "unfortunate incidents" which might arise if Penn State played two Negro members of the team.

Dr. Carl P. Schott, dean of physical education and athletics at Penn State, said cancellation followed month-long correspondence between the schools and was in keeping with "the policy of the college to compete only under circumstances which will permit the playing of any or all members of its athletic teams."

It was the second time in two days that a college football game had been called off because of Negro participants.

Nevada University yesterday cancelled its Nov. 16 game with Mississippi State at Starkville, Miss., after the southern school stated playing of Negro against white players was traditionally banned in the South and that Mississippi State "would not violate that tradition."

Nevada officials said the western school would not play unless its two Negro stars were allowed to participate.

Earlier, Negroes who played for Fresno State of California sat on a bench when the team met at Oklahoma City University. Mose Sims, athletic director at OCU, said the teams had reached an agreement whereby Negroes would not play in Oklahoma City but could participate if the teams met at Fresno.

Dr. Bowman P. Ashe, president of Miami, announced he had written the Pennsylvania school asking the game scheduled for Miami Nov. 29 be cancelled to avoid "unfortunate incidents."

"Probably the best thing to do," wrote Dr. Ashe, "would be for each of us to seek another opponent and not catapult very important not well-understood inter-racial problems into a football game."

In a statement, Dr. Schott reported:

"We recently advised the University of Miami that the colored boys are regular members of the Penn State football squad x x x. The officials of Miami advised us that it would be difficult for them to carry out arrangements for the game under these circumstances."

The Negro players are Wallace Triplett III and Dennie Hoggard, both of Philadelphia. Triplett, a varsity member for the second year, has been one of the team's best offensive stars at wingback. Hoggard is a reserve end and war veteran.

WEST VIRGINIA STOPS HUNTING TODAY DUE TO FOREST FIRE HAZARD

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 5 (AP)—Conservation Director Jack Shipman tonight suspended hunting seasons until further notice "because of the extreme forest fire hazard existing at this time."

Shipman said he would consider the possibility of extending the seasons at their end to make up for the time missed now.

Conservation officials said 85 new forest fires were reported during the day, and State Forester R. O. Bowen said that unless drenching rains come soon, the acreage destruction may reach record proportions.

Seasons are now open on squirrel, grouse and turkey. Shipman said he hopes to reopen the hunting before the start of other seasons on November 11.

Unknown Scores Upset, Beats Geoffrey Brown

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 5—(AP)—Geoffrey Brown, who was the runnerup at Wimbledon last summer, was eliminated from the New South Wales tennis tourney today by an unknown, Jim Gilchrist, in the second round.

The tourney is looked upon as a conditioner for the Australian Davis Cup team, which must defend the international trophy against the challenge of the U. S. forces next month.

Gilchrist outlasted Brown, 7-5, 3-6, 2-6, 9-7, 6-2, while other members of the Australian cup team triumphed in straight set victories.

Soccer teams of Beall High School, Frostburg, and Bruce High School, Westernport, will meet at 2:30 o'clock in the most important game of the Western Maryland Interscholastic League season.

Barring upsets in the final games of the league campaign on Friday, the outcome of today's game will determine the county championship.

Today's game will be played at Frostburg State Teachers' College field and is expected to attract the largest crowd of the scholastic soccer season. Ray Middleton, of Frostburg, will officiate.

Battled To 2-2 Draw

Beall, which already has qualified for the state Class "A" championship tournament, battled Bruce to a 2-2 deadlock in their first meeting October 15 in Westernport.

At the present time Beall and Bruce are tied for first place in the five-team county circuit, each team having won five and tied one. Beall has rolled up 30 points, an average of five goals a game, while limiting the opposition to five tallies. Bruce has scored 14 points against six opponents while holding opposing teams to four goals.

To qualify for the state Class "C" championship tournament, Bruce must defeat Central, of Lonaconing, at Westernport, Friday. Bruce already holds a 3-1 decision over the Orange and Black.

Class D Teams Clash

In another contest on tap for today, Agricultural High School will play host to Barton at Flintstone at 3:30 o'clock. Flintstone won the opener of this series, 2-1, and a victory today would qualify Coach Saylor's eleven as Allegany county's representative in the state Class "D" championship tournament. A Barton victory would necessitate a playoff between the teams.

Penn State Aids California Team

KEYSER, W. Va., Nov. 5.—When the California (Pa.) Teachers College football team comes here Saturday afternoon to tangle with the Potomac State Catamounts at 2 p. m. on Stayman Field it will not be an ordinary minor college eleven.

The California squad is rated better than the Penn State squad that dumped Fordham 68-0 last Saturday. In fact, California's team is composed of an overflow of Penn State gridders.

It seems that Penn State found itself with more students than the school could handle so students were distributed among other colleges throughout the State of Pennsylvania to study until room for them could be found. The excess football material was shifted to California, Pa., along with three topnotch Penn State coaches. Several of the California boys would be playing varsity ball at Penn State this year if they had a year's training in Penn State gridiron strategy.

The coaching staff comprises Earl Bruce, head mentor, and a regular coach at Penn State, and Ted Nemeth, another Nittany Lion regular. A third man from Penn State is Eugene Hester, another Teacher assistant. This coaching staff, says California's student publication, "Hammer and Tongs," is here for an indefinite stay. In letters to sportscasters and sports writers, California's publicity agent claims that the California team is a "farm" for the Penn State team.

Padgett was taken to Maryland General Hospital where he was reported to have suffered back and chest injuries, the seriousness of which could not be determined immediately.

With substitute Jockey T. Sullivan taking Padgett's place, Galaxy, owned by M. Gilbert, finished third in the race, won by Brookmead Stable's Phantasy, with Bomar Stable's Green Shed in the place position.

WINS IN LONDON—Joe Baksi, Kulpmont, Pa., heavyweight, stopped Freddie Mills, British light-heavyweight champion, in the sixth round of their scheduled 10-round bout yesterday at London, England. Mills' seconds tossed in the sponge when Freddie was bleeding badly from both eyes and Baksi was backing him about the ring.

Frostburg Wins Opening Indoor Shooting Match

Turning in a team total of 857 points, Frostburg's Rifle Club won the first gallery rifle match of the 1946-47 winter season in the Western Maryland Rifle and Pistol League Sunday on the indoor range of the Cold Spring Rifle Club at Luke, Md.

High individual honors were carried off by Dewey Barnes, of Barton, with a total of 185. Harry Morgan, of Frostburg, placed second with 181 and Frank Simpson, of Fort Hill, was in third position with 178.

The course of fire consisted of 10 shots from the prone position and 10 shots from the standing position at a distance of 50 feet, giving a total possible score of 200. Twenty-two caliber rifles with iron sights were used. The scores:

Navy Gridders Point For Georgia Tech Game

He said that there was some improvement in the physical condition of the team which had suffered heavy casualties in Saturday's game with Notre Dame.

Seconds Toss In Sponge After Freddie Mills Takes Bad Beating

LONDON, Nov. 5 (AP) — American Heavyweight Joe Baksi, slashing with both hands, won a technical knockout at the end of six rounds tonight over British Light Heavyweight Champion Freddie Mills.

Mills was bleeding badly from both eyes when his seconds pitched in the sponge after six stanzas of the scheduled ten round bout.

Baksi weighed 211½, Mills 184.

At the end of the fight, Baksi, whose face was unscarred, was as cool as when he started.

An underdog in the betting and outweighed by more than 27 pounds, the English champion was credited by the Associated Press score card with winning only the first round.

Baksi came out fighting but Mills kept him at bay with a pushing left in close quarters and landed one corking right that had felled Mills' earlier opponents from Britain and the continent.

By the end of three rounds both Mills' eyes were bleeding and the Englishman was on the run as Baksi backed him about the ring.

Army Will Pin Hopes On Eight Backfield Men

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 5—(AP)—Army's football team, somewhat weary after playing under pressure every week since the beginning of the season in September, will have to pin its hopes on eight backs in its all-important game with Notre Dame in New York's Yankee Stadium Saturday.

Before sending his squad out for its first scrimmage in two weeks, Coach Earl Blaik said today that he would alternate two comparatively light backs, Elwyn (Ripper) Rowan and Bill West, in place of the injured Herschel Fuson. Which one will start the game depends largely upon the showing made in this week's drills and whether a Army kicks off or receives.

Leahy Places Lujack Above Angelo Bertelli

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 5 (AP)—Johnny Lujack, the boy they fitted with Angelo Bertelli's man-size shoes, is a better football player than the matchless guy he succeeded, in the judgment of the man who coached 'em both. That may sound like ordering the pie-a-la-mode instead of the special pineapple frappe, but Frank Leahy, giving his Notre Dame team a fast carbon-and-valve job in preparation for Saturdays four star scramble with Army, made that flat statement without reservation today.

Chapman Tops Field

PINEHURST N. C., Nov. 5. (AP)—Dick Chapman, U. S. amateur champion in 1940, fired a three under par 69 in the opening round of the $7,500 North and South Open golf championship here today to take a two-stroke lead with one-third of the 171 entries still out on the 6,879-yard No. 2 course.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 5 (AP)—Conservation Director Jack Shipman tonight suspended hunting seasons until further notice "because of the extreme forest fire hazard existing at this time."

Shipman said he would consider the possibility of extending the seasons at their end to make up for the time missed now.

Conservation officials said 85 new forest fires were reported during the day, and State Forester R. O. Bowen said that unless drenching rains come soon, the acreage destruction may reach record proportions.

Seasons are now open on squirrel, grouse and turkey. Shipman said he hopes to reopen the hunting before the start of other seasons on November 11.

Unknown Scores Upset, Beats Geoffrey Brown

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 5—(AP)—Geoffrey Brown, who was the runnerup at Wimbledon last summer, was eliminated from the New South Wales tennis tourney today by an unknown, Jim Gilchrist, in the second round.

The tourney is looked upon as a conditioner for the Australian Davis Cup team, which must defend the international trophy against the challenge of the U. S. forces next month.

Gilchrist outlasted Brown, 7-5, 3-6, 2-6, 9-7, 6-2, while other members of the Australian cup team triumphed in straight set victories.

Toledo Seeks Opponent For Glass Bowl Game

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 5—(AP)—Dave Connelly, athletic director of the University of Toledo, said today that he mailed letters to seven schools to determine whether they would be interested in meeting the Toledo Rockets in a Glass Bowl game here December 7.

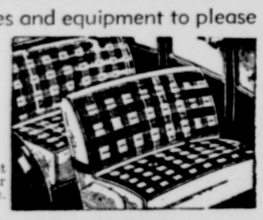

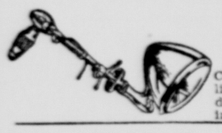

Four undefeated teams were on the mailing list. They were University of Delaware, Hardin-Simmons of Abilene, Tex., Muhlenberg and Bates College of Lewiston, Me. Others were the University of Chattanooga, Guilford College of Greensboro, N. C., and University of New Hampshire.

While over 13,000 people in Cardiff, Wales, await municipal houses, only 51 "permanents" and 150 "prefabs" have been built.

Election Over; Networks Back On Regular Schedule

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Now that the election will be over by Wednesday, the networks figure that outside of the regular commentaries and news spots, they can get back to their regular scheduling.

As one point they point out, or CBS does that Jean Hersholt is to observe at 8:30 his tenth anniversary as radio's Dr. Christian. He will observe the occasion with a drama "To All Men," with a supernatural touch.

There's another CBS development, involving Jimmy Durante. He'll do an extra broadcast by guesting with Frank Sinatra at 9. No indication whether he's going to set himself up as a singing competitor of Frankie.

An MBS special for 3:30, originating at Cleveland in connection with the first postwar national conference of the Camp Fire Girls, there will be a discussion of "Youth's Responsibility in the Community" by eight teenagers. . . And speaking of the teenage situation, the It's Up to Youth forum of MBS at 8:30 also is originate at Cleveland.

More in the way of the Bing Crosby recorded show makes its appearance on the ABC schedule at 10, a feature element to be the trumpeting of Rafael Mendez. . . District Attorney gets around to "The Case of Before and After" for NBC at 9:30. . . Snooky Lanson is being continued on the 12:05 late night list of NBC, his program originating from WSM, Nashville.

Court Awards Parents Custody Of Own Child

Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge Walter C. Capper, granted the petition of Mrs. Weisenmiller, and she and her husband Paul W. Weisenmiller were reconciled in the court room. The wife had filed the petition against hre husband and his parents, Paul C. Weisenmiller, and Mrs. Lillian Weisenmiller, 362 Bedford street, claiming her husband took the little girl to the home of his parents, in September, when she went to a local hospital to give birth to her second child.

Later, the petitioner said, she went to the home of her parents-in-law, but they refused to give up the girl, aserting Mrs. Weisenmiller was in poor health and unable to take care of both children. The petitioner said she letf her husband's home because he wolud not return the child to her from his parents' home. The couple was reconciled, however, during the hearing in court.

Election Over; Networks Back On Regular Schedule

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Now that the election will be over by Wednesday, the networks figure that outside of the regular commentaries and news spots, they can get back to their regular scheduling.

As one point they point out, or CBS does that Jean Hersholt is to observe at 8:30 his tenth anniversary as radio's Dr. Christian. He will observe the occasion with a drama "To All Men," with a supernatural touch.

There's another CBS development, involving Jimmy Durante. He'll do an extra broadcast by guesting with Frank Sinatra at 9. No indication whether he's going to set himself up as a singing competitor of Frankie.

An MBS special for 3:30, originating at Cleveland in connection with the first postwar national conference of the Camp Fire Girls, there will be a discussion of "Youth's Responsibility in the Community" by eight teenagers. . . And speaking of the teenage situation, the It's Up to Youth forum of MBS at 8:30 also is originate at Cleveland.

More in the way of the Bing Crosby recorded show makes its appearance on the ABC schedule at 10, a feature element to be the trumpeting of Rafael Mendez. . . District Attorney gets around to "The Case of Before and After" for NBC at 9:30. . . Snooky Lanson is being continued on the 12:05 late night list of NBC, his program originating from WSM, Nashville.

Court Awards Parents Custody Of Own Child

Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge Walter C. Capper, granted the petition of Mrs. Weisenmiller, and she and her husband Paul W. Weisenmiller were reconciled in the court room. The wife had filed the petition against hre husband and his parents, Paul C. Weisenmiller, and Mrs. Lillian Weisenmiller, 362 Bedford street, claiming her husband took the little girl to the home of his parents, in September, when she went to a local hospital to give birth to her second child.

Later, the petitioner said, she went to the home of her parents-in-law, but they refused to give up the girl, aserting Mrs. Weisenmiller was in poor health and unable to take care of both children. The petitioner said she letf her husband's home because he wolud not return the child to her from his parents' home. The couple was reconciled, however, during the hearing in court.

University Sponsors Smokeless Furnace

CHAMPAIGN, Ill (AP)—One of the prize products of the University of Illinois laboratories and research houses—the Illinois smokeless furnace—is expected to be marketed by licensed manufacturers next year. It is designed to burn any soft coal without smoke and to reduce fuel consumption as much as thirty percent.

The fire pot has two sections — an outer chamber for fresh coal and an inner chamber for coals that already are burning. Projecting down between them to a point halfway between the top and bottom of the fire pot is a hollow baffle wall.

The coal is shoveled into the down-sloped outer chamber. A down-draft, controlled by a damper in the door, carries the smoke and gases under the baffle, they mix with additional air coming down through the passage in the baffle wall, and they pass through the glowing fuel bed and burn.

The furnace, says the university, "is the first major improvement in hand-fired fuel burning for home heating since 1740, when Benjamin Franklin invented the stove."

Eire Plans Ocean Air Service In March

DUBLIN—(AP)—Eire's first transatlantic air service proposes to start operations in March with one round trip weekly between New York and Dublin with Lockheed Constellations. Additional services to the continent also are planned.

The new service will be a subsidiary of Aer Lingus, government organization.

Officials said reconstruction is now underway at the Collingstown (Dublin) airport and at Rineanna, and that advertisements for skilled personnel have been placed. Preference will be given to men from the Irish Defense Services.

University Sponsors Smokeless Furnace

CHAMPAIGN, Ill (AP)—One of the prize products of the University of Illinois laboratories and research houses—the Illinois smokeless furnace—is expected to be marketed by licensed manufacturers next year. It is designed to burn any soft coal without smoke and to reduce fuel consumption as much as thirty percent.

The principal features are these:

The fire pot has two sections — an outer chamber for fresh coal and an inner chamber for coals that already are burning. Projecting down between them to a point halfway between the top and bottom of the fire pot is a hollow baffle wall.

The coal is shoveled into the down-sloped outer chamber. A down-draft, controlled by a damper in the door, carries the smoke and gases under the baffle, they mix with additional air coming down through the passage in the baffle wall, and they pass through the glowing fuel bed and burn.

The furnace, says the university, "is the first major improvement in hand-fired fuel burning for home heating since 1740, when Benjamin Franklin invented the stove."

Eire Plans Ocean Air Service In March

DUBLIN—(AP)—Eire's first transatlantic air service proposes to start operations in March with one round trip weekly between New York and Dublin with Lockheed Constellations. Additional services to the continent also are planned.

The new service will be a subsidiary of Aer Lingus, government organization.

Officials said reconstruction is now underway at the Collingstown (Dublin) airport and at Rineanna, and that advertisements for skilled personnel have been placed. Preference will be given to men from the Irish Defense Services.

Republicans Are Leading In Allegany County

O'Conor Giving Markey Close Race For Senate

Rep. J. Glenn Beall Is Running Way Ahead Of Arch McDonald For Re-election To Congress

GOP Candidates Hold Commanding Leads For County Offices; Voting Is Unusually Heavy

Returns from one third of the county's polling places, early this morning, showed Democratic candidates running better than they have in many elections, in this normally strong Republican county. With the exception of J. Glenn Beall, of Frostburg, candidate on the GOP ticket for Congress, the contest loomed much closer than had been anticipated in most Republican quarters, and was not in keeping with the trend elsewhere.

Theodore R. McKeldin, Republican candidate for Governor, led his Democratic opponent in this county by only 447 votes in 24 precincts. McKeldin polled 2,829 and Lane 2,382.

The closest contest in the county was evidenced in returns from 23 precincts showing David John Markey, GOP candidate for United States Senate only 29 votes ahead of his Democratic opponent Herbert R. O'Conor. In these 23 precincts, representing all sections of the county, Markey polled 2,399 votes and O'Conor 2,370. As returns came in, first Markey would be ahead and then O'Conor. Almost every other precinct return received during the night changed the standing of these two contestants in the United States Senatorial race here in Allegany county.

Beall Leads Ticket

J. Glenn Beall, lead the entire ticket in this county in 23 precincts, with a total vote of 2,886, against 1,811 polled by his opponent, Arch McDonald, Democrat. In this one-third report for the county, Beall's margin was believed safe, and with the excellent vote from other counties in the district, his re-election was assured.

Alexander T. Grier, Republican candidate for state comptroller polled 2,290, while his opponent, termed "the vote getter of the Democratic ticket," James J. Lacy was trailing in 23 precincts here with 2,066. This was a margin of 224 votes for Grier.

George Cochran Doub, a native of this city, Republican candidate for attorney general, polled 2,638, against 1,780 for Hall Hammond, Baltimore Democrat, giving him a margin of 858 in 22 precincts reporting.

At 4 a. m. this morning, returns from this and neighboring counties were still slow in coming in. The long ballot and a heavy vote prolonged the counting, election officials declared. It has been many years, they said, since returns were so slow in being tabulated.

In the 24 precincts reporting the gubernatorial contest by 4 a. m. today, there are 10,910 registered voters. Of this number, a total of 5,211 cast ballots, indicating about a 50 percent vote.

Since the smaller precincts were being reported first, and since telephone reports indicated record votes in some sections, it was indicated the total vote in this county would be close to 55 percent, when completely tabulated.

On the basis of early returns, it was indicated the Republicans had carried the county in nearly all instances, but the margin was much too close for comfort in a county that has a book majority of 5,600 Republican leaders contend.

Republican candidates were on their way early this morning to making another clean sweep of all Allegany County election contests on the basis of unofficial returns from 18 of the county's 75 polling places.

GOP standard bearers appeared to be piling up sizeable majorities over their Democratic opponents, and Republican office seekers who had no opposition in the balloting were receiving a flattering number of votes of confidence.

Cesnick Running Well

Incumbent Republican Charles M. See was leading the House of Delegates race with 2,179 votes and he was closely followed by incumbent Republican Lester B. Reed with 2,170 votes.

Noel Speir Cook, Republican attorney, was in third place with 2,150 votes, followed by John T. Fey, Republican, with 2,108, Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., Republican, with 1,988, Geppert with 1,872, Cesnick with 1,317 and Alexander "Pop" Nicol, a Democrat, with 1,247. Six of the eight candidates are to be elected.

Democrat Register of Wills Thomas E. Stakem, seeking to return to that office, polled 1,313 votes, but he trailed Republican A. Charles Stewart, Frostburg, who received a vote of 2,084. His lead was 771.

William H. Lemmert, Frostburg Republican, seeking election to the Board of County Commissioners, was leading the ticket in that race with 2,552 votes. Incumbent Republican Charles N. Wilkinson, Jr.,

Election Day Sidelights

Thirsty Cumberlanders crowded the bars last night as they opened at 8 o'clock after being closed since midnight Monday, under state law, which forbids the sale of intoxicants during the voting hours.

Most local bars reported big crowds waiting to be admitted as the doors were opened one hour after the polling places closed, and many patrons indicated they would await the returns of local voting at the bars at least until midnight when the bars will close after a short day of business.

No trouble was reported by city police who termed it one of the quietest election days in their memories, while polling judges were reporting one of the heaviest votes in a number of years. One reason given for the exceptionally heavy vote in the county was the number of returned servicemen who were absent during the last few elections, and of course the very favorable weather.

Local political observers and enthusiasts were not wanting in the way of humor during the activities yesterday. One person in Lonaconing working to get the vote out for his particular ticket, reported that a lady, apparently a registered Democrat, called and asked if a car would call for her. "The Democrats know I'm going to vote for the Republican ticket and won't come for me," she informed them.

Upon being informed that a large Democratic vote was cast in one precinct, a politico was quick to quip, "Were they the loyal ones?"

Newspaper reporters, who always sweat out the returns and are anxious to hear the first precincts make their reports, experienced an unusually slow period in the early part of the evening with the first returns coming in well after 9 o'clock.

But one polling place did throw a ray of hope on the situation, when a worker called to report the vote, and went about it in an unusual way. "Here are the results," he informed the reporter, as he gave the number of votes, and "here is what you have been waiting for," he said as the reporter grabbed his pencil and made ready to jot down the numbers. "There were 292 votes with the largest number being women. Looks like the Republicans are in."

In one locality in the county, a Republican worker experienced a bit of difficulty as he attempted to assist a voter who cannot read or write, in casting his ballot. The judges refused to permit the person to cast his vote with a blanket statement such as "Republican or Democratic party." So the worker hurriedly took the person out of the polling place and instructed him to vote for "certain" candidates. Then fearing he would not remember all of the names, he was given just three. Said the worker, "only God and the judges know if he did as instructed."

A tour of the 34 polling places in the city of Cumberland by a News reporter yesterday between 2 and 5 p. m., indicated that a heavier than usual vote was being cast. A total tabulation taken of polling places showed that 6,917 voters had visited the polls by 5 p. m.

This number was more than twice the total cast by the same time in the March city election, and was greater than the entire total cast in that contest. In the city election, by 5 p. m. only 3,123 persons had cast ballots, and the final total was 6,436.

Another interesting observation made was that voting on the West Side was extremely heavy compared to other sections of the city. This was just the opposite of the condition in the city election. On the other hand voting yesterday by mid-afternoon in South Cumberland precincts was very light, while it led the city in the local contest. This is attributed in part to the fact that South Cumberland had no candidates on the county or state ballot and did have on the city ballot.

Weather yesterday was perfect "election" or "football" weather. Skies were clear all day, and the air was pleasant and not too cold. Temperatures reached a high of about 70 and varied little during most of the day.

There were many workers from both parties in evidence, and contrary to the "general standing around" we noticed in the city election and the June primary, all the workers were busy. In fact, the number of actual loafers around polling places was extremely small, except at Humbird street school, where eight men stood in a huddle with their hands in their pockets. This was the largest group seen anywhere. Inside, election workers were complaining because the vote was light.

Many cars were on the move about the city, and seemed equally divided between the two major parties. County candidates in both parties took second place to state tickets for the amount of publicity material on display and in circulation. The Republican county ticket seemed to have more uniform posters, placards, etc., than did the Democrats. Only a few posters or banners for county Democratic candidates were seen compared to scores for GOP county contestants.

Polling place workers said there was a rush in most places early, but during the forenoon, voting was spotty and toward mid-afternoon picked up somewhat. Many people voted on their lunch hour and in the morning hours, a larger number of housewives went to the polls than usual.

Trial Of Cosner Will Open Today In Keyser Court

Man Who Killed Wife With Baseball Bat To Plead Temporary Insanity

The second murder trial of the current term of Mineral County Circuit Court at Keyser, W. Va., is scheduled to get underway at 10 a. m. today, with Judge Ernest A. See, presiding.

Oscar Cosner, Keyser letter carrier, is expected to plead not guilty on a charge of murdering his wife, Mrs. Hazel Cosner, with a baseball bat, and will claim he was driven temporarily insane, Defense Attorney H. G. Shores said yesterday.

Shores, his son Howard P. Shores and Emory Tyler, the three defense attorneys, expect to attempt to prove that "hysterical insanity" is prevalent in the Cosner family and that two members of the family have been in institutions. They indicate they will also try to show that the defendant, in his younger days, was subject to fits of hysterical insanity. The defense does not contend, however that Cosner is entirely insane.

According to Shores, the background of Mrs. Cosner, the murder victim, was "a tremendous thing", and the attorney has asked that a number of witnesses be summoned who are prepared to testify that Cosner has always been an "upright, Christian man with an excellent reputation."

The case has aroused much interest in Keyser, and around the court house it is estimated that at least four days will be required to complete the testimony and evidence, with the trial lasting as much as six days.

The defense has called 25 witnesses and the state about "eight or nine."

Interest is much greater than in the recent trial of Mark McCauley, convicted of murder in the first degree by a jury last week, in connection with the death of two police officers.

On the eve of his trial Cosner is described as "cool and collected" by his attorneys. Since his confinement in jail, the young mailman has become addicted to chess, at which he has grown quite proficient, attaches at the jail said.

The young man is well known in Keyser, and has been generally well regarded. People say he has always been a conscientious worker. He attended Potomac State college and has worked at the postoffice a number of years.

Car Runs Amok When Driver's Foot Slips

Police said a car driven by Robert A. Langan, 109 Woods street, Frostburg, caused considerable damage yesterday at 12:30 a. m. when, the driver reported, his foot slipped off the clutch as he was pulling out of Bedford street to enter Centre street.

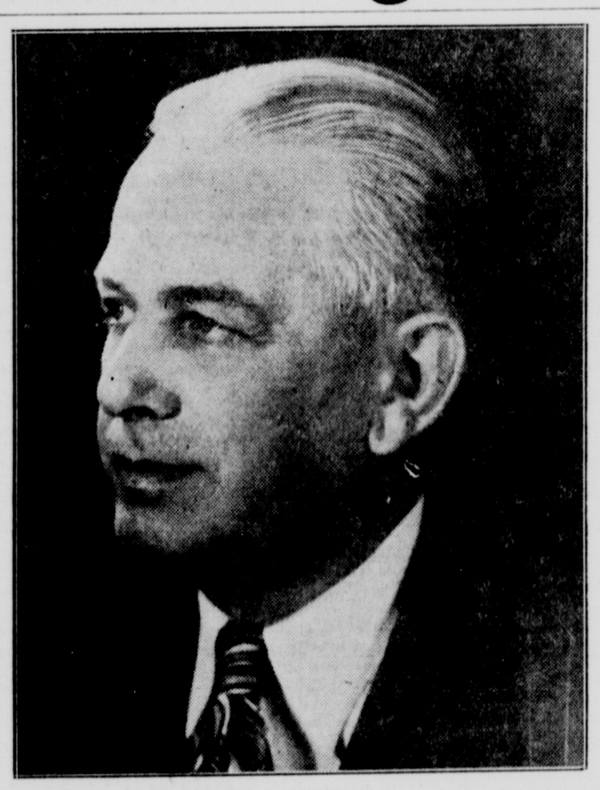

Officer G. E. Pfeiffer, who investigated for city police, said the driver lost control and the car swerved upon the sidewalk, demolished two parking meters, sideswiped a parked car, broke a window at 116 North Centre street and knocked open the door of the Price Furniture Company at 120 North Centre street.

Police reported nobody was injured Monday night when cars driven by M. C. Saylor, Route 4, and Howard Arnold, Ridgeley, collided at the intersection of Harrison and George streets.

C. J. Higgs, Corriganville, escaped injury Saturday afternoon when he was struck by a backing car operated by Capt. L. M. Bairstow, local army recruiter.

Capt. Bairstow, in an accident report, said he backed up slightly at the intersection of Harrison and South Mechanic streets to allow another vehicle to enter and struck Higgs, who was crossing the street.

WILL BE REELECTED—Rep. J. Glenn Beall was virtually certain of re-election to Congress for his third term on the basis of returns from 110 of the district's precincts early today. At that time he held a lead of 5,555 votes over his Democratic opponent Arch McDonald, of Montgomery County, and had carried Montgomery county by 1,666 votes. (See story).

Rep. J. Glenn Beall Is Certain Of Reelection

Holds 5,555 Vote Lead Over McDonald And Is Running Well In All Five Counties

Rep. J. Glenn Beall, running well in all five counties of the Sixth Congressional District was assured of re-election to Congress on the basis of returns from 110 of the district's 280 precincts which had been tabulated at 3:30 this morning. At that time he was leading Arch McDonald, Democrat of Montgomery County, by 5,555 votes. The total vote there was Beall 16,730, McDonald 19,610.

Beall's re-election was virtually certain when returns from Montgomery county, McDonald's home county, showed that Beall had carried the county by 1,666 votes. The vote there being Beall 16,730, McDonald 15,064.

With 21 of Allegany county's 75 precincts reported Beall was leading McDonald 991 votes, the total being Beall 2,648 and McDonald 1,657.

Twenty precincts from Garrett county gave Beall 2,762 as against 895 for McDonald, or a lead for the Allegany County Republican of 1,867. Only four precincts were reported in Frederick county where Beall was trailing 357 to 379. In Washington county only 14 precincts were reported which gave Beall 1,668 and McDonald 1,615, but most of those precincts were from the City of Hagerstown and Washington county political observers said that Beall would run much better in the rural precincts.

All indications were that Beall again would carry all five counties in the district, the same as he did in 1942 and 1944.

County	Pcts. Rpt'd.	Beall	M'D'nald
Garrett	20	2,762	895
Frederick	4	357	379
Montgomery	51	16,730	15,064
Washington	14	1,668	1,615
Totals	110	24,165	19,610

Note—Montgomery county complete.

Colonel Halford, a native of Cumberland, is now stationed at national marine headquarters at Washington, D. C. John T. Fey, acting commandant of the Marine Corps League, will be toastmaster at the dinner which will be held at the Queen City Hotel.

The dinner will be followed by a dance with music provided by Marty Flynn's orchestra. Also during the evening, Sgt. Brainerd said, a memorial movie showing marine action during the past war will be shown.

Tickets for the dinner are on sale at the Navy League Club, the Cadillac bar and the recruiting office.

Boy Is Injured By Automobile At Westernport

Police Report Child Crawled Under Parked Car While Chasing Cat

A 34-month-old Westernport boy was in a serious condition in Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, W. Va., last night after being run over by an automobile he crawled under while chasing a cat on Gordon street in Westernport.

State Trooper Tom Barton, who investigated, identified the child as Ronald Rafter, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Rafter, 119 Potomac street, Westernport. His injuries were listed at the hospital as a deep laceration of the left ear and shock.

James Simon, Stoney Run, Westernport, was named by police as driver of the car that hit the boy. No charges have been filed against him pending completion of the investigation.

Simon returned to his car while the boy was still under the machine, failed to notice the child and backed up prior to pulling away from the curb, police reported, striking the boy.

A pedestrian, attracted by the boy's bright sweater, called to Simon who stopped at once and drove the injured lad to Reeve's Clinic, Westernport. He later was taken to the hospital by his parents.

Returns from 20 of the 25 Garrett county precincts at 3 a. m. today showed that Republican candidates were maintaining a comfortable lead, and Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin of Baltimore was leading his Democratic gubernatorial opponent, William Preston Lane, Jr., Hagerstown, by 1,054 votes.

With no report from the Oakland precinct, which has an estimated 500 votes, McKeldin had polled 2,461 votes as compared to 1,347 for Lane.

The town, designated politically as a part of Frankfort District, has two polling places, known as Precinct 13 at the grade school building and Precinct 14 at the Town Hall.

Congressman from Second District — Jennings Randolph, (D) of Elkins, 266. Melvin C. Snyder, (R) of Kingwood, 162.

Republicans Are Leading In Allegany County

O'Conor Giving Markey Close Race For Senate

Rep. J. Glenn Beall Is Running Way Ahead Of Arch McDonald For Re-election To Congress

GOP Candidates Hold Commanding Leads For County Offices; Voting Is Unusually Heavy

Returns from one third of the county's polling places, early this morning, showed Democratic candidates running better than they have in many elections, in this normally strong Republican county. With the exception of J. Glenn Beall, of Frostburg, candidate on the GOP ticket for Congress, the contest loomed much closer than had been anticipated in most Republican quarters, and was not in keeping with the trend elsewhere.

Theodore R. McKeldin, Republican candidate for Governor, led his Democratic opponent in this county by only 447 votes in 24 precincts. McKeldin polled 2,829 and Lane 2,382.

The closest contest in the county was evidenced in returns from 23 precincts showing David John Markey, GOP candidate for United States Senate only 29 votes ahead of his Democratic opponent Herbert R. O'Conor. In these 23 precincts, representing all sections of the county, Markey polled 2,399 votes and O'Conor 2,370. As returns came in, first Markey would be ahead and then O'Conor. Almost every other precinct return received during the night changed the standing of these two contestants in the United States Senatorial race here in Allegany county.

Beall Leads Ticket

J. Glenn Beall, lead the entire ticket in this county in 23 precincts, with a total vote of 2,886, against 1,811 polled by his opponent, Arch McDonald, Democrat. In this one-third report for the county, Beall's margin was believed safe, and with the excellent vote from other counties in the district, his re-election was assured.

Alexander T. Grier, Republican candidate for state comptroller polled 2,290, while his opponent, termed "the vote getter of the Democratic ticket," James J. Lacy was trailing in 23 precincts here with 2,066. This was a margin of 224 votes for Grier.

George Cochran Doub, a native of this city, Republican candidate for attorney general, polled 2,638, against 1,780 for Hall Hammond, Baltimore Democrat, giving him a margin of 858 in 22 precincts reporting.

At 4 a. m. this morning, returns from this and neighboring counties were still slow in coming in. The long ballot and a heavy vote prolonged the counting, election officials declared. It has been many years, they said, since returns were so slow in being tabulated.

In the 24 precincts reporting the gubernatorial contest by 4 a. m. today, there are 10,910 registered voters. Of this number, a total of 5,211 cast ballots, indicating about a 50 percent vote.

Since the smaller precincts were being reported first, and since telephone reports indicated record votes in some sections, it was indicated the total vote in this county would be close to 55 percent, when completely tabulated.

On the basis of early returns, it was indicated the Republicans had carried the county in nearly all instances, but the margin was much too close for comfort in a county that has a book majority of 5,600 Republican leaders contend.

Republican candidates were on their way early this morning to making another clean sweep of all Allegany County election contests on the basis of unofficial returns from 18 of the county's 75 polling places.

GOP standard bearers appeared to be piling up sizeable majorities over their Democratic opponents, and Republican office seekers who had no opposition in the balloting were receiving a flattering number of votes of confidence.

Cesnick Running Well

Incumbent Republican Charles M. See was leading the House of Delegates race with 2,179 votes and he was closely followed by incumbent Republican Lester B. Reed with 2,170 votes.

Noel Speir Cook, Republican attorney, was in third place with 2,150 votes, followed by John T. Fey, Republican, with 2,108, Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., Republican, with 1,988, Geppert with 1,872, Cesnick with 1,317 and Alexander "Pop" Nicol, a Democrat, with 1,247. Six of the eight candidates are to be elected.

Democrat Register of Wills Thomas E. Stakem, seeking to return to that office, polled 1,313 votes, but he trailed Republican A. Charles Stewart, Frostburg, who received a vote of 2,084. His lead was 771.

William H. Lemmert, Frostburg Republican, seeking election to the Board of County Commissioners, was leading the ticket in that race with 2,552 votes. Incumbent Republican Charles N. Wilkinson, Jr.,

Election Day Sidelights

Thirsty Cumberlanders crowded the bars last night as they opened at 8 o'clock after being closed since midnight Monday, under state law, which forbids the sale of intoxicants during the voting hours.

Most local bars reported big crowds waiting to be admitted as the doors were opened one hour after the polling places closed, and many patrons indicated they would await the returns of local voting at the bars at least until midnight when the bars will close after a short day of business.

No trouble was reported by city police who termed it one of the quietest election days in their memories, while polling judges were reporting one of the heaviest votes in a number of years. One reason given for the exceptionally heavy vote in the county was the number of returned servicemen who were absent during the last few elections, and of course the very favorable weather.

Local political observers and enthusiasts were not wanting in the way of humor during the activities yesterday. One person in Lonaconing working to get the vote out for his particular ticket, reported that a lady, apparently a registered Democrat, called and asked if a car would call for her. "The Democrats know I'm going to vote for the Republican ticket and won't come for me," she informed them.

Upon being informed that a large Democratic vote was cast in one precinct, a politico was quick to quip, "Were they the loyal ones?"

Newspaper reporters, who always sweat out the returns and are anxious to hear the first precincts make their reports, experienced an unusually slow period in the early part of the evening with the first returns coming in well after 9 o'clock.

But one polling place did throw a ray of hope on the situation, when a worker called to report the vote, and went about it in an unusual way. "Here are the results," he informed the reporter, as he gave the number of votes, and "here is what you have been waiting for," he said as the reporter grabbed his pencil and made ready to jot down the numbers. "There were 292 votes with the largest number being women. Looks like the Republicans are in."

In one locality in the county, a Republican worker experienced a bit of difficulty as he attempted to assist a voter who cannot read or write, in casting his ballot. The judges refused to permit the person to cast his vote with a blanket statement such as "Republican or Democratic party." So the worker hurriedly took the person out of the polling place and instructed him to vote for "certain" candidates. Then fearing he would not remember all of the names, he was given just three. Said the worker, "only God and the judges know if he did as instructed."

A tour of the 34 polling places in the city of Cumberland by a News reporter yesterday between 2 and 5 p. m., indicated that a heavier than usual vote was being cast. A total tabulation taken of polling places showed that 6,917 voters had visited the polls by 5 p. m.

This number was more than twice the total cast by the same time in the March city election, and was greater than the entire total cast in that contest. In the city election, by 5 p. m. only 3,123 persons had cast ballots, and the final total was 6,436.

Another interesting observation made was that voting on the West Side was extremely heavy compared to other sections of the city. This was just the opposite of the condition in the city election. On the other hand voting yesterday by mid-afternoon in South Cumberland precincts was very light, while it led the city in the local contest. This is attributed in part to the fact that South Cumberland had no candidates on the county or state ballot and did have on the city ballot.

Weather yesterday was perfect "election" or "football" weather. Skies were clear all day, and the air was pleasant and not too cold. Temperatures reached a high of about 70 and varied little during most of the day.

There were many workers from both parties in evidence, and contrary to the "general standing around" we noticed in the city election and the June primary, all the workers were busy. In fact, the number of actual loafers around polling places was extremely small, except at Humbird street school, where eight men stood in a huddle with their hands in their pockets. This was the largest group seen anywhere. Inside, election workers were complaining because the vote was light.

Many cars were on the move about the city, and seemed equally divided between the two major parties. County candidates in both parties took second place to state tickets for the amount of publicity material on display and in circulation. The Republican county ticket seemed to have more uniform posters, placards, etc., than did the Democrats. Only a few posters or banners for county Democratic candidates were seen compared to scores for GOP county contestants.

Polling place workers said there was a rush in most places early, but during the forenoon, voting was spotty and toward mid-afternoon picked up somewhat. Many people voted on their lunch hour and in the morning hours, a larger number of housewives went to the polls than usual.

Trial Of Cosner Will Open Today In Keyser Court

Man Who Killed Wife With Baseball Bat To Plead Temporary Insanity

The second murder trial of the current term of Mineral County Circuit Court at Keyser, W. Va., is scheduled to get underway at 10 a. m. today, with Judge Ernest A. See, presiding.

Oscar Cosner, Keyser letter carrier, is expected to plead not guilty on a charge of murdering his wife, Mrs. Hazel Cosner, with a baseball bat, and will claim he was driven temporarily insane, Defense Attorney H. G. Shores said yesterday.

Shores, his son Howard P. Shores and Emory Tyler, the three defense attorneys, expect to attempt to prove that "hysterical insanity" is prevalent in the Cosner family and that two members of the family have been in institutions. They indicate they will also try to show that the defendant, in his younger days, was subject to fits of hysterical insanity. The defense does not contend, however that Cosner is entirely insane.

According to Shores, the background of Mrs. Cosner, the murder victim, was "a tremendous thing", and the attorney has asked that a number of witnesses be summoned who are prepared to testify that Cosner has always been an "upright, Christian man with an excellent reputation."

The case has aroused much interest in Keyser, and around the court house it is estimated that at least four days will be required to complete the testimony and evidence, with the trial lasting as much as six days.

The defense has called 25 witnesses and the state about "eight or nine."

Interest is much greater than in the recent trial of Mark McCauley, convicted of murder in the first degree by a jury last week, in connection with the death of two police officers.

On the eve of his trial Cosner is described as "cool and collected" by his attorneys. Since his confinement in jail, the young mailman has become addicted to chess, at which he has grown quite proficient, attaches at the jail said.

The young man is well known in Keyser, and has been generally well regarded. People say he has always been a conscientious worker. He attended Potomac State college and has worked at the postoffice a number of years.

Car Runs Amok When Driver's Foot Slips

Police said a car driven by Robert A. Langan, 109 Woods street, Frostburg, caused considerable damage yesterday at 12:30 a. m. when, the driver reported, his foot slipped off the clutch as he was pulling out of Bedford street to enter Centre street.

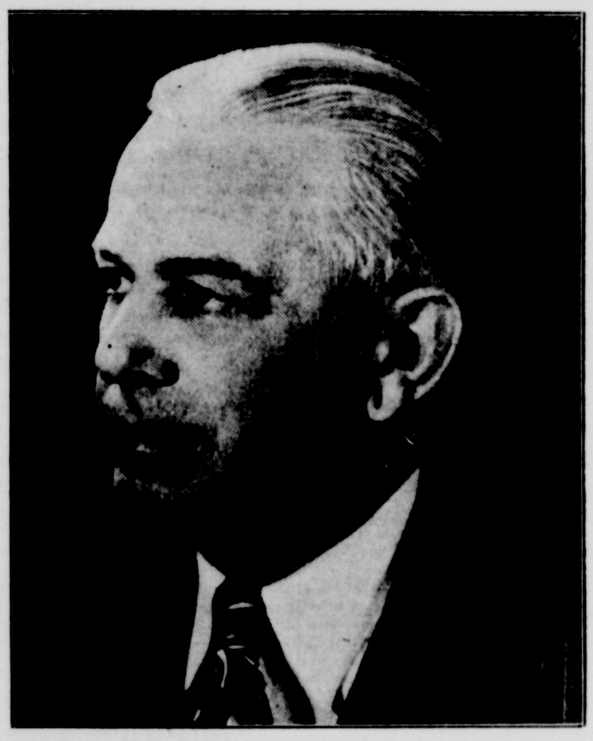

Officer G. E. Pfeiffer, who investigated for city police, said the driver lost control and the car swerved upon the sidewalk, demolished two parking meters, sideswiped a parked car, broke a window at 116 North Centre street and knocked open the door of the Price Furniture Company at 120 North Centre street.

Police reported nobody was injured Monday night when cars driven by M. C. Saylor, Route 4, and Howard Arnold, Ridgeley, collided at the intersection of Harrison and George streets.

C. J. Higgs, Corriganville, escaped injury Saturday afternoon when he was struck by a backing car operated by Capt. L. M. Bairstow, local army recruiter.

Capt. Bairstow, in an accident report, said he backed up slightly at the intersection of Harrison and South Mechanic streets to allow another vehicle to enter and struck Higgs, who was crossing the street.

WILL BE REELECTED—Rep. J. Glenn Beall was virtually certain of re-election to Congress for his third term on the basis of returns from 110 of the district's precincts early today. At that time he held a lead of 5,555 votes over his Democratic opponent Arch McDonald, of Montgomery County, and had carried Montgomery county by 1,666 votes. (See story).

Rep. J. Glenn Beall Is Certain Of Reelection

Holds 5,555 Vote Lead Over McDonald And Is Running Well In All Five Counties

Rep. J. Glenn Beall, running well in all five counties of the Sixth Congressional District was assured of re-election to Congress on the basis of returns from 110 of the district's 280 precincts which had been tabulated at 3:30 this morning. At that time he was leading Arch McDonald, Democrat of Montgomery County, by 5,555 votes. The total vote there was Beall 16,730, Mcald 19,610.

Beall's re-election was virtually certain when returns from Montgomery county, McDonald's home county, showed that Beall had carried the county by 1,666 votes. The vote there being Beall 16,730, McDonald 15,064.

With 21 of Allegany county's 75 precincts reported Beall was leading McDonald 991 votes, the total being Beall 2,648 and McDonald 1,657.

Twenty precincts from Garrett county gave Beall 2,762 as against 895 for McDonald, or a lead for the Allegany County Republican of 1,867. Only four precincts were reported in Frederick county where Beall was trailing 357 to 379. In Washington county only 14 precincts were reported which gave Beall 1,668 and McDonald 1,615, but most of those precincts were from the City of Hagerstown and Washington county political observers said that Beall would run much better in the rural precincts.

All indications were that Beall again would carry all five counties in the district, the same as he did in 1942 and 1944.

County	Pcts. Rpt'd.	Beall	M'D'nald
Allegany	21	2,648	1,657
Garrett	20	2,762	895
Frederick	4	357	379
Montgomery	51	16,730	15,064
Washington	14	1,668	1,615
Totals	110	24,165	19,610

A 34-month-old Westernport boy was in a serious condition in Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, W. Va., last night after being run over by an automobile he crawled under while chasing a cat on Gordon street in Westernport.

State Trooper Tom Barton, who investigated, identified the child as Ronald Rafter, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Rafter, 119 Potomac street, Westernport. His injuries were listed at the hospital as a deep laceration of the left ear and shock.

James Simon, Stoney Run, Westernport, was named by police as driver of the car that hit the boy. No charges have been filed against him pending completion of the investigation.

Simon returned to his car while the boy was still under the machine, failed to notice the child and backed up prior to pulling away from the curb, police reported, striking the boy.

A pedestrian, attracted by the boy's bright sweater, called to Simon who stopped at once and drove the injured lad to Reeve's Clinic, Westernport. He later was taken to the hospital by his parents.
